M. S. Burrows & Co.

CONSPIRACY ALLEGED

Tracy Gibbs & Co.'s Suit Against Governor Peck, Attorney General O'Connor and Other Wisconsin Officials.

The Action is Based Upon the Contract for Printing a Roster of Volunteer Soldiers.

It is Claimed it Was a Scheme by Defendants to Fleece Them Out of Money.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 26.—The trial of the roster case, which involves charges against Governor Peck and other state officials, opened here today in the circuit court. The plaintiffs are members of the printing firm of Tracy Gibbs & Co., and George and Robt. Dow, and the defendants Governor George W. Peck, Attorney General James L. O'Connor, Assistant Attorney General J. M. Clancy, Clarence L. Clark, ex-private secretary to the governor, State Senator R. M. Bushard, and ex-adjutant general (now assistant secretary of war) Joseph B. Doe.

About a year ago the governor let to Clarence Clark a contract for printing a roster of Wisconsin volunteer soldiers. Besides being private secretary, Clark was manager of a newspaper organ. The contract was let in accordance with the law. Clarence Clark sold the contract to the plaintiffs in this action for $20,000. Shortly after this Governor Peck became convinced, on the advice of United States Senator Vilas, that the law under which he let the contract was unconstitutional. He revoked the contract. Clark returned $20,000 of the money he had received for the contract, but the rest had gone into debts, and he no longer had the money and could not raise it. The suit is to recover it.

Plaintiffs allege a conspiracy between the state officials to let this contract and then cancel it, in order to fleece plaintiffs out of the money. The part taken by Doe, Bushard, O'Connor and Clancy in the alleged conspiracy was to advise they are alleged to have given plaintiffs that the contract was valid and could safely be bought.

HON. H. B. STRAIT IS DEAD.
A Former Minnesota Congressman Died on a Train in Texas.

EL PASO, Tex., Feb. 26.—Ex-Congressman H. B. Strait, of Minnesota, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, in this city, of a Mexican Central train, in this city at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Last Friday May, Strait met Congressman Wilson, and Tarney. Here a hot spring bath had a bad effect on May. Strait. After his train pulled north, and after he had seen Congressman Wilson carried on a stretcher to the southbound special, he became nauseated, and his stomach would retain nothing.

He grew worse on the train suffering from threatened heart disease, cold feet and bowel congestion. A doctor was telegraphed for and met the train at Chihuahua Saturday. The major was removed at Chihuahua, but the doctor said the patient would not reach El Paso, which was nearly verified. The train had hardly stopped at the first station on American soil, when the Minnesota statesman was dead.

Horace B. Strait was a leading Republican and represented the Third Minnesota district in the lower house of congress from 1875 to 1885. Mr. Strait was one of the foremost bankers of the Northwest, was interested in fifteen banks in Minnesota, and when he died was probably worth $1,500,000. He was president of the First National bank of Chicago, and of the First National bank of Jordan, and vice president of the Lyon County National bank at Marshall. He recently resigned the presidency of the Germania bank at St. Paul owing to ill health.

KILLED WITH A CLUB.
Prominent Citizen of an Illinois Town Murdered and Robbed.

TOLLEDO, Ill., Feb. 26.—T. A. Elder, a prominent citizen of this place, was waylaid, murdered and robbed Saturday night at 9:15 o'clock on the way to his home in the south part of town.

The murderer stretched a wire across the walk and concealed himself in an alley, and Mr. Elder being thrown down by the wire, the murderer struck him on the head with a club, killing him almost instantly, and after taking his watch and about $35 in money, fled. There is great excitement among the citizens and if the murderer is caught he will be lynched.

Released From the Ice.
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Feb. 26.—The steamers Chicago and Kild, which have been fast in the ice since Wednesday morning, were released when about twelve miles off the harbor yesterday afternoon by the tug Thompson and the tug Haven. The Thompson succeeded in breaking a channel through which the steamers and the two tugs which started from here Saturday reached port.

Drawn Under the Ice.
DUNKIRK, N. Y., Feb. 26.—While skating last night on the lake Miss Mamie Snyder and August Kresse were drowned. They were among a party of 100 skaters and as partners they had become separated from the others. All at once they were seen to disappear through the ice. Nothing could be done to save them as they had been drawn under the ice. The bodies were recovered this morning.

Judge McBill Sinking.
CRESTON, Iowa, Feb. 26.—J. W. McBill, chairman of the interstate commerce commission, is gradually growing weaker. He has been ill with typhoid fever and malaria fever for the past two weeks, and owing to advanced years he probably cannot survive. At 8:30 o'clock last night the doctor said his temperature was very high and he was gradually growing worse.

LIKE THE MYTHICAL ICE SHIP.

A Steamship Arrived at New York Covered With Ice.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The steamship La Bourgogne, which arrived yesterday from Havre, experienced a terrible northwest gale on Feb. 23 and 24. Enormous seas were running and intensely cold weather prevailed. On Friday night, Feb. 23, at about 11:30, an enormous sea boarded the steamer over the bow, which fell upon the deck with terrific force, sweeping the second officer, Becot, and a quartermaster about the bridge, causing injuries to the men sufficient to send them to their bunks.

The latter part of the voyage was finished in zero weather and the effect was apparent as the big liner steamed up the bay to her pier. She looked exactly like the mythical ice ship. Her hull was covered with a heavy coating of white frozen snow several inches thick. Every one of the big lifeboats was white with ice. Overhanging long icicles glittered from their keels.

The standing and running gear was frozen so that it would require hours of hard labor in the rigging with clubs before it could be got in shape for sea, if it were necessary to get under way. The house and rigging were ice rings fastened about the deck. The spray had been dashed over the rail and frozen around the forecastle up to the crew's nose, and the huge red funnels were in the same condition.

DIED IN WASHINGTON.

The Sudden Demise of a Mining Man From Montana.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Spruille Brady, a prominent citizen of Helena, Mont., died suddenly at the residence of W. E. Clark, 301 E. street, northwest, about 8 o'clock last night. Mr. Brady came to Washington Saturday from Virginia Beach, where he had attended a meeting of gentlemen interested in mining and stopped at the Shoreham.

Last night he concluded to visit Mr. Clark, a friend of many years. He entered the house and went to a room for a drink of water. Then he sank into the arms of his chair. Death occurred a few moments later.

The coroner was notified and after hearing the circumstances, decided death resulted from heart failure. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today. Mr. Brady was 33 years old, unmarried and was well known in Washington. He was at one time assayer of the Boise City Mont., and later at Helena. For some years he had been engaged as a private assayer and promoter of mining ventures at Helena. He recently returned from London, where he had been with a party of capitalists.

WAS A NOTORIOUS "FENCE."

"Mother" Mandelbaum, Who Fled to Canada Ten Years Ago, Is Dead.

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Frederica Mandelbaum, known in New York city as a notorious "fence" and who did a flourishing business there in this line for a number of years, died here this morning. Mrs. Mandelbaum was about 65 years of age. She was very wealthy, having accumulated a considerable fortune as a receiver of stolen goods, and as the receiver of stolen goods in New York.

She came here about ten years ago for several years past. During her enforced residence in Canada she never ventured across the border but her remarks will be sent to New York tomorrow afternoon for internet there on Wednesday morning.

PROSPECT OF A STRIKE.

Missouri Miners May Resist a Proposed Reduction of Wages.

RICAMOND, Mo., Feb. 26.—There is a prospect that these will soon be another strike among the miners employed in this county. The owners and operators of all the mines in the county, situated upon the different railways, had a meeting here a day or two ago and decided that on and after March 1 they would pay 37½¢ per ton, or 35¢ per bushel for mining.

They claim that they are now paying more than their competitors in other sections, and as a result they are being driven out of the markets. A mass meeting of the miners will be held tonight to take action in the matter.

Work For Two Hundred.

SETBACK FOR M'KANE

Justice Cullen, of the Court of Oyer and Terminer, Denied Application For a Stay.

McKane May Now Have to Go to Sing Sing Prison Within Twenty-Four Hours.

His Attorney Claimed That Not Being an Election Inspector He Could Not be Convicted.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 26.—John Y. McKane got another set-back this morning in his fight for liberty, when Justice E. M. Cullen, sitting in the court of oyer and terminer, denied his application for a stay till the court of appeals can pass on his conviction. This means that, unless his lawyers can find some judge in the state who will grant a stay at once, McKane will have to go to Sing Sing in twenty-four hours.

The defense hoped much to get a favorable decision on the ground that Mr. McKane, not being an election inspector, could not be properly convicted under the election law, which was the statute his indictment was based on. Sheriff Baughman refused to state on what train he will take McKane to Sing Sing. McKane's lawyers refused to say after the decision was rendered what they would do next.

JIM HILL'S ROAD TO DULUTH.

Bill Granting Right-of-Way Through Four Indian Reservations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—[Special to The Herald.]—Senator Davis today introduced a bill granting right-of-way to the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba railroad through the White Earth, Leech Lake, Chippewa and Fond du Lac Indian reservations.

This bill is similar to the one which was introduced for the Duluth & Winnipeg through the Chippewa and White Earth reservations, and which has been printed in full in The Herald.

IS PRACTICALLY INOPERATIVE.

A Decision That Knocks Out the Interstate Commerce Law.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Judge Grosscup rendered a decision in the United States district court this morning which will make the interstate commerce law practically inoperative, for the reason that it will in the future be impossible to convict anyone for acts violating its provisions.

The court held that General Freight Agent James, of the Lake Shore road, and Gordon McLeod, agent of the Merchants' Dispatch Freight line, the witnesses who refused to answer questions put to them by the grand jury, were right in the position which they took, and that they cannot be compelled to answer. James and McLeod were asked questions which were intended to draw out information as to illegal cuts in rates made by the companies which they represent. Both refused to answer on the ground that the fifth amendment to the constitution of the United States gives every man the right to refuse to make disclosures which will criminate himself.

THE LAW TO BE TESTED.

General Manager Underwood and Master Mechanic Heckman Arrested.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—The fight between the Soo road and the boiler-makers came to an issue this morning and the iron-clad law will now be thoroughly tested. Warrants for the arrest of F. D. Underwood, general manager, and John A. Heckman, master mechanic, were this morning placed in the hands of officers and the gentlemen will be brought into court today.

THE FLOYDS ON TRIAL.

Mrs. Floyd and Her Two Sons in Court at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—At 10 o'clock this morning Mrs. Eleanor Floyd, supported by her two sons, all of whom are charged with complicity in the embezzlement of Phil Scheig from the Minneapolis bank, appeared in court for trial. A jury is now being impaneled. Mrs. Floyd seems to be in feeble health.

Boys Croked in Texas.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 26.—Hon. Richard Croker, the Tammany chief, accompanied by his family and a party of ladies, arrived here in the special Pullman Wildwood, on the south bound International last night. Their car was side-tracked here and they were called upon by Governor Hogg, Gen. Hamby and other prominent people. They will leave tonight for the South.

Lost and Found.

The ancients possessed some few arts that were lost on the road to us. They could color marble as easily as we do cloth. They could preserve the dead until their dust would not mingle with the earth of centuries. But when it comes to mechanical skill, to labor-saving appliances, to wealth compelling inventions, they were not "in it." Our mechanics have more sense than all the old mechanics. See what the modern marvels with their iron arms and steel fingers can do; how little they charge for doing it.

PANTON & WATSON

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

Manager of a Mining Company in Mexico is in Trouble.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26.—A special to The Herald.—The Globe-Democrat from the City of Mexico says that T. C. Wilson, formerly editor of the Anglo-American, an English weekly here, has been managing some mines in the state of Queretaro for the Mexican company of London, limited, a concern which owns some property in this country.

Last week he was called into this city by the director and asked to straighten up his accounts. This he was not able to do satisfactorily, and he has been lodged in jail on the charge of robbery and falsification of accounts.

His friends say that at the worst he has been only culpably negligent, still he may remain in jail for several weeks before his trial is reached. He is now in solitary confinement and will remain so for seventy-two hours, under the code of Napoleon of France, which is used here in criminal practices.

REVERSES THE COMMISSIONER.

Secretary of the Interior Decides in Favor of W. B. Holman in a Case.

N. B. Thayer this morning was feeling pretty good over a land decision received from the secretary of the interior this morning in the case of W. B. Holman vs. Theo F. Knappen, involving the section 20 of section 21 of 1862.

In 1860 Knappen contested the right of the state to the land under the swamp land act and won. On cancellation of the state's claim, Holman applied to make homestead, entry subject to the right of Knappen. The application was refused by Register Nichols and Receiver Frazer, whereupon an appeal was taken to the commissioner.

With his appeal Holman also filed an affidavit of contest against Knappen's homestead entry, which had in the meantime been allowed. The commissioner, however, sustained the local officers and also refused Holman's application.

Holman then applied to the secretary, with the result that the honorable gentleman now holds that the local officials should have allowed Holman's application in the first place, and that, after allowing Knappen's homestead, the land involved with a soldier's additional scrip. The secretary also refuses to permit that, awards the land to Holman and instructs the register and receiver to allow him to enter the same.

WAS HANGED BY A MOB

Daniel Slaughter, a Virginia Cattle Buyer, Given Swift Justice in a North Carolina Town.

Invited to a Wedding, He Behaved in an Abusive Manner to an Old Man.

When Others Interfered, He Stabbed Two Men to Death and Fled, But Was Captured.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 26.—Daniel Slaughter, a cattle buyer of Virginia, was taken from the jail at Sparta, a small mountain town, and lynched. The news reached here yesterday from Elkin, the nearest telegraphic point to Sparta. Slaughter was invited to a wedding at the house of a man named Robinson. In one room sat an old man, a relative of the bride, and to him Slaughter behaved in an abusive manner.

Some of those present forced Slaughter to leave the house, but in a short time he returned. He renewed the disturbance, whereupon a friend of the family stood between him and the crowd and told him to keep quiet. Suddenly Slaughter drew a knife, and without warning, jumped at John Bare and stabbed him to death. Slaughter made another cut at him, but the bride sprang forward and seized Slaughter's arm. He drew the knife from her, cutting her in the hand.

Slaughter then jumped for the doorway where Edward Long stood. He, too, was killed, and then Slaughter dashed out of the door. Pursuit began at once and the next morning the murderer was found not far away, when an attempt was made to lynch him but failed. Slaughter was hurried to the jail at Sparta.

The night passed without any appearance of a lynching party and the jailer began to think Slaughter was safe. It appears, however, that a mob went to the jail and took the prisoner.

GOING TO GRAND FORKS. The Princess Colonna is Enroute to Secure a Divorce.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Princess Colonna, accompanied by John W. Mackay, Jr., arrived here shortly after 7 o'clock last night in the Wagner palace car "Traveler." The car was at once switched to the Northwestern yards, where it was attached to the through San Francisco train. Mr. Mackay informed all callers that the princess had retired and could not be seen. He said that she and her children were in good health and spirits. At 11:30 o'clock the train pulled out.

The information comes from Grand Forks, N. D., that the princess has engaged a suite of rooms in that city and will establish a legal residence there by living there ninety days. At the end of that time she can sue for divorce.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

The Fooling in Wall Street and Indications of the Future.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Henry Clews says in his weekly financial review: In Wall street, speculative business continues to center principally in the class of stocks known as "the industrials." The continued uncertainty as to what may be the final status, in the new tariff, of certain articles which these trusts control naturally gives to this group of stocks an active speculative interest. This is especially so in respect to sugar, the duty on which still remains undecided. It seems to be reasonably sure that the senate will so strongly favor some duty on the article that the house may consent to its removal from the free list; and the best informed opinion inclines to the expectation that the duty on raw will finally range around 10 per pound. The thing on which congress is likely to differ widely is the duty on the refined article. The Eastern members of both houses seem to preponderate in favor of a small protective duty on this grade, sufficient to prevent importations; and the South also is likely to favor that course for obvious reasons of interest. But the West, which grows increasingly rampant against any form of protection, may be expected to oppose any form or degree of favor to the sugar trust.

The difficulty of the sub-committee of the senate finance committee in reaching a report is suspected to cover some possibilities of a serious disagreement. Senators are said to find a much more positive public hostility to incorporating the income tax in the Wilson bill than they expected to encounter, and in some quarters, it is deemed possible that the upper house may venture on the experiment of returning the bill to the house without amendments and unpopular clause. The longer the measure remains in the senate, the greater the danger of miscarriage from this cause is likely to become, for there can be no question that the public hostility to the tax, through the whole section from Chicago to Baltimore and Baltimore to Portland, Me., is most bitter and intense, and would alone suffice to consign to oblivion the party responsible for the outrage of adopting such a tax. It remains to be seen what these clouds on the horizon may be, but Wall street has its eye upon them as involving possibilities important to speculation.

In the railroad list there is little new to attract the attention of either investment or speculation. The scarcity of freight cars calculated to encourage "cutting of rates," and something of that kind is now and then attempted, but on so small a scale that it does not appreciably affect general prices. As a rule, quotations are steady and the "bears" find little inducement to attempt raids. Information comes from Paris to the effect that the house has in contemplation arrangements for putting on its regular call a liberal representation of American securities. Certain issues of our government are now called on the bourse; but the proposal is to at once extend the list to a selection of the bonds and stocks of our best railroads, and all called to broaden the list so as to make this an important feature of the Paris market. The distrust created by our silver loanings is shown in a disposition to exclude from the bourse all those of our securities the interest or dividends of which are not payable expressly in gold, but this point does not seem to have been finally determined. This movement appears to have risen, on the one hand, from a marked scarcity of transferable investments in France and consequent low rates of interest, and, on the other hand, from the impressions made upon notable French capitalists on the part of the World's fair. So far as may be inferred from the standing of the promoters of this movement and from the reception it has met with on the bourse, it seems likely that the plan will be put in execution at an early day. If so, its bearing upon both investment and speculative interests in New York cannot but be highly important. For it is not alone a matter of creating an early market for a Paris supply of securities, but it will widen the European market for our investments, and help to establish a much broader arbitrage interchange in them as between the several foreign financial centers.

The rates for foreign exchange continue to rule, and under ordinary relations between the home and foreign money markets, gold would now be flowing to Europe. Under existing conditions, however, neither England nor the Continent wants more gold; but would prefer to allow American balances to run until the rate of interest improves. There is little probability therefore of any noteworthy shipments of specie being made; and were it otherwise, the effect here, with our abundant supply of idle money, would be rather wholesome than otherwise.

Cheap Rates to California. The Northern Pacific Railroad company has put into effect a series of low round trip rates to California points, tickets are good until July 15th, 1894, and are good for stopover under certain conditions.

These rates will enable those desiring to do so, to spend the winter in Southern California, or to visit the Midwinter fair to be held at San Francisco. This latter event will undoubtedly be second only to the World's fair, and will repay a visit as it will exhibit the resources and capabilities of California.

GROVER NOT UPHELD

Two Reports of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations in Regard to Hawaii Presented.

Senator Morgan and the Republican Members Joined in Sustaining Stevens and Denying Blount's Conclusions.

The Minority Report Condemns Stevens for Various Acts But Does Not Uphold Blount's Report.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A volume of nearly 800 printed pages (exclusive of maps) was laid before the senate today, representing the testimony taken by the senate committee on foreign relations and their findings of facts thereon, under a resolution directing them to inquire whether any, and if so, what irregularities have occurred in the diplomatic intercourse between the United States and Hawaii in relation to the recent revolution.

The report of the majority of the committee was prepared by the chairman, Mr. Morgan, of Alabama. It exhaustively reviews the facts, the laws and the precedents, justifies Mr. Stevens' actions except in proclaiming a protectorate, and finds nothing irregular in the appointment of Mr. Blount, but in effect says the evidence taken by the committee under more favorable circumstances leads the committee to different conclusions than those which he formed.

This report is concurred in as to all its findings by the Republican members of the committee, Senators Sherman, Frye, Dolph and Davis, making a majority of the committee. They characterize it as an exceedingly able document, but they dissent on five points:

1. They condemn the appointment of Commissioner Blount as unconstitutional.

2. They say the executive orders placing the navy in the harbor of Honolulu under the orders of Mr. Blount or Mr. Willis were without the authority of law.

3. That the order of Blount to Admiral Scherrett to lower the flag was unlawful and susceptible of being construed as unfriendly to the provisions of the treaty of 1893.

4. They consider the president had no right to reopen the pre-determined legality of the provisional government.

5. They regard any suggestion of the personal intentions or good faith of either Mr. Blount or Mr. Willis as immaterial, inasmuch as what they did in later period to the reinstatement of the deposed queen as violative of international law.

"We cannot avoid the conviction that the inopportune action of Mr. Blount in the project of annexation of the Sandwich islands to the United States caused him to exceed the proper limits of his duty and authority, and that his relations to the government and people of those islands. His conduct as the public representative of this government was directly conducive to the overthrow of the provisional government, the organization of the United States troops, and the attempted scheme of annexation; and upon this conclusion his conduct is seriously reprehensible and deserving of public censure."

Senators Butler and Turpie file a supplemental report, in which they say that while the question of annexation was submitted to the committee, except incidentally, they think it not improper to say they are heartily in favor of the acquisition of these islands by the United States in a proper manner, but not by taking advantage of internal dissensions for which they believe the United States in some manner responsible.

DEFEATS FOR THE INSURGENTS. The Brazilian Rebels Have Met Several Reverses Recently.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The Herald's Rio special confirms the sinking of the rebel transport Mercury and adds: The insurgent forces under Gen. Piani were defeated in San Gabriel by the Castilian, according to a dispatch just received here. Maj. Peneiro of the insurgents was killed.

It is now reported that Gen. Isidoro Fernandez is still alive, though rumors of his death have been persistently circulated. The latest reports state that he is a prisoner and is accompanying the rebel army.

The van guard of the loyal forces, under Gen. Hippolyte, attacked the rebels near Dom Pedro and defeated them. Sixty-three of the insurgents were killed.

STEELE MACKAYE NO MORE.

He Died on a Train While Being Taken to California.

LA JUNTA, Cal., Feb. 26.—Steele Mackaye, author and dramatist, died at 10 o'clock yesterday morning near Timpan on board a Santa Fe railroad train while en route to San Diego, Cal., where it was hoped he would be able to build up his health. Since leaving Chicago Mr. Mackaye's condition was thought to be slightly improved, and his death, while not wholly unexpected, came suddenly.

STEELE MACKAYE.

Mr. Mackaye was born in Buffalo, N. Y., forty-seven years ago. His father was the projector and organizer of several of the great express companies. While convalescing in France from an attack of brain fever at the age of 16 he occupied himself with painting and modeling. He returned to America when the war broke out and enlisted as a common soldier, returning to France to resume his studies when peace came, becoming a pupil of Garnier and Delaarte. He became the original missionary of the latter's philosophy of expression in America.

He appeared in "Hamlet" and other Shakespearean plays and began writing dramatics, collaborating with Tom Taylor in London on "Arkwright's Wife" and "Clancarty." In 1871 he was received here by celebrities in art literature as the accredited representative of Delaarte and it was his wish to found here a conservatory of all arts. He pursued this project in vain, but he built the Lyceum theater in New York. The failure of his Spectatorship at the World's fair and exhaustion from establishing his Scenarium were his end.

MOUNTAIN IRON MATTERS. The Mines Likely to Start up in a Short Time.

MOUNTAIN IRON, Minn., Feb. 26.—(Special to The Herald).—Five teams and loads left here last week for Remy Lake City; also a crew of nine men to build a boat on Lake Kiguogwa for A. Robinson. There is some travel through here about every day for the new town.

The denizens of this burg are collecting to warm up on politics. The village and township election occurs on March 6. There are two tickets in the field and it is thought there will be a close election as the opposing parties are rather bitter towards one another.

There is some talk of the mines resuming operation on March 1, although nothing definite is known yet, but all the signs point that way.

DRUNKEN RIOT BY MINERS. One Man Fatally Struck and Another's Skull Crushed.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 26.—During a drunken riot at Levinson, Saturday night, in which twenty-five Hungarian and Polish miners engaged, Peter Nooske was fatally struck by the stone, and John Puker had his skull crushed, and several others more or less seriously hurt.

The fight started in the boarding house of Joe Tompkins and the furniture and interior of his house was literally destroyed. The leaders of the affray fled to the mountains and no trace of them has been discovered.

Works Closing Down. HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 26.—Since the closing down of the 60-pot tank operated by the Hartford City Glass company, the force on their 30-pot tank has been reduced one-half. Five hundred men are thrown out of employment by this shut-down. The works will close the entire plant in a few days. Its direction was from north to south, jarring the windows like heavy thunder and shaking plastering from ceilings.

Molden Locked Out. CLEVELAND, Feb. 26.—Every molder in the city is locked out by the determination of the foundrymen to close their shops until the molders accept a reduction in wages from $2.25 to the minimum standard of $2. There are 300 molders affected and 600 helpers. The men are incensed and trouble will ensue this week if non-union men are employed.

He Favors Flogging. BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The Post says that at Dr. Von Boettcher's parliamentary dinner on Friday evening, Emperor William spoke at length with a Conservative deputy concerning recent anarchist outrages and the relations of socialism and anarchism. The emperor inclined to the opinion, says the Post, that severe flogging was the most fitting punishment for anarchistic outrages of certain classes.

Remains of Hon. John D. Boyd Laid to Rest
With Masonic Ceremonies Yesterday Afternoon.

Eloquent Sermon by Dr. Forbes at the Church—Handsome Floral Tributes
From Friends.

Joseph Rutter Found Wandering About the Streets and Taken Into Custody
for Insanity.

The remains of Hon. J. D. Boyd were accompanied to the tomb yesterday by the largest funeral procession ever witnessed in West Duluth. In accordance with the dying wish of Mr. Boyd, the funeral was conducted by Euclid lodge No. 103, of which the deceased was a charter member. The Knights Templar of Duluth, acted as escort and led the procession, followed by Master Masons, the carrier, mourners, employees of the Great Western Manufacturing company and citizens in carriages.

Shortly after 1 o'clock the column of Masons left the residence where the procession was formed for the solemn and silent march to the church. The little chapel was far too small to contain the large throng and many were unable to gain entrance. Mrs. Emil Olund says: "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" in a touching manner and Dr. Forbes delivered an eloquent and impressive sermon. The Masonic burial ritual was then read and the service closed with the solo "Lead, Kindly Light," by Mrs. Olund.

The floral tributes were many and of exquisite design, among them being an anchor, presented by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Mallory; a broken column by the Wist club, "Gates Ajar," by the employees of the Great Western works; harp, by Messrs. Tims and Gunniss; and a Masonic emblem by Euclid lodge.

At the close of the services at the church the procession moved up Grand avenue to Duluth, to the Forest Hill cemetery where the remains were deposited. The pall bearers were Samuel Wells, George Hall, E. J. Luther, D. C. Prescott, H. P. Smith and G. J. Mallory.

Seemed to be Insane.
Joseph Rutter, a German, was found early yesterday morning wandering about near the city hall without shoes and otherwise in a delapidated condition. He claimed to have worked lately in a lumber camp near New Duluth. His appearance indicated insanity and he was taken to Judge Ayer this morning for examination.

A Blaze in Gotham.
New York, Feb. 25.—Fire was discovered in the Monroe building, Nos. 9, 11 and 13 East Fifty-ninth street at 1 o'clock this morning. The Monroe building was the rear of the New Netherlands hotel. Guests in that hotel and also in the Hotel Savoy, on the south side of Fifty-ninth street, were awakened by the noise made by the firemen and greatly alarmed when the smoke from the burning building poured into the hotel. Loss, $50,000.

ON PROVIDENCE.

Brother Gardner Says It's a Mistake to Rely on It Too Much.

"My friend," said Brother Gardner of the Limestone club when the routine business of the meeting had been disposed of, "I heard Brother Bates say to Shindig Watkins de odder night dat he should depend upon Providence to get frow de winter. I also heard Brother Shih say to Giraldan Jones dat his rent was behind, but Providence would step in sumwhar. I want to say a few words to yo' on dis matter of Providence. I used to figure a heahy Providence helpin me out, but de night I dun left my henhouse doah unlocked an went to bed dependin on Providence to stand guard I made sich a mistake dat I hain't got oher feelin' noo yit. Dooin dat dark an treacherous night a cat'd pussen jumped my fence an entered dat henhouse an removed to 'em de dearest chickens in all dis stat. If Providence was around dar anywhar, she probably helped put dem chickens in de bag."

"I knowed a pussen about three y'ars ago who owned a new, an one night dat she was taken sick, I was called on an I saw it was a case of colic an recommended de usual remedy. De owner of dat newl concluded to depend upon Providence instead, and when he lie up next mornin he had a cold corpse on his hands. Dat same pussen cut a hole in de roof of his kitchen an run a stove pipe frow it without any safeguard. One day when he was away from home dependin on Providence to see to dat stovepipe his house caught fire an was dun burned to de ground."

"Dar an a sartin member of dis club, an his name an Sundown White, who used to depend on Providence to even furnish him cash for breakfast. He expected Providence to hunt him up a job, doctor his family, buy shoes fur his children an pay his house rent, an even when dey war gwine to send him to de purchase he lung to Providence. I is happy to say dat an de pussen who opened his eyes at last. He cum oher to my cabin to borrow $2. He dependin on Providence to open my heart, but got sadly left. Den he got mad, an dependin on Providence to help him lick me, but I peddle off my coat an giv' him sich a thrashing dat he was in bed for two weeks. When he got out, he giv' Providence de cold shake, an today he an well fixed an gettin along all right."

"Dar an sartin member of dis club, who reckon dey kin aft on de fence all summer an be sartin dat Providence will furnish 'em wid taters an bacon frow de winter."

"I dun left my henhouse doah unlocked."

Long about January dey'll be mighty glad to up de yucca wid staved pumpkin. If Providence was oher in de provision business, she went out of it long ago. Dar was a time in my life when I let de winter woodpile go an depended on Providence to keep de oher cook stove red hot. Arter my dawg had fix to deat de delect woodpile, an I had agot an I had got a rop of chickens to last me de rest of my nucheral life, I cum to de conclusion dat Providence was in de woodpile business. It's all right if yo' an gwine to ride on a railrode to lenn on Providence, though she don't seem to fix funder west dan Buffalo, but when yo' figger dat she an gwine to put a $15000 on yo' back as a Christmas present yo' will git badly mistook."

One even, one even, right yere in Paradise hall, proves de troof of what I say. On one occasion I left seven dollars in de safe an forgot to set de bartrip on de back of de door. I went home, dependin on Providence, but long about midnight I got onces an cum down an sot de traps an changed de combination from "providence" to "kinnore." I frizmy heel an goin home, but what did de next day reveal? In one of dese bartrips was a big toe from a human foot. An evil mind an pussen had got into dis hall to rob us. Arter borin sehteen holes in our safe wid an augur he had started down stairs to find a bag to put de money in, an de trap had cotched him. He didn't depend on no Providence to open dat trap, but just pulled away till he pulled his toe off an den skated away."

"Dar am a pussen right yere befo' me tonight who borrowed $3 of me last spring an am dependin on Providence to pay it back to me. I see it would be sich a mistake, but she hain't. I see gwine to wait one mo' week, an den if dat money hain't handed over I see gwine to go to de pussen dat Providence neither borrows nor lends, an dat she hain't got no use fur lazy folks or lars."

If he dodges me in a dark alley, he may nigger dat Providence ailed him, but he'll be wrong. It'll be on account of dat squint in my right eye, an I'll trail him down by sight. We will now break up de meetin an depend on Providence to keep de trolley kyars on de track till we git home."

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

The Editor Sizes Up a Town Wrong and Has a Narrow Escape.

A CLOSE SHAVE.—Tuesday morning we mounted our cayuse and set out for Jackson's Glen to work up a list of subscribers for THE KICKER. The Glen is a new town, and we expected to find the population rather frisky, but we were by no means prepared for what occurred. As we were riding up the main street with our pipe in our mouth a man standing in the door of a saloon pulled his gun and cut the lower from the stem. We rode on in peace, realizing that it was simply animal spirits, but in minutes later the town marshal waltzed up to us with a gun in either hand and drove us before him to the office of a justice of the peace. We were there informed that we had been arrested on charge of abetting the killing of one Bill Gray. It appeared that the bullet which traveled our pipe struck and killed a man half a block away. We failed to see how we were to blame for it, but his honor soon enlightened us. He said we were guilty of abetting by being where we were at the moment. Owing to the fact of our previous good character, however, he decided to let us off with a minor case. We remonstrated and demanded a trial by jury and the privilege of sending for our own lawyer. That was error. No. 1. His honor glared at us for a minute and then said:

"The prisoner ar' guilty of contempt of court and ar' hereby fined $15!"

We protested against the fine and demanded our rights as an American citizen. We got 'em in short order. We were fined $25 for "sassing" the court. Up to this

HE WAS SAVED.

The Earliest Jewel on Earth Proves Herself a Wonder.

"Ask me anything but that, father—anything but that!"

"But, Lulu, this is unreasonable. What possible objection can you have to Mr. Bolingbroke as a husband?"

"I have a hundred, father. He is 95 years old. The color of his chin whiskers does not match my real skin. He cannot ride a bike. Oh, father, do not urge me to marry such a man!"

"Lulu, do you want to come down to making neckties at 3 cents apiece and living on potato skins?"

"What do you mean, father?"

"I might as well be frank with you. Old Bolingbroke has a mortgage on all my property. If you refuse, he will beggar us!"

"How much is the mortgage?"

"Twenty thousand dollars."

"And when is it due?"

"Father, wait a minute till I run up stairs."

He waited. She was gone but a minute or two, and when she returned she placed a bulky package in his hands. He looked at her with a big interrogation point in each eye, and she blushing replied:

"It's the money to pay off the mortgage."

"You—you don't mean it?"

"But I do."

"But how on earth did you manage?"

"Father, forgive my little Lulu, but for the past six years she has been motherless. She could not go to bed at night until you came home."

"Yes, I know."

"And every night for six years you have come in about midnight in a—"

"I understand, daughter."

"And I thought it was best to go through your pockets, you know, and—"

"And take all the change you could find and lay it away for just such an emergency. I'm, daughter, and I also appreciate. This frees us from old Bolingbroke's clutches, and if he dares to look at you again I'll break him in two!"

"And you forgive me, father?"

"Of course I do! You are the rarest jewel on earth. Just keep right on, sis, and so will I. At the end of the next six years see if you can't present me with about $25,000, as if you know I shall be hard up and need it badly. There, there, run away and play with your new dolly!"

M. QUAD.

Didn't Fool Him.

A cook in a cheap boarding house in New York played a little game on a grumbling boarder (a newspaper humorist) by serving him a piece of sole leather instead of beefsteak.

"You've changed your butcher, Mrs. Hasche," said a critic without malice, but we'll bet 100 years' subscription to THE KICKER against a cent that we make some resident of Jackson's Glen out of old fat hat within the next four weeks as reparation for the indignities heaped upon us."

"Oh, nothing much," said the humorist, trying to make an impression on the steak with his knife, "only this piece of meat is the tenderest I have struck in this house for some weeks."—Texas Sittings.

Blighted Ambition.

"No," said Farmer Cornsoll's wife, "fame ain't fur everybody. There's Josiah He done his best, but he never will git famous."

"Do you think I can find lodgins there for the night?"

"Waal, mebbe. The widder's peccoliar, however."

He chuckled, pointed down the road and returned to his cornfield. He acted to me quick.

REJECTING A WIDOW.

He Said No, and Had to Move on Mighty Quick.

When I inquired how far it was to the next house and the name of the farmer, the man smiled in a queer way and answered:

"It is seven miles, stranger, and the place is owned by a widder named West."

"The place is owned by a widder named West?"

"For the night?"

He chuckled, pointed down the road and returned to his cornfield. He acted to me quick.

"Thank you, ma'am. I wanted to—"

"Oh, I know what you want well enough, but there's no great hurry. What's yer age?"

"I'm about 40."

—Lulu's a prime rigo. What ar' ye with?"

"Really, ma'am, but I can't see what difference dat makes to!"

"But I kin! What ar' ye with?"

"A few thousand dollars."

"That's purty prime. Ar' ye able to dun $10 a week?"

"I think so."

"Do you git drunk and smash things?"

"Never."

"Waal, I guess you'll do, but we'll talk further this evening. How soon would you want it to come off?"

"What, ma'am?"

"Why, the marriage, of course!"

"But I don't want to marry you! I couldn't if I would, being already married. I stopped to ask if you could keep me all night. It would be a great accommodation, I assure you, as I have!"

"Don't want to marry me, eh?" she shouted. "Just stopped to play with my heartstrings, did you? Bill, bring me out the shotgun, and Sally, you run and unchain the dog!"

I struck a gallop down the road and got beyond the shot, and when the dog overtook me I didn't hit the pig to take hold, though the widow was calling:

"Take him, Napoleon! Stubby to him, my Tiger, and hold him till I kin git these paws on to his carcass!"

"Waal, mebbe. The widder's peccoliar, however."

He chuckled, pointed down the road and returned to his cornfield. He acted to me quick.

"Thank you, ma'am. I wanted to—"

"Oh, I know what you want well enough, but there's no great hurry. What's yer age?"

"I'm about 40."

—Lulu's a prime rigo. What ar' ye with?"

"Really, ma'am, but I can't see what difference dat makes to!"

"But I kin! What ar' ye with?"

"A few thousand dollars."

"That's purty prime. Ar' ye able to dun $10 a week?"

"I think so."

"Do you git drunk and smash things?"

"Never."

"Waal, I guess you'll do, but we'll talk further this evening. How soon would you want it to come off?"

"What, ma'am?"

"Why, the marriage, of course!"

"But I don't want to marry you! I couldn't if I would, being already married. I stopped to ask if you could keep me all night. It would be a great accommodation, I assure you, as I have!"

I struck a gallop down the road and got beyond the shot, and when the dog overtook me I didn't hit the pig to take hold, though the widow was calling:

"Take him, Napoleon! Stubby to him, my Tiger, and hold him till I kin git these paws on to his carcass!"

HE WAS SAVED.

The Earliest Jewel on Earth Proves Herself a Wonder.

"Ask me anything but that, father—anything but that!"

"But, Lulu, this is unreasonable. What possible objection can you have to Mr. Bolingbroke as a husband?"

"I have a hundred, father. He is 95 years old. The color of his chin whiskers does not match my real skin. He cannot ride a bike. Oh, father, do not urge me to marry such a man!"

"Lulu, do you want to come down to making neckties at 3 cents apiece and living on potato skins?"

"What do you mean, father?"

"I might as well be frank with you. Old Bolingbroke has a mortgage on all my property. If you refuse, he will beggar us!"

"How much is the mortgage?"

"Twenty thousand dollars."

"And when is it due?"

"Father, wait a minute till I run up stairs."

He waited. She was gone but a minute or two, and when she returned she placed a bulky package in his hands. He looked at her with a big interrogation point in each eye, and she blushing replied:

"It's the money to pay off the mortgage."

"You—you don't mean it?"

"But I do."

"But how on earth did you manage?"

"Father, forgive my little Lulu, but for the past six years she has been motherless. She could not go to bed at night until you came home."

"Yes, I know."

"And every night for six years you have come in about midnight in a—"

"I understand, daughter."

"And I thought it

THAT AURORA DISPLAY.

Only a Reflection From Joy Fires on the Vermilion Range.

The New York Sun of Saturday contains the following:

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 25.—This section was last night treated to a brilliant display of Northern lights. The entire northern horizon was illuminated by great waves of light, making the sky almost red with fire.

The supposed auroral show was only a reflection from the joy fires lighted and the vermilion paint laid on by the citizens of the Vermilion range in honor of the appointment of the Little Citizen, the Hon. Adam Bede, as U. S. Marshal. The whole range is ablaze with hilarity and the sky-kissing commercial palaces of Tower and Mountain Iron sway under the shock of the applause. Processions of delighted men are parading the streets, singing "Little Adam Bede" and the white run flows in caravans. At 1:30 this morning it was reported that Adam had set Waukegan Creek on fire.

OUTSIDERS NOT IN IT

One of the Aldermen Says John T. Black Stands no Show of Being Fire Chief.

Ex-Assistant Chief Little is Said to be Slated For That Position Beyond Doubt.

New Aldermen Decide to Make Some Material Reduction in the Salaries of Certain City Officers.

An alderman who will, it is expected, stand pretty close to the king wheel of the new administration, this morning declared that no outsider will be brought here to take positions, hence all talk of John T. Black for chief of the fire department is wind wasted. He declared that "Ham" Little will be made chief if it is the last act ever done.

In face of that statement Gen. Kilgore, who for three years past has been detective for the Great Northern railway and who has had his home in St. Paul, is here and has in his application for Tom Hayden's place as city detective, with most excellent chances for getting what he wants.

It is denied that Bob Benson wants that berth. He, it is affirmed, will be given Sam Thompson's place as captain, which pays $125 per month. It is claimed, too, that Thompson is not going to be dropped out of the department, but that a place will be kept for him.

It is most certain, indeed, that the incoming council will reduce the city clerk's income to $1800 per year. The president of the board of public works will be given $1200, while his associates and the clerk will get $1000 each. The city attorney will be kept down to $3000, including the $600 received from the municipal court, and his assistants will be cut to $1500. No reductions will be made on the board of health, in the police department, fire department or the assessor's office.

Nils Nilson seems to feel a little sore over the manner in which some of the aldermen roasts the board of public works for the alleged easy life its members lead, for today, in sarcastic tones, he said that it has been proposed to abolish the fire department and when a building burns to let the city pay for it. That would be cheaper, following the line of argument advanced by the aldermanic opponents to the board of public works, than paying $100,000 per annum and having the firemen run only now and then to a fire.

Mrs. Dinwiddie's letter. The following is a copy of Mrs. Dinwiddie's letter of resignation as teacher of music, which she has just received from her father, Mr. Dinwiddie, who has been teaching music in the city of Duluth.

To the Board of Education of Duluth public schools. Gentlemen: There comes to me a most painful duty, to tender to you my resignation as supervisor of music in your schools.

Although the state of my health has improved during the lengthened vacation which you kindly granted me, yet I dare not attempt public work again this year.

Hoping most sincerely that you will secure a superior teacher to fill the position, yet let me assure you that you will find no person who will love the work, the children, nor our school system with greater devotion than the one who reluctantly lays aside the position. Very respectfully yours, J. S. Dinwiddie.

GLADSTONE OUT.

Rumors Again in Circulation That the English Premier Has Decided to Retire at Once.

One Story That He Has Resigned the Premiership But Will Remain in the Cabinet.

He Will Wait on the Queen Today and Recommend Lord Rosebery as His Successor.

Mr. Gladstone's Eyesight is Failing Fast and His Retirement from Active Duties Necessary.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The subject of Mr. Gladstone's resignation is reviewed today in a way suggesting that there may be some foundation in the report. The Pall Mall Gazette, the Times Gazette and the Westminster Gazette publish articles almost identical in substance indicating that Mr. Gladstone will resign at an early day. The reason given in each case is that the premier's eyesight is failing so fast that his vision will become wholly obscured if he does not immediately retire from active political duty.

It is also stated that it was the intention of Mr. Gladstone to allude to his approaching resignation in the house of commons yesterday, but he was dissuaded by his colleagues from doing so.

The Manchester Guardian, the Yorkshire Post and many other provincial newspapers publish these rumors and accompany them with articles expressing the belief that there are well founded grounds for the rumor. The Sun claim to have information that Earl Rosebery will be Mr. Gladstone's successor, and Sir William Harcourt, the government leader in the house of commons.

The Edinburgh Evening News claims to have been informed upon authority that Mr. Gladstone has already resigned the premiership, but will retain a seat in the cabinet. Upon the same authority the News assumes that Mr. Gladstone will have an audience with the queen today, when he will recommend Lord Rosebery as his successor.

The Report Again Denied.
LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Central News is authority for the statement that the rumor that Mr. Gladstone will resign from office is officially denied. The statement is also made upon the same authority that the report that the premier has had an interview with the queen on the subject of his final resignation or temporary retirement is absolutely without foundation. The interview had by Lord Rosebery with the queen on Saturday had no political significance whatever.

ALMOST TORN TO PIECES.
A Little Child Fatally Injured by a New Found-land Dog.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Tommy O'Hara, the 4-year-old son of Lieut. O'Hara, of the West Lake street police station, was almost torn to pieces by a Newfoundland dog yesterday. The boy was playing in a yard in the rear of his parents' home, No. 918 Fulton street, with the dog, which has been in the family for some time.

In the midst of the play the dog suddenly attacked the child. His left arm and hand were terribly mangled and his face and head lacerated. Mrs. O'Hara, the mother, was badly bitten while trying to rescue the child. Physicians who were called found that one of the dog's teeth had penetrated the brain, and the child's recovery, they say, is almost impossible.

Lieut. O'Hara shot the animal. He does not believe the dog had hydrophobia. During the progress of the terrible attack on the child, a small brother and sister appeared on the scene and the maddened brute turned on them momentarily and inflicted cruel wounds. But his rage seemed to be against the boy Tommy, and he turned again and seized the little one in his teeth, shaking him until he was almost lifeless.

Michael Kennedy, a saloonkeeper near by, took a hand in the struggle with the dog after Mrs. O'Hara had rescued her child, and was bitten savagely.

Short in His Accounts.
WINONA, Minn., Feb. 27.—A sensation was caused yesterday by the discharge of E. G. Hornbroke, who has held the office of auditor of the Winona & Southern Railway company ever since the road was built, some four years ago. He is short $1000 in his accounts.

Bonilla's Triumph.
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A special from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, says: Policarpo Bonilla's government has been installed amid great rejoicing. Bonilla has declared a general amnesty and promises a fair election. It is said that a French syndicate has offered a large loan to Nicaragua in exchange for a canal concession.

Fatal Explosion.
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—By an explosion of gas at the Point Breeze gas works early this morning one man was killed and three dangerously injured. The victims are: George Custer, killed; and William Rose, Charles Carson and Andrew Orr, injured.

SOVEREIGN IS DEFIANT.

The K. of L. Leader Will Violate Judge Jenkins' Injunction.
WINONA, Minn., Feb. 27.—Grand Master Workman Sovereign in a speech last evening before 175 laborers said if opportunity permitted a citizen of the United States, he would violate the injunction placed upon him by Judge Jenkins at Milwaukee in regard to the employees of the Northern Pacific road.

The meeting was opened by a speech by Henry B. Martin, of Minneapolis, member of the executive board. In his speech Mr. Sovereign said the gold that filled the reserve fund came from the reserve. The cause of the financial ills rests on the laboring people, as the ballbox favored labor with ninety-nine ballots to Gould's one. The laboring men should seek justice at Washington by voting for representatives who will not deceive them. It is a shame to talk of bullets when ballots are so free. When the bonds of the United States are due the laboring men would be in power.

In regard to Judge Jenkins' injunction he said: My right of free speech is forbidden. When they served the injunction they annihilated the rights of American citizens. I demand under the constitution of the United States the right to violate the injunction. If there is a United States marshal I defy him to arrest me.

In an interview yesterday Mr. Sovereign said the language used in the speech at Des Moines against Judge Jenkins was perhaps more forceful than would have been used had he not been in the heat of debate. He said he expected to meet the employees of the Northern Pacific road at St. Paul and Minneapolis, but would not say that that was his main object in coming to Minnesota.

SWINDLED MANY TRADESMEN.
A Belgian Nobleman Did Up French Merchants For $200,000.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Paris edition of the New York Herald says that a person calling himself Prince Tooscowaroff has succeeded in swindling French and German jewellers and other tradesmen to the extent of nearly $200,000 and has fled, it is believed, to America.

Though it was supposed by many of his acquaintances that he was a spurious nobleman, inquiry has revealed the fact that he is a member of a very old Belgian family. His favorite method of obtaining the confidence of his victims was by industriously spreading the report that he was soon to marry the "Princess Demidoff," a Russian lady of fabulous wealth, but who was supposed to be identical with a Parisian demimondee of that name. Warrants have been issued in Paris and Brussels for his arrest.

TROOPS WERE CALLED OUT.
Peasants in Italy Tried to Rescue an Arrested Comrade.

ROME, Feb. 27.—A mob of peasants in Acquaviva delle Fonti, province of Bari, tried yesterday to rescue a comrade who had been arrested by the police. After they were driven from the rioters attacked the police office, smashed the doors and windows and put the occupants to flight.

While they were breaking street lamps and windows of houses in the neighborhood, troops were brought up on the double quick. After a street fight the police were victorious and the rioters were arrested. A communal councillor is among the prisoners. Several persons were injured during the riot.

WAS A MONUMENTAL HOAX.
The A. P. A. Scare at Toledo Has Created Much Laughter.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 27.—The alleged encyclical of Pope Leo XIII, that was the cause of so much fear and terror among members of the American Protective association in Toledo last fall, is now said to have had its birth in Detroit. This is the statement made by a member of the order who did not purchase a Winchester.

American Protective association matters have cooled off to a great extent, and it is not thought that any effort will be made for a judicial investigation of the affair. Since Treasurer Oslander and others have unsubstantiated themselves, the people have come to regard the matter as a monumental hoax and are contented at laughing at the now discredited alarmists.

A Sensational Report.
BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The Vossische Zeitung says that at the Brandenburg dinner on Saturday evening Finance Minister Miquel denounced the Russian treaty loudly enough to be overheard by the emperor. This statement has excited much comment but is not credited generally, as Dr. Miquel's newspaper organs have favored the treaty for weeks and are now exhorting the deputies to ratify it. Although saying that the finance minister communicated his disapproval to his neighbor at table, the Vossische Zeitung neglects to mention who this neighbor was.

Laugh at the Story.
BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Michael Maier and his wife, formerly Mrs. Herman Groenke, of Racine, Wis., who is said to be wanted in Racine for the alleged poisoning of her first husband, are still attending to business in their Glenmore avenue butcher shop. The Maier's laugh at the poisoning story and Mrs. Maier even seems anxious to be arrested. "I am not afraid," she said. "If they want me let them come and get me. I have done nothing." Maier declares his belief in his wife's innocence.

Serious Charges Made.
CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Fred S. Baker, an attorney in the Unity building, and Joseph S. Dallas, his clerk, are under arrest charged with conspiracy to commit forgery, circulating forged and fictitious papers and obtaining money by false pretenses.

The Omaha Kid Won.
MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—The contest between Oscar Gardner, the Omaha Kid, and Dominick Barnes before the Twin City Athletic club last evening, was a walkaway for the Kid, who was given the decision in the fifth round.

FIXING THE TARIFF.

The Democratic Senators Still in Caucus Trying to Agree on the Tariff Bill's Provisions.

Senator Brice Made Another Speech Today Urging Concessions be Made to Secure United Action.

Lead Men Hustling to Keep White Lead Off the Free List—The Sugar Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Democratic caucus adjourned at noon without, as a leading senator says, coming to any conclusion upon any matter laid before them. Another meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock. The members of the caucus are very secretive, and the chairman had laid special stress upon the necessity of secrecy as to all that takes place until the bill is finally agreed upon. Sugar was a leading topic this morning; and while the sugar men express themselves as satisfied with the result, they refuse to give any figures.

Chairman Voorhees and Mr. Vest, one of the sub-committee, spoke at some length on general lines in favor of the results reached by the sub-committee and defended it from the attacks made by the conservatives.

Mr. Brice, continuing on the line inaugurated by him in his speech yesterday, denied that the committee had gone to work in the right way, and declared that it was not best for the Democrats of the senate to be kept in ignorance of the terms of a bill in which they, as such, as any member of the committee, were interested. It was necessary, he said, in order to produce a bill that would yield sufficient revenue, to tax a number of articles that had either been reduced or made free, and in order to obtain a place a duty of eight tenths of a cent a pound on sugar testing eighty degrees or less, and increase one-hundredth of a cent on each degree.

This schedule was given in these dispatches a week ago, but was subsequently changed, according to the tactics of the free sugar men in the committee, who take the stand that if there is to be a fight it might as well be upon the smallest possible concession.

This duty is based upon the amount of pure sugar, and would make the duty one cent a pound on absolutely pure saccharine matter. This is the Louisiana senators denounce as worse than nothing, and in speeches that displayed considerable warmth, both Senators White and Caffery, of Louisiana, condemned the action of the committee and refused to accept it. When the hour of noon had arrived no agreement had been reached.

Lead ore was not discussed today, and as the bill now stands, all lead and lead products are on the free list. In this matter it appears the silver senators played a shrewd game. Finding they were failing in getting a duty on lead ore, the silver Republicans, with the Southern Democratic allies, combined and had all lead products made free.

This hit the white lead people, and the result is that today a large delegation is at the capital representing the interests of the lead people. If lead products go back to the dutiable list, then, the silver men assert lead ore will also. The white lead people are already claiming they will get an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent on white lead, instead of the specific duty of 1 1/2 cents in the Wilson bill, which is a square cent of one-half from the 3 cents duty under the existing law.

At 2:30 the announcement was made by a senator that no vote had been taken on the schedule. There will be a continuation of the caucus tonight or tomorrow morning.

SMALLPOX IN JAPAN.
Eighty-Four Persons Attacked in One Prefecture.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The City of Rio Janeiro arrived from Yokohama after midnight, bringing advices up to Feb. 10. Smallpox is raging at Nagasaki prefecture, eighty-four persons being attacked last week.

Great preparations are being made for the celebration of the emperor's silver wedding, $800,000 having been expended thereon. Japanese exhibitors at Chicago are very dependent at the non sale of their goods and are appealing to the home government for aid.

"Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Zella Nicolaus: Would like to meet you. Will be here all week.
When she opened the telegram Mrs. Nicolaus became violently angry and declared she would kill Christianman if he made any advances. ## GLADSTONE OUT.

Rumors Again in Circulation That the English Premier Has Decided to Retire at Once.

One Story That He Has Resigned the Premiership But Will Remain in the Cabinet.

He Will Wait on the Queen Today and Recommend Lord Rosebery as His Successor.

Mr. Gladstone's Eyesight is Failing Fast and His Retirement From Active Duty is Necessary.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The subject of Mr. Gladstone's resignation revived today in a way suggesting that there may be some foundation in the report. The Pall Mall Gazette, the St. James Gazette and the Westminster Gazette publish articles almost identical in substance indicating that Mr. Gladstone will resign at an early day. The reason given in each case is that the premier's eyesight is failing so fast that his vision will become wholly obscured if he does not immediately retire from active political duty.

It is also stated that it was the intention of Mr. Gladstone to allude to his approaching resignation in the house of commons yesterday, but he was dissuaded by his colleagues from doing so.

The Manchester Guardian, the Yorkshire Post and many other provincial newspapers publish these rumors and accompany them with articles expressing the belief that they are well founded.

The Chronicle and the Sun claim to have information that Earl Rosebery will be Mr. Gladstone's successor, and Sir William Harcourt, the government leader in the house of commons.

The Edinburgh Evening News claims to have been informed upon authority that Mr. Gladstone has already resigned the premiership, but will retain a seat in the cabinet. Upon this authority the News announces that Mr. Gladstone will have an audience with the queen today, when he will recommend Lord Rosebery as his successor.

The Report Again Denied.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Central News is authority for the statement that the rumor that Mr. Gladstone will resign from office is officially denied. The statement is also made upon the same authority that the report that the premier has had an interview with the queen on the subject of his final resignation or temporary retirement is absolutely without foundation.

The interview had by Lord Rosebery with the queen on Saturday had no political significance whatever.

A Little Child Fatally Injured by a New Found-Land Dog.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Tommy O'Hara, the 4-year-old son of Lieut. O'Hara, of the West Lake street police station, was almost torn to pieces by a Newfoundland dog yesterday. The boy was playing in a yard in the rear of his parents' home, No. 918 Fulton street, with the dog, which has been in the family for some time.

In the midst of the play the dog suddenly attacked the child. His left arm and hand were terribly mangled and his face and head lacerated. Mrs. O'Hara, the mother, was badly bitten while trying to rescue the child. Physicians who were called found that one of the dog's teeth had penetrated the brain, and the child's recovery, they say, is almost impossible.

Lieut. O'Hara shot the animal. He does not believe the dog had hydrophobia. During the progress of the terrible attack on the child, a small brother and sister appeared on the scene and the maddened brute turned on them momentarily and inflicted cruel wounds. But his rage seemed to be against the boy Tommy, and he turned again and seized the little one in his teeth, shaking him until he was almost lifeless.

Michael Kennedy, a saloonkeeper near by, took a hand in the struggle with the dog after Mrs. O'Hara had rescued her child, and was bitten savagely.

Short in His Accounts.

WINONA, Minn., Feb. 27.—A sensation was caused yesterday by the discharge of E. C. Hornbroke, who has held the office of auditor of the Winona & Northwestern Railway company ever since the road was built, some four years ago. He is short $500 in his accounts.

Bonilla's Triumph.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A special from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, says: Policarpo Bonilla's government has been installed amid great rejoicing. Bonilla has declared a general amnesty and promises a fair election. It is said that a French syndicate has offered a large loan to Nicaragua in exchange for a canal concession.

Fatal Explosion.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—By an explosion of gas at the Point Breeze gas works early this morning one man was killed and three dangerously injured. The victims are: George Custer, killed; and William Rose, Charles Carson and Andrew Orr, injured.

SOVEREIGN IS DEFIANT.

The K. of L. Leader Will Violate Judge Jenkins' Injunction.

WINONA, Minn., Feb. 27.—Grand Master Workman Sovereign in a speech last evening before 175 laborers said if opportunity permitted a citizen of the United States, he would violate the injunction placed upon him by Judge Jenkins at Milwaukee in regard to the employees of the Northern Pacific road.

The meeting was opened by a speech by Henry B. Martin, of Minneapolis, member of the executive board. In his speech Mr. Sovereign said the goal that filled the reserve fund came from the reserve. The cause of the financial ills rests on the laboring people, as the ballotbox favored labor with ninety-nine ballots to Gould's one. The laboring men should seek justice at Washington by voting for representatives who will not deceive them. It is a shame to talk of bullets when ballots are so free. When the bonds of the United States are due the laboring men would be in power.

In regard to Judge Jenkins' injunction he said: My right of free speech is forbidden. When I served the injunction they annihilated the rights of American citizens. I demand under the constitution of the United States the right to violate the injunction. If there is a United States marshal I defy him to arrest me.

In interview yesterday Mr. Sovereign said the language used in the speech at Des Moines against Judge Jenkins was perhaps more forceful than would have been used had he not been in the heat of debate. He said he expected to meet the employees of the Northern Pacific road at St. Paul and Minneapolis, but would not say that that was his main object in coming to Minnesota.

SWINDLED MANY TRADESMEN.

A Belgian Nobleman Did Up French Merchants For $200,000.

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Paris edition of the New York Herald says that a person calling himself Prince Tooscowarzew succeeded in swindling French and German jewellers and other tradesmen to the tune of $200,000 and has fled, it is believed, to America.

Though it was supposed by many of his acquaintances that he was a spurious nobleman, inquiry has revealed the fact that he is a member of a very old Belgian family. His favorite method of obtaining the confidence of his victims was by industriously spreading the report that he was soon to marry the "Princess Demidoff," a Russian lady of fabulous wealth, but who is supposed to be identical with a Parisian demimondaine of that name. Warrants have been issued in Paris and Brussels for his arrest.

TROOPS WERE CALLED OUT.

Peasants in Italy Tried to Rescue an Arrested Comrade.

ROME, Feb. 27.—A mob of peasants in Acquaviva delle Fonti, province of Bari, tried yesterday to rescue a comrade who had been arrested by the police. After they were driven from the jail the rioters attacked the police office, smashed the doors and windows and put the occupants to flight.

While they were breaking street lamps and windows of houses in the neighborhood, troops were brought up on the double quick. After a street fight the mob was dispersed and the leaders were arrested. A communal councillor is among the prisoners. Several persons were injured during the riot.

WAS A MONUMENTAL HOAX.

The A. P. A. Scare at Toledo Has Created Much Laughter.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 27.—The alleged encyclical of Pope Leo XIII., that was among members of the American Protective association in Toledo last fall, is now said to have had its birth in Detroit. This is the statement made by a member of the order who did not purchase a Winchester.

American Protective association matters have cooled off to a great extent. It is a short time since the order was made for a judicial investigation of the affair. Since Treasurer Oslander and others have unboxed themselves, the people have come to regard the matter as a monumental hoax and are contented at laughing at the now discomfited alarmists.

A Sensational Report.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The Vossische Zeitung says that at the Brandenburg dinner on Saturday evening Finance Minister Miquel denounced the Russian treaty loudly enough to be overheard by the emperor. This statement has excited much comment, but is not credited generally, as Dr. Miquel's newspaper organs have favored the treaty for weeks and are now exhorting the deputies to ratify it. Although saying that the finance minister communicated his disapproval to his neighbor at table, the Vossische Zeitung neglects to mention who this neighbor was.

Laugh at the Story.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Feb. 27.—Michael Maier and his wife, formerly Mrs. Herman Groenke, of Racine, Wis., who is said to be wanted in Racine for the alleged poisoning of her first husband, are still attending to business in their Glenmore avenue butcher shop. The Maiers laugh at the poisoning story and Mrs. Maier even seems anxious to be arrested. "I am not afraid," she said, "if they want me let them come and get me. I have done nothing." Maier declares his belief in his wife's innocence.

Serious Charges Made.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Fred S. Baker, an attorney in the Unity building, and Joseph S. Dallas, his clerk, are under arrest charged with conspiracy to commit forgery, circulating forged and fictitious papers and obtaining money by false pretenses.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 27.—The contest between Oscar Gardner, the Omaha Kid, and Dominick Barnes before the Twin City Athletic club last evening, was a walkaway for the Kid, who was given the decision in the fifth round.

FIXING THE TARIFF.

The Democratic Senators Still in Caucus Trying to Agree on the Tariff Bill's Provisions.

Senator Brice Made Another Speech Today Urging Concessions be Made to Secure United Action.

Lead Men Hustling to Keep White Lead Off the Free List—The Sugar Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Democratic caucus adjourned at noon without, as a leading senator says, coming to any conclusion upon any matter laid before them. Another meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock. The members of the caucus are very secretive, and the chairman had laid special stress upon the necessity of secrecy as to all that takes place until the bill is finally agreed upon. Sugar was a leading topic this morning, and while the sugar men express themselves as satisfied with the result, they refuse to give any figures.

Chairman Voorhees and Mr. Vest, one of the sub-committee, spoke at some length on general lines in favor of the results reached by the sub-committee and defended it from the attacks made by the conservatives.

Mr. Brice, continuing on the line inaugurated by him in his speech yesterday, denied that the committee had gone to work in the right way, and declared that it was not best for the Democrats of the senate to be kept in ignorance of the terms of a bill in which they, as much as any member of the committee, were interested. It was necessary, he said, in order to produce a bill that would secure substantial revenue, to tax a number of articles that had either been reduced or made free; and in order to frame a bill that would draw to it a united party, concessions had to be made. Without going into detail at this time, Mr. Brice said there were certain items affecting his section of the country that should be changed.

The sugar senators had a hard time of it this morning, and when the caucus adjourned they were said to be very indignant. The proposition of the finance committee laid before the caucus this morning is to place a duty of eight-tenths of a cent a pound on sugar testing eighty degrees or less, and increase one-hundredth of a cent on each degree. This schedule was given in these dispatches a week ago, but was subsequently changed, according to the tactics of the free sugar men on the committee, who take the stand that if there is to be a fight it might as well be upon the smallest possible concession.

This duty is based upon the amount of pure sugar, and would make the duty one cent a pound on absolutely pure saccharine matter. The Louisiana senators denounce as worse than nothing, and in speeches that displayed considerable warmth, both Senators White and Caffery, of Louisiana, condemned the action of the committee and refused to accept it. When the hour of noon had arrived no agreement had been reached.

Lead ore was not discussed today, and as the bill now stands, all lead and lead products are on the free list. In this matter it appears the silver senators played a shrewd game. Finding they were failing in getting a duty on lead ore, the silver Republicans, with the Southern Democratic allies, combined and had all lead products made free.

This bit the white lead people, and the result is that today a large delegation is at the capital representing the interests of the lead people. If lead products go back to the dutiable list, then the silver men assert lead ore will also. The white lead people are already claiming they will get an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent on white lead, instead of the specific duty of 1 1/2 cents in the Wilson bill, which is a square cut of one-half from the 3 cents duty under the existing law.

At 2:30 the announcement was made by a senator that no vote had been taken on any schedule. There will be a continuation of the caucus tonight or tomorrow morning.

WOULD KILL A DRUMMER.

Zella Nicolaus and Her "Guardian" on a Young Man's Trail.

WARASH, Ind., Feb. 27.—Zella Nicolaus, of George Gould fame, and her guardian, Al Ruhnmann, are visiting Zella's parents here and are camping on the trail of Harvey Christman, the young traveling salesman whom Zella caused to be arrested for criminally assaulting her five years ago. Christman is now a "drummer" for a soap company. Zella yesterday received this telegram, which enraged her and Ruhnmann:

"Fort Wayne, Ind., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Zella Nicolaus: Would like to meet you. Will be here all week."

HARVEY CHRISTMAN.

When she opened the telegram Mrs. Nicolaus became violently angry and declared she would kill Christman if he made any advances. Ruhnmann also says that if Christman wants to continue in the soap business he must stop insulting his wife, as he will kill him if he crosses her path again. Ruhnmann and Zella, together with her father and mother, leave today for New York to reside permanently.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

CRASHED INTO A CRIB

The Big Steel Steamboat Ferdinand Schlessinger Crashed Into the Four-Mile Crib at Chicago.

Fourteen Men Working on the Intakes Had a Narrow Escape From a Watery Grave.

Later the Vessel Was Caught Between Two Big Ice Floes But Afterwards Got Free.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The Ferdinand Schlessinger, a steel steamboat 305 feet long, one of the biggest vessels on the lake, crashed into the four mile crib at 1:30 o'clock this morning, tearing away what the hurricane of three weeks ago left of the landing on the south of the structure. Fortunately the big vessel was drifting off the fourteen men who were working on the intakes, keeping them clear from anchor ice, would have been swept to a watery grave. What injuries the vessel sustained Cribkeeper Johnson could not say, as it backed away and lay to about one mile from the crib. No signals of distress were shown, however.

All last night a heavy swell was on and the southeasterly wind drove the ice floes against the crib with terrific force. Before darkness the floes commenced piling against the little brick house and by midnight they were thirty feet high. It was to this powerful and apparently irresistible tide that the collision was due. At 2 o'clock the boat had steamed one mile away from the crib and was again in trouble, being caught between two big floes. It took half an hour's hard work to get free, but at 3 o'clock Cribkeeper Johnson reported that the vessel had gone south and was out of sight.

THE BRITISH IN AFRICA.
Another Expedition Renewed Operations Against Chief Fodisilah.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The government is in receipt of dispatches from Rear Admiral Bedford at Bathurst, reporting the renewal of operations against Chief Fodisilah. Another expedition composed of 100 soldiers with a field gun destroyed the stockades surrounding the villages of Sokuta and Busamballa, with only slight resistance on the part of the natives and without any fatalities to the British force. The expedition returned to Bathurst yesterday, leaving a guard outlying British Combs pending the arrival of reinforcements.

Referring to the recent reverses sustained by the British, Admiral Bedford says the troops reached the landing place on their return before the tide had risen sufficiently to enable the boats to reach the shores to take them on board. While thus between the devil and the deep sea, they were attacked by the natives, all showing the greatest gallantry and coolness, the officers setting a splendid example in this respect for the men.

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY!
A Great Mistake.

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to derangement of the nerve centers which supply the brain with nerve forces that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuritis, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve fluid or force. This is likewise true of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nerve system is like a telegraph system, as will be seen by the accompanying cut. The little white lines are the nerves which convey the nerve force from the nerve centers to every part of the body, just as the electric currents conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact, instead of treating the nerve centers for the cause of the disorders arising therefrom they treat the part affected.

Franklin Miles, M. D., L. E. B., the highly celebrated specialist and author of many noted treatises on the latest subject, long since realized the truth of the first statement, and his Restorative Nervine is prepared on the basis of the latest scientific discovery in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nerve system. It is a cure in the thousands of unrelieved testaments in possession of the community. It is the remedy for all nervous diseases, such as headache, nervous debility, prostration, dizziness, drowsiness, hysterical, neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is sold by all druggists and is a perfect cure for all the above named diseases. It is sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., New York, N. Y., on receipt of six bottles for $5. Express prepaid. Restorative Nervine positively contains no opium or dangerous drugs.

OUR NEW MINISTER TO BOLIVIA.

Thomas Moonlight, Soldier, Politician and Ex-Governor of Wyoming.

Colonel Thomas Moonlight of Leavenworth, who has just been appointed minister to Bolivia, is one of the best known veteran soldiers and politicians in Kansas. Like a great many other self-made men who have achieved success in America, he was born abroad, came to this country with out a cent and by hard work won a place and name for himself in this country.

THOMAS MOONLIGHT, a man of great opportunities, Colonel Moonlight first saw the light in Scotland a trifle over 60 years ago. Early in life he started out to make his fortune, and as he was without money he worked his passage on a ship bound for the United States. He earned a little money chopping wood, shearing sheep and carrying the hod in Glassboro and Camden, N. J., saved his earnings and used them to pay for two winters of needed schooling.

In 1853 he began a five years' service in the Fourth United States artillery, Company D, tried farming in Kickapoo, Kan., in 1859, and like "Old Pat" of Revolutionary fame dropped the plow to take up arms in the civil war. He was elected captain of Light Battery Company D, Fourth Kansas volunteers, served throughout the war, and by gallantry during the Price raid of 1864 was promoted in rank until he was colonel of the Eleventh Kansas infantry and cavalry and brevetted brigadier general of volunteers.

While in the field as a brigade commander after Price he was elected a presidential elector for Lincoln. In 1869 he was chosen secretary of state for Kansas, served two years and then became a Democrat. He was state senator for two terms, presidential elector for Hancock and Cleveland in 1876 and 1880, respectively, adjutant general of Kansas under Governor Glick in 1883-4 and Democratic nominee for governor in 1886. He was beaten in the gubernatorial contest, but received a very heavy vote.

His appointment by President Cleveland as governor of Wyoming followed, and he held the office until 1889, when President Harrison removed him. In 1890 he ran for congress in the First Kansas district, but was defeated. He will succeed Frederick J. Grant of Washington as Bolivian minister. The salary of the position is $5,000 a year.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY'S BENEFACTOR
Henry W. Sage Has Given the Ithaca College a Million and a Quarter.

Henry W. Sage, the famous patron of Cornell university, recently celebrated his eightieth birthday, and the day was a memorable one both for the university and for himself. It was selected as the time for the dedication of the Museum of Classical Archaeology. Mr. Sage's last gift to Cornell, and for the presentation to him of a silver memorial vase by the trustees and ex-trustees of the university. The vase is a marvel of the silversmith's art. It is of Greek design, 18 1/2 inches high and 28 inches in circumference. There is a bas-relief of a beautiful female figure representing Generosity, and there are etchings of the different buildings given to the university by Mr. Sage—namely, the Sage College for Women, the chapel and the great university library.

Mr. Sage was born in Middletown, Conn., and in 1827 removed to Ithaca, N. Y., and began the study of medicine.

Poor health compelled him to go into business, and he soon made a great deal of money and became the largest holder of timber lands in Michigan. He was a close friend and ally of Ezra Cornell, founder of the university, and after Mr. Cornell's death he was chosen chairman of the board of trustees, a position he has held ever since. He has given the university $1,225,000 in cash, 15 years of his life have been devoted to the management of his interests, and it is said that his wise administration of its affairs has saved the university about $4,000,000.

Judicial Reports.

Chief Justice Jeremiah Black of Pennsylvania, in reviewing a case which came up from the court of his old friend, Judge Moses Hampton, remarked that "surely Moses must have been wandering in the wilderness when he made his decision" and sent the case back to the lower court. Judge Hampton, on his second trial, took occasion to remark that, although he would have to submit to the higher authority, yet he still thought he was right, "in spite of the lamentations of Jeremiah."

Extenuating the Elephants.
If the ivory trade increases at the present rate much longer, the elephants will soon become extinct. One firm alone in Sheffield, England, last year received the tusks of no fewer than 1,280 elephants. A few years ago 800 pairs of tusks were sufficient for them.

THE HAWAIIAN STORY.

Another Chapter in the Interesting Serial Compiled by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

Lieut. Lucien Young's Account of the Scene at the Prerogative of the Hawaiian Legislation.

Queen Lil, While Under the Influence of Liquor, Read Her Speech in English and Kanaka.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Hawaiian testimony, which accompanies the report of the committee on foreign relations, laid before the senate yesterday, is very voluminous. It does not include any statement from Secretary Gresham or from any person connected with the Hawaiian legislation for the reason, as the committee says, that "it was not thought proper to question the diplomatic authorities of either government on matters that are, or have been the subject of negotiation between them and no power exists to authorize the examination of the minister of a foreign government in any proceeding without his consent."

There is, however, an affidavit from the committee of safety in Honolulu, dated Jan. 4, 1894, in which it is said: "That we are the persons appointed as a citizens' committee of safety at Honolulu in January last. That neither prior nor after our appointment as such committee did we or either of us, individually or collectively, have an agreement or understanding, directly or indirectly, with the United States minister, Mr. Stevens, or Capt. Wilcox, that we or either of them would assist in the overthrow of the monarchy or the establishment of the provisional government. There is, however, an affidavit from the committee of safety in Honolulu, dated Jan. 4, 1894, in which it is said: "That we are the persons appointed as a citizens' committee of safety at Honolulu in January last. Wilcox, that we or either of them would assist in the overthrow of the monarchy or the establishment of the provisional government. That at no time either before or after such appointment did Mr. Stevens ever recommend or urge us, or either of us, to deprive the queen or establish a provisional government. That at no time either before or after such appointment did Mr. Stevens or Captain Wilcox promise us, or either of us, that the United States troops would be used to assist in the overthrow of the queen or the establishment of the provisional government and such troops in fact, were not so used."

There are also affidavits from William R. Castle and other prominent friends of the provisional government. Lieut. Lucien Young, of the Boston, gave the committee a graphic description of the scene accompanying the promulgation of the new constitution. He attended the ceremony in uniform at the request of Capt. Wilcox and accompanied by Consul General Severance. He said:

"When I got there there was quite a crowd around the rear end of the building and two or three leading Americans and Judge Hartwell, who was one of the leading lawyers of the place and minister under Kamehameha, informed me that the queen contemplated the promulgation of a new constitution immediately after the adjournment of the legislature, and asked me if I would not go on board and inform Capt. Wilcox. I went in to speak of it to Consul General Severance, and he laughed and said: 'I do not believe a word of it.' I went in and was shown the seat assigned me in the legislative hall, a little to the left and in front of the rostrum where the speaker used to sit, and which the queen used when she read her proclamation. After waiting some little time they commenced, and I believe it was about the funniest affair I ever saw in my life—a circus."

"The procession was headed by two or three lackeys and then followed the governor of Oahu, father of the heiress apparent, dressed in a gray uniform colored with gold and orders; the chamberlain with attendants all dressed up in uniform and then came her majesty, with a long train and four lackeys in knee breeches carrying the train, and then the two royal princesses, ladies in waiting, a staff, the four ministers and other attendants. It was a very amusing scene. Afterwards the proclamation was handed to her in a portfolio, when she stepped to the front of the rostrum and began reading, first in English and then in Kanaka. more than one or two white members of the legislature present at the time. After the legislature was prorogued the queen passed into her reception room."

"Did you follow her?" asked the chairman.

Lieut. Young replied: "Yes; I passed on through the door. The consul told me he was going back to the office. I told him I was there in an official capacity, and I felt it my duty to go through with it."

Senator Gray: "You wanted to see the sights of the side circus?"

"Yes; the governor of Oahu, Mr. Clegg, stopped me at the door and talked to me in a nervous strain as though to retain me. I passed in and bowed to the queen and her ministers standing on the right, her aides, and passed on through the door. The queen looked at me rather savagely and did not return my salutation with any cordiality at all. I noticed that she acted in a peculiar manner, in fact, as though she was drunk. There is no question in my mind about it at all."

"Then I passed out into the yard and started to go over into the palace, and I was advised not to go. Then I was told again on the outside that as soon as the queen came over to the palace she was going to promulgate the new constitution. I was also informed that at the palace the night before there had been placed to deprive the queen or establish a provisional government. That at no time either before or after such appointment did Mr. Stevens ever recommend or urge us, or either of us, to deprive the queen or establish a provisional government. That at no time either before or after such appointment did Mr. Stevens or Captain Wilcox promise us, or either of us, that the United States troops would be used to assist in the overthrow of the queen or the establishment of the provisional government and such troops in fact, were not so used."

FINIS.

HE MISER.
She's sent my letters back to me—
They little kids with weary wings,
They seek the nest whence they went free—
She cares no more to hear them sing.

I sent them forth with merry heart
And dared to dream that love would last.
I'll read them then—then forever part
With these fair visions of the past.

HE REARS.
Great Caesar's ghost! What did she think
When I called this great blot a tear?
Did she imagine I wept ink?
When I said I was a fool I was last year!

A poem on "The Glove"—Great Scott!
To her "I time my secret love"
And craved remembrance—"I trust not!"
Pshaw! Where's a match to light this love?

In the Battle of the Front.
He was sad and sorrowful when he came to her, for he was going far away to be a soldier of fortune, and he had not yet told her that they must separate for months, perhaps for years.

She met him cheerily, but when she saw the shadows on his face a chill came to her heart.

"What is it, Henry?" she asked, trembling.

"Dear one," he sighed, "I am going away."

"Where, darling?" she cried, throwing herself into his arms.

"I am going to the battle's front, to mingle with brave men who are struggling in a common cause, for I am needed there."

"Oh, Henry," she sobbed, "you must not go. You will be slain, and my heart will be broken. I cannot let you go to be slaughtered, darling. I cannot; I cannot."

"But, darling," he said, trying to soothe her, "I must go. The Brazilian cause."

"Are you going to Brazil?" she interrupted.

"Yes, darling," he answered bravely.

"Oh, won't that be lovely?" she exclaimed merrily. "Let me go with you."

And the heroism of Henry went down in a frightful slump.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.
Feb. 27.—The barometer is highest on the South Atlantic coast, and a general area of high pressure extends from Wyoming to Manitoba. A area of low pressure is central over Western Lake Superior.
The temperature has risen decidedly in the Midwest valley, and is higher than in the Dakotas; it has fallen north of Duluth, but fair weather has been prevailing over the northern portion of the lake region with some indications of snow.
A telegram received this morning from the chief of the weather bureau, Washington, D. C., announces that the temperature will fall 15 to 20 degrees by Wednesday morning.
Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
32 degrees above zero; maximum, 34 degrees
above zero; minimum, 16 degrees above zero.
Duluth, Feb. 27.—Local forecast until 4 p. m.
tomorrow: Fair and colder tonight and Wednesday; possibly preceded by snow showers this evening; wind backing and freshening.

Mr. Gladstone's Resignation.
The London newspapers today discuss the rumor that Premier Gladstone is about to resign, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the story is well founded. Indeed it is almost generally accepted as a fact that Mr. Gladstone will resign at an early date, if not at once, as the Pall Mall Gazette announced only a few weeks ago, and already there is discussion of the ministerial changes which will be brought about. Most of the papers which are usually well informed on such subjects assert that Earl Rosebery will succeed Mr. Gladstone in the premiership, and this seems to be very probable, as Rosebery is beyond all doubt the most popular member of Mr.
Gladstone's cabinet as well as one of the most able. He is now minister of foreign affairs, the most important position
in the cabinet outside of the premiership.
In former years Mr. Gladstone was accustomed to combine the duties of the foreign office with the premiership, but advancing years compelled him to abandon so much work. Mr. Gladstone was not a great success in the foreign office.
He was always accused by his political enemies, and with some basis of truth,
with weakness in the conduct of the empire's foreign policy. The average Britisher is imbued with the jingo idea, and Disraeli (afterwards Lord Beaconsfield)
was his ideal foreign minister. There was a dash about Disraeli's foreign policy that stirred the sluggish blood of the English people. Disraeli always had a few small wars
on his hands, and in his diplomatic relations with the other great powers of Europe he was aggressive and very successful in carrying his point. It was his idea that to the title of queen, Victoria
should add that of empress, and in India
she was proclaimed empress with elaborate pomp. Thereafter it was "Victoria, Regina et Imperatrix." This was a brilliant stroke from the politicians'
point of view, and it was characteristic of the jingo premier.

Disraeli's course was showy and spectacular at times, and in marked contrast with the staid and conservative policy of Mr. Gladstone. Because it is a fact that until in recent years Mr. Gladstone was comparatively conservative in his ideas. There were many members of the Liberal party who were ahead of him in radical ideas, and he chafed under his rather slow and dilatatory movements. Since reaching an age when most men are incapacitated
for public life, he has been a radical of the radicals in many respects. His sudden conversion to the cause of Irish home rule was an instance of this character in his character. The world knows what great efforts he has put forth in behalf of this cause, which previous to 1885 he strenuously opposed. It was this change in his ideas that led to the great split in the Liberal party and the secession of a large body of his supporters, followed by his defeat at the polls in 1886.

The Liberal-Unionists, as his former supporters have called themselves since they withdrew their support on account of his home rule ideas, have since that time voted with the Tories, and they have never neglected an opportunity to charge their former leader with political inconsistency. But Mr. Gladstone has always perfectly recognized the fact that his mental history has been one of consistency. "I was educated," he is reported as saying in conversation, "to regard liberty as an evil; I have learned to regard it as a good. That is a formula which sufficiently explains all the changes of my political convictions." It is upon such broad mental foundations
that true statesmanship is erected.
Mr. Gladstone has been a statesman and not a politician, and he has met defeat for refusing to bend to the popular idea of the hour, only to triumph at a future time when the wisdom of his policy has impressed itself upon the public mind.

His retirement from the premiership
will be a national loss. It will cause world-wide regret, especially wherever the friends of Irish home rule are numerous, because they have looked upon Premier Gladstone as the Moses who was to lead the Irish race into the promised land. But the infirmities of age press heavily upon him. More than 84 years of age, his eyesight has become dimmed and his strength is unable to bear
the great burdens of office. Like Moses,
he has led the Irish people within sight of the promised land, and like him he is probably denied the pleasure of entering it with them.

Extension of Education.
In the last report of Dr. W. T. Harris,
the United States commissioner of education, some instructive statistics are presented, showing the relative extension of common school education in various portions of the country. Dr. Harris has divided the country for the purpose
of comparison, into five sections, viz:
The North Atlantic division, including
New England, New York, Pennsylvania
and New Jersey; the north central division, including Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, the two Dakotas, Kansas and Nebraska; the south central division,
including Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas; the South Atlantic division, including West Virginia and the coast states from Delaware to Florida; and the western division, including the Pacific coast and the states and territories west of the Rocky mountains. The per centage of school attendance in proportion to the total population of each division is computed upon the returns for 1871
and for 1890.

A marked decline is shown in the percentage of the North Atlantic division, the fall being from 22 in 1871 to 17.9 in 1890. There was a decline, also, in the north central division, the percentage of which was 24.8 in 1871 and 22.4 in 1890.
In the southern divisions the percentage
of 1890 was nearly double that of 1871,
and there was a small increase in the western division, though the average is low.

The notable feature of the statistics is the decline of school attendance in the North Atlantic division, for which the Philadelphia Record offers two explanations. One is the decrease in the size of families, and the consequent diminution of the population of the school age
as compared with the total population.
The other explanation is in the fact that the states in the poorer immigrants,
many of whom do not possess the means to travel any further.

"The impression which widely prevails," says the Record, "that the proportion between immigrants and natives
has enormously and generally increased throughout the country during the last twenty years is inaccurate, the foreign-born population having increased at the date of the last census by only 14.75 per cent, compared with 14.44 per cent in 1870. Still it is true that the seaport towns have been the sieves through which the inflow of foreigners has been strained, the large cities on the North Atlantic coast have retained the greater proportion of the most ignorant and least desirable immigrants. This class of immigrants is also notable for great families, which fact more than overbal-ances the natural decrease in the size of native-born families, and explains why
the census reports show a loss of only twenty-three persons to 100 families in this division of the country."

Representative Hatch, of Missouri, scored a signal victory yesterday when
by a vote of 167 to 53, he secured the reference of his anti-opium bill to the committee on agriculture of which he is chairman. The measure, when it was introduced some time ago, was sent to the committee on ways and means, and had passed into the hands of a sub-committee. Mr. Hatch, however, wanted it in his own committee, where favorable consideration would be certain and so,
feeling secure as to the sentiment in the house, he asked the change of reference.
Those who thought the anti-opium bill
was dead were badly mistaken.

The second annual edition of the "Duluth Year Book," giving a review of the trade and industrial progress of Duluth
for the year 1893, has made its appearance. The publisher is ex-Senator T. E.
Bowen, who has shown commendable enterprise in issuing in a period of depression the only Duluth annual published in pamphlet form this year. The volume has a handsome illuminated cover, the print is clear and distinct, and while the facts and figures are the result of careful compilation and make an excellent showing for Duluth.

The Stearns County Bar association has endorsed Judge D. B. Searle and has urged him to become a candidate for re-election next fall. Judge Searle has discharged the duties of his judicial office
with marked ability, and the unanimity with which the bar associations in his district are endorsing him shows the high esteem in which he is held.

The News Tribune observes in reference to Mr. Bede's confirmation, that
"the south of the tall pines that line Ver-million lake have changed to a merry cantatrice." The writer of this beautiful sentiment is evidently something of a cantata himself.

The authorities of Indiana are again
after the Chicago sports who have established headquarters at Roby. The bookmakers at the winter races are to be arrested. The racing is nothing but a skin game to bleed the suckers.

EVERY DAY MARVELS.
THEY ARE HAPPENING ALL AROUND US.
They Increase in Number and Grow
More Wonderful.
Where Will It All End and What Will be the Final Result?

Strange and wonderful things are happening constantly. We are becoming accustomed to them. But there is one subject which rises far above the rest
and which never fails to intensify interest everywhere. It concerns you, reader,
for it means for you health and strength.
Scarcely anyone in these busy, hard working times is in perfect health. There is a weak spot somewhere, a pain, a numbness, failure of some organ to do its work properly, some vague symptom
which is a sign of danger and is telling you in the plainest language to look to your health. Read the following letter and see what Mrs. J. M. Earl, of North Calais, Vt., has to say about the matter:
"I had a sore on my breast," she says,
"which the doctors called scrofula."
The general nature of this disease and object
which it is buying, saving, improving, selling, leasing, and doing in lands, tenements and improvements, and such other business as naturally pertains to its principal object, is not to be taken from time to time as they may decide by resolution.

The highest amount of indebtedness to which any corporation shall at any time be subject is one hundred thousand dollars, divided

of directors, but said corporation may transact
business and go into operation with five hundred shares of stock, and the board of directors
may issue and sell such shares as they may decide by resolution.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators of said corporation are as follows:
Daniel J. Cash, Duluth, Minn.
Wm. F. Sherwood, Duluth, Minn.
Wm. W. Richardson, Duluth, Minn.

Fred W. Rogers,
Lewis H. Follen,
and until their successors shall have qualified
and taken the oath of office, they shall be officers
of said corporation.

The board of directors shall hold their office
for one year, or until their successors have been elected and qualified. The board of directors shall be elected for one year by the stockholders at their regular annual meeting. The board of directors shall have full power to transact and manage the affairs of said corporation, and to pass by-laws defining the duties of the officers and the mode of conducting the business of the corporation, and to transfer of stock and the management of the affairs of said corporation, and shall have power to fill all vacancies that may occur in the board by death, resignation or removal.

The following named persons shall constitute

The annual meeting of the stockholders shall be held on the first Monday in March, each year, commencing at the year 1895. At such meeting directors shall be elected by the mem-

ALL ARE DOLE AGAIN.

Rock Work on West Superior Street Closed Down Today, No Further Appropriation Being Made.

Aldermen Want a Definite Agreement From the County Board Before They Advance Any More.

Resolutions Passed Endorsing Actions of Dr. Goffe in the Smallpox Case—Other Business.

Rock work for the unemployed was the bone of contention at the council meeting last evening and the aldermen got some choice and sharp picking out of it for a little while. The subject first came up under a recommendation from the committee that $3000 more be borrowed and the work continued. Alderman Cox favored the proposition and said that many deserving people had not yet been given work and it certainly ought to be continued. The county commissioners had promised to do what is right and feel liberally disposed because where $3000 was formerly spent for relief work only about half that amount is being expended since the rock work was begun. A resolution was introduced providing for an additional loan of $3000 for continuing this work.

Alderman Hugo remarked that this was one of the questions calculated to take the hair off an alderman's head and reduce his avoirdupois. "What we want," said he, "is to know what the county commissioners are going to do. They have done nothing except to say we will do what is right. The city has furnished all the money so far used, now let the commissioners do something. The report from the committee is unsatisfactory and I move that we refer it back for a definite report of what we may expect from the county commissioners. There are many people in this city who need work beside laborers. There are women and mechanics and others who are entitled to something. This should not be class legislation."

Alderman Cox did not like the term class legislation and thought there were many mechanics as good as the alderman employed on the rock pile.

A vote was taken on Alderman Hugo's motion and it was carried, to wit, Alderman Cox rose and remarked in disgusted tones that he had always believed that this whole thing was political rot and was gotten up for political purposes. Alderman Howard retorted by saying there ought to be nobody better posted on that question than the alderman for the Fifth, while President Spencer tried to smooth matters over by pointing on his desk very hard.

Alderman Cox was not prepared to let the matter drop here, however, and just before adjournment asked that the county commissioners be asked to give everyone in the city work, he said. Alderman Cox replied that no meeting of the county board would be held until Tuesday next and any understanding made outside of a regular meeting would amount to nothing. "This council dies Monday night," he said, "and I wish to heaven it had died sooner. The board don't meet till Tuesday and there is nothing for us to do."

This ends the rock work for a time. President Truelsen having announced that the fund of $15000 is exhausted and that if no new appropriation was made the board would lay off all the men this morning. Dr. Goffe can if he chooses walk down to the People's Press office today and filing down before Mr. Wetmore a set of resolutions endorsing his actions as health officer in the Wolf smallpox case and expressing the fullest confidence of the aldermen in Dr. Goffe and the entire board of health. This resolution was introduced by Alderman Hugo and unanimously passed and approves every step which they took.

Mayor d'Autremont and City Attorney Greene made a report completely exonerating Thomas Hayden from the charges made against him by Baldwin Walker and declaring them baseless. The West Duluth contract held by E. F. Mitchell was, at his request, assigned to William Watson. A judgment for $500 in favor of Charles Hayden was ordered paid. The payroll of the rock work crew was ordered paid. The city attorney reported in favor of paying the claim of John Jensen for $150.50 because of a change in sewerage plans and also in favor of paying a judgment of $57.75 in the matter of State of Minnesota ex rel Mayor of Duluth vs. J. D. Ensign and Board of Public Works. Referred.

Has Suspended Publication. The Superior Daily Call has suspended publication and been laid away in the journalistic graveyard. It clung to life with a tenacity worthy of a better cause but death came at last. The stockholders yesterday decided to permanently discontinue publication.

Superintendent R. E. Denfeld has returned from the session of the National Educational association, which was held at Richmond, Va., Feb. 20, 21 and 22. Said Mr. Denfeld this morning: "This was a very profitable meeting. I really believe it was more beneficial to me, so far as school matters were concerned, than any educational meeting I have ever attended. It is impossible to briefly give an idea of the features of the three days session. Probably the most notable paper presented was that on 'The Curriculum for Secondary Schools,' presented by United States Commissioner W. T. Harris. This paper was drawn from what is commonly known as the 'report of the committee of ten' and it is the methods advanced by the committee, the high schools of the country will be revolutionized. Denfeld was to the effect that much taught in arithmetic should be left out and algebra and geometry taught at a younger age to pupils. Another was in favor of taking Latin as a modern language earlier in a pupil's school life, leaving out of trash taught now, such as Greek, which will give a better and truer understanding of the construction of a language, the beauties of its literature and all that."

"Dr. Seaver, of Boston, presented a paper on the 'Care of Trauma and Incurables.' Dr. Macalister, of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, spoke on the 'Educational Contributions of the Educational Congress.' On the evening of Feb. 20, Nicholas Murray Butler told about 'Eminent Men of Education in Problems in Europe.' He said that common school work seems to be gaining ground quite rapidly and that England, France and Germany are borrowing much from the common school system of the United States. As a result, private schools are decreasing over there. 'The Improvement of Teachers Now in Schools' was the theme of Francis Parker. That subject probably created the most discussion. It was the report of the 'committee of ten.'"

"The supervisors of the Cleveland schools spoke on 'Enriching the Course in Elementary Schools.' The general purport of these papers was that science has been introduced in the Cleveland schools cheaply and with the best results. Now it is a fact that the North and Western superintendents are away ahead of those East. While these papers were being discussed many of the superintendents kept snapping their watches, it was near noon, to shut off the remarks, but it was of no avail. Superintendent Maxwell, of Brooklyn, asked questions, in all earnestness, to find out if all the work had really been introduced and accurate cases were given, whether it was simply an introduction on paper. The reply was made to Mr. Maxwell that all the facts could be ascertained by visiting Cleveland and also that there was no doubt but that the schools west of the Allegheny mountains are far superior to those on the Eastern side."

"While in Richmond I visited the church where Patrick Henry is alleged to have delivered his famous speech, 'Caesar had His Brutus, Charles I. His Cromwell,' etc. I also saw Washington's old headquarters, the original site of Liberty prison, and the house where the Union spy, a Mrs. Somebody, concealed and cared for many Union prisoners who were taken out of Liberty prison. I saw the 'old White House' of the Southern Confederacy where Jefferson Davis lived. I visited the legislature, now in session at the University of Virginia, and saw letters written by Lafayette and Lord Cornwallis' parole given after his surrender at Yorktown."

"Valentine, the sculptor, was visited. He was working on a clay model for a statue of Jefferson which will be placed in the new $100,000 building being at Richmond. I also visited Hollywood cemetery and old Chief Powhatan's alleged stamping ground. "The next superintendent's meeting will go to Cleveland. There is nothing new about the National Educational association file. While the meeting was in progress efforts were made to bring the roads to an immediate decision, but they asked for more time. Duluth stands at the head of the parade. Mr. Thall, of the Northwestern railroad telegraphed that later on something radically in the interests of Duluth might be possible."

M. S. Stokely returned home from the East on Saturday. He says that if we are having dull times here, it is just as bad in the East for there is nothing more doing there than here. Cleveland or men, he reports as saying that if all reports about the Mesaba are true, no other mines can compete with them. They also told Mr. Stokely that the Ohio river furnaces are using about 30 per cent of Mountain iron ore and report it as working finely.

HER MIND AFFECTED.

Bradley Taylor's Mother is Suffering From a Paralytic Loss of Reason.

Bradley Taylor, who was severely burned in the Virginia fire last summer, having rescued a woman, is having a hard time of it. The Mesaba relief committee took care of him and sent him to his home in Michigan. His mother's mind has been affected because of his injury and it is feared she may not recover her reason. The following letter to J. A. Duggs, written by Taylor's uncle, may be of interest to many:

"Bradley Taylor requests me to say to the friends he left in Duluth, through you, Mr. Duggs, that he has not forgotten them or their kindness to him and his mother. He is a poor afflicted sufferer. He can only feed himself a little with his right hand and his arms and hands are still very stiff and numb. I think he will be able to do a little better. He does not think, will ever be right. She was taken sick before she got home. She imagined that she had written a great many letters to Duluth people and so she has but we found twenty-two letters she had written to you and Lawyer Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Tyson put away in a box. She calls it the postoffice and every day she looks for a letter from some of you. The doctor said to write you of her condition and tell you that a letter from you may ease her mind. Bradley supports her and still doing very poorly. He thinks he will go back to Duluth next summer. You can direct your letters to Mrs. Bradley Taylor, Box 500, Coopersville, Ottawa County, Mich."

Very Queer.

Are the sensations experienced by the nervous and dyspeptic. Unaccountable palpitation, buzzing in the ears, flushing of the face, side of the head, tingling in the mouth, constant restlessness, stinging in the gut and sinking in the stomach, acute sensitiveness to slight sounds, constant nervousness, fold, low spirits—these are only a few of the charming experiences of the individual who is afflicted with indigestion and who travels together. Their gay and festive career is, however, brought to a halt by the onset of indigestion. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which also overcomes their ailments—constipation and biliousness. This popular remedy fortifies the system, builds up the system, restores nervous quietude and promotes appetite and sleep.

A RUN ON THE BANK.

How About the Daily Balance of Nervous Energy?

From January to May a Serious Period—The Necessity of a True Food for the Nerves and Blood—What Paine's Celery Compound Has Done—The Case of Mr. Glaze.

From January until May there is a fearful demand made on one's stock of health—fevers, pulmonary troubles, and the host of cold weather ills quickly bring down the vitality and expend the nervous force.

Those with an insufficient reserve of vigor and nervous energy fall winter victims to contagious diseases and to special diseases of liver, stomach, and kidneys.

These important organs, whose duty it is to feed the tissues and keep the blood pure, feel the lack of nervous energy quickest. They require more nerve force than other parts of the body. The result is a breakdown in heart, lungs, kidneys, liver or brain. The different organs of the body select from the food the nourishment appropriate to their needs. Paine's celery compound is especially prepared to furnish at once abundant nutrition to badly fed nerves, and impoverished blood. Everyone should profit by the experience of Thomas Glaze, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who says:

"I was taken with the drowsy about one year ago in the feet and legs, and took several medicines, but without benefit until I tried Paine's celery compound. I felt better soon after taking it, and do not have any trouble from the drowsy now."

The school board met this afternoon at 4 o'clock to consider the matter of insurance and other business ripe for attention.

The Central Cinch club met last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cheadle. Mrs. Neil McLachlan won the ladies' prize, while J. C. Mishler carried off the honors for the gentlemen. The next meeting will be at the home of F. D. Day.

Charles Lund was fined $10 and costs in police court this morning for drunkenness. When arrested he had $100 on his person and out of that fund he paid his fine and went his way.

Tonight, at the Bethel, will be held the regular temperance meeting. The address for the evening will be delivered by George W. Stevens, of the Cranberry Lumber company. These meetings are increasing in interest and are well attended.

Births as follows have been reported to the board of health: William E. and Margaret Wagner, 1120 McCulloch avenue, a daughter; Alexander and Marcella Cummings, 5 East Third street, a son; Charles F. and Annie A. Webb, 614 West Third street, a daughter; Andrew and Kate Dunleavy, West Duluth, a son; Ole and Annie Peterson, maternity hospital, a son; William and Elizabeth Berg, West Duluth, a son.

Mr. Noves' lecture in the Y. M. C. A. hall tonight will be illustrated with fine stereoscopic views.

A pleasant way to spend this evening would be to go to the Y. M. C. A. hall and hear Rev. Mr. Noves describe "A Flying Trip Through Europe" he took last summer. It would only cost you 25 cents, or, if a member of the Y. M. C. A., only 10 cents.

Tonight the twenty-fourth annual reception of Palestine lodge will be given at Masonic Temple. A program of musical numbers will be given, also a stereoscopic exhibition.

Rt. Rev. James McCorrick will preach at the procatheedral tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Matthew Brown, formerly of Iceland, declared his intention of becoming an American citizen in the United States court office today.

Zenith City Lodge K. of P. gave a calico ball last evening at the hall in the Hayes block. Quite a number were over from West Superior and about sixty couples were present, just enough so that everybody had a merry time.

Ole O. Roise received his second citizenship papers today in the district court.

Might Have Been Serious.
This morning at the southeast corner of the city hall Nick Young's team, which was drawing the big steam boiler used in thawing out catch basins, took a notion to act a little frisky and started on a run up Second avenue east. They got a little the best of the driver and might have given a novel exhibition of a runaway had not half a dozen men on Superior street lent a hand and brought them down to a normal gait. The boiler had on a full head of steam and a runaway might also have been marked by a big explosion.

Death of Capt. Grahame.
Word has reached Winnipeg of the death at Fairhaven, Washington, of Capt. W. C. B. Grahame, Dominion immigration agent at that point a number of years ago. Deceased was a prominent Knight Templar, and had many friends who regret to hear of his untimely demise. Capt. Grahame years ago was Canadian immigration agent at Duluth, and will be remembered by many of the old residents here.

All Men Being Laid Off.
The city rock work has ceased and the men are calling at the office of the board of public works for their pay checks. The appropriation of $15,000 has been completely eaten up, in fact, it has been necessary to borrow a few hundred dollars additional to make things come out even. If the city is compelled to pay for the tools, purchased for use in this work, there will be a further deficit, but nothing at all enormous.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer $10 for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

IS ANOTHER SURPRISE

Mayor d'Auteourt Appointed Two Park Commissioners, B. Silberstein and H. C. Helm Yesterday.

They Were Promptly Confirmed by the Three District Judges and Are Now Established in Office.

T. W. Hoopes Suggested for a Place on the Fire Commission—W. W. McMillan Also Proposed.

Mayor d'Auteourt seems to have a desire to do all he can to relieve his successor of the annoyance and responsibility of choosing from the anxious, struggling mass of humanity anxious for appointments. A week ago last night he named Nils Nilson as his own successor on the board of public works and the machinery of the new administration is thought to have slipped several cogs as a result. There is one office whose holders do not have to be confirmed by the council and that is the park commissioners. The mayor appoints and the district judges confirm.

Yesterday Mayor d'Auteourt submitted to the district judges the names of B. Silberstein and H. C. Helm as their own successors on the board of park commissioners. B. Silberstein was designated for the term of office commencing Feb. 1, 1895, while Helm's new term commenced Feb. 1, 1894. Judges Engstrom, Lewis and Moer promptly confirmed the appointments and today the appointees have their commissions in their hands.

There is more interest centering in the appointment to the fire board than the salary of the commissioners would inspire. There seems to be a general and popular demand that a man of experience, good judgment and broad ideas be named to succeed Commissioner Hart, whose term expires. A large number of the insurance men have presented the name of T. W. Hoopes in connection with their demand that the underwriters be represented on the board. Some oppose such a representative on the grounds that a commissioner from the ranks of the insurance agents would, as a natural consequence, be too free with the public funds in purchasing apparatus. W. W. McMillan, the plumber and steamfitter seems to be a popular man for Hart's place. Already, three aldermen have endorsed Mr. McMillan and will urge his appointment by the mayor.

AGAINST JUDGE LONG.

Judge Cox, of Washington, Declines to Issue a Mandamus in the Long-Lochren Case.

Every Point is Decided Against Judge Long's Position and the Commissioner's Ruling is Upheld.

Courts Have No Power to Review the Commissioner's Decisions and No Mandamus Could Issue.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Judge Cox in the equity court this morning declined to issue a mandamus to prevent the pension commissioner from reducing the pension of Judge Charles D. Long, of Michigan, from $72 to $50 a month.

In his decision, which was of great length and cited numerous authorities, Judge Cox decided every point against Judge Long's position. The conclusion reached was that there could be no conceivable reason why the ruling of any officer of an administration should not be reviewed by an officer for a subsequent administration, particularly when the payment of money by the government was involved.

By decision of the United States supreme court a pension is a bounty which it is the duty of the government to see is not abused. It is a vested right, for the duty of the government must be exercised and the review of pension cases is necessary. In the case of Harrison against the United States in the court of claims, it was held that a pension is a gratuity, and as its granting involves discretion it must be subject to review.

The act of Dec. 21, 1893 (Voorhees vested right act), recognizes the power to set aside or annul previous rulings after thirty days' notice. The right of review where new facts come to light is everywhere conceded. It had not been shown that Commissioner Tanner's attention was called to the fact that Judge Long was not so disabled as to prevent his performance of the functions of superior court justice of Michigan, and this fact was presented to Commissioner Lochren.

Finally, the courts had no power to review the decisions of the pension commissioner or to counsel him to construct the law, and no mandamus could issue. Judge Long's attorneys declare that the fight in the courts has only just begun and that they will at once take other steps to restrain Judge Lochren from reducing pensions pending their review.

THE PRESIDENT'S PARTY.
Will Go to the North Carolina Sounds in Search of Ducks.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The light house tender "Violet," with the president and Secretary Gresham on board as guests of Capt. Evans, was compelled to seek shelter from the violent storm in an inlet below Mount Vernon soon after leaving here Sunday afternoon. She proceeded to the naval gunnery school grounds at Indian Head Monday afternoon and continued down the river, making a stop in the evening at the Cedar Point light.

She then proceeded on her way and was lying at Piney Point at 1:30 yesterday morning, twelve miles from the Chesapeake bay, which forty-eight hours before had been swept by one of the worst storms in several years had calmed, all fears of sea sickness were dispelled and the members of the party agreed to continue their journey to the sounds of North Carolina, where the abundance of ducks never fails at this time of the year.

From Norfolk they go south on the Elizabeth river past the navy yard at Gosport to the Chesapeake and Albemarle canal, a short branch of which leads to Comstock sound which offers excellent opportunities for sportsmen. The main canal goes directly through the Dismal swamp, where ducks are very plentiful. The party will be out of reach of the telegraph and little or no further news can be had of the "Violet" except from vessels which pass her on their way to Norfolk.

CARL JONAS WILL ACCEPT.
Will Resign the Lieutenant Governorship of Wisconsin for a Consulate.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 28.—Carl Jonas, yesterday appointed consul general at St. Petersburg, is at present lieutenant governor of Wisconsin. He will resign his office to accept his appointment.

Mr. Jonas was born at Malesau, Bohemia, Oct. 30, 1846. He graduated at Prague in 1873, and became so pronounced in his democratic opinions that he left for London in 1880 to avoid persecution by the Austrian government. In 1883 he came to America and located at Racine, where he became editor of the "Star," the oldest Bohemian paper in the country. He has been a member of both senate and assembly, and was the author of the present factory law of Wisconsin.

In 1885 President Cleveland named him as consul to Prague, and after the Austrian government had indulged in a little grumbling he was formally accepted and made a most capable official. He has been a Democrat since 1872, and has done good service for his party on the stump besides writing many political articles.

Magazine Exploded.
LONDON, Feb. 28.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres confirms the report of the explosion of the magazine of the insurgent steamer "Venus" at Rio Janeiro. The commander, two other officers and thirty sailors were killed and fifty wounded.

MR. EDMUNDS' EXPERIENCE.

An Illustration of the Billfulness Existing at the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—A little incident, which illustrates the bitterness of the feeling which has been engendered by the present situation in the house, occurred yesterday afternoon. Mr. Edmunds, of Virginia, has a daughter ill in one of the Philadelphia hospitals, and her condition is such that he is very anxious to visit her. At the same time, Mr. Edmunds, representing a silver loving constituency, wants to do his duty in the house, and not to be absent when a quorum is so hard to secure.

He, therefore, made an effort to find some non-voting Democrat, who would accompany him to the house, and when he found one, he went. Mr. Edmunds did not, like Mr. Bryan, go to a Republican. He went to a member of his own party, Mr. Geisenhainer, who is one of Gen. Tracey's lieutenants on the floor, and asked him to vote today. Mr. Geisenhainer referred him to Gen. Tracey, but the latter declined to enter into any such arrangement even after all the circumstances were explained to him. "Some one can vote for you," said Gen. Tracey, "if there is no likelihood of a quorum."

Mr. Edmunds, therefore, would have had to remain in the city today and until the deadlock was ended or absent himself without securing a substitute, if Representative Meyer, of Louisiana, had not, as soon as the facts were made known to him, agreed at once to vote. So, when Gen. Meyer answered to his name today, it will be worth while to remember that it is through his act that another congressman is at the bedside of a sick daughter.

THE BRAZILIAN REVOLUTION.
The Rebel Chieftain Has Reached Santa Anna.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The Herald Montevideo special says: The rebel chieftain Gen. Cabedra has arrived at Santa Anna, Rio Grande do Sul, with 600 men. Gen. Cabedra has issued a decree that if any of his soldiers are found guilty of robbing the inhabitants of the country through which they may pass, they will be put to death.

The Herald's correspondent at Santos, writing under date of Feb. 12, says: It has been reported that the rebel ship Republic grounded in the harbor of Rio during one of the bombardments before Admiral Mello's capture. Admiral Mello blamed the pilot for it and had him shot on suspicion of being a spy in the service of the rebels.

The Republic was pulled back into the channel by the British gunboat Sirius some time afterwards.

The state of siege has been suspended for ten days. The province of Santiago is along excepted.

THE HONDURAS REVOLUTION.
All Property of Vasquez's Adherents Has Been Confiscated.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—A special from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, says: All property of the adherents of Vasquez has been confiscated. A forced loan of $250,000 to pay troops has been made. There is much pillaging.

A special from Managua says: Gen. Ortiz has formally turned over the city of Tegucigalpa to Policarpo Bonilla, who has already arranged an election for president of the republic.

Nicaragua troops will remain until order is completely restored. Villalaz and his adherents have been disbanded and the chiefs are trying to join ex-President Vasquez in San Salvador.

Policarpo Bonilla has been recognized by Salvador, Costa Rica and Guatemala.

A special from San Salvador says: Sixty prisoners, principally military, were shot yesterday. Nicaragua's demand was the indemnity against all expenses incurred by her troops from Bonilla, probably over $2,000,000.

THE COUNTY WAS LEFT.
Money Collected by a Sheriff Embezzled by Bankers.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 28.—Judge Munly rendered a decision on the demurrer interposed to the joint indictment charging Penumbra Kelly, George B. Markle and D. F. Sherman with larceny of public money. After carefully reviewing the various objections, he finally sustains the demurrer and remits the matter to further consideration of the grand jury.

The indictment recites the fact that Penumbra Kelly, as sheriff and tax collector, between April 1 and Dec. 4, 1893, received and collected taxes amounting to $160,117 which he deposited with defendants, Markle and Sherman, as bankers, and that the said defendants did fraudulently and feloniously embezzle the loan and convert to their own use the amount of money before mentioned, and neglected and refused to pay it over to the county or any portion thereof as by law directed and required.

Cock Fight in Ohio.
MILLERSBURG, Ohio, Feb. 28.—A crowd of sports from Wooster, Massillon, Canton and Toledo, quietly dropped into town last night with a number of birds, and were about to proceed to the fair grounds with their pit, when they got a hint that the authorities would interfere. They then drove to Homerville and had a number of fights in an old hotel. The Wooster birds won every battle.

The Kaiser and Bimetallism.
LONDON, Feb. 28.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Globe says that Emperor William is giving a great deal of attention to the subject of bimetallism and is endeavoring to induce the government to vent a further decline in the price of silver.

Resumed With a Cul.
HOLLAND, Mich., Feb. 28.—The Zealand furniture factory, which shut down some time ago, resumed work in all departments and with a full force this morning. The men have accepted a 10-per cent reduction in wages.

KILLED BY BURGLARS

House of Henry Geirman, a Township Treasurer in Monroe County, Michigan, Burglarized Last Night.

Geirman was Shot Twice and Knocked Senseless While His Wife Was Killed in Bed.

Excitement Runs High and if the Burglars Are Caught a Lynching Bee Is Probable.

SCOTFIELD, Mich., Feb. 28.—Burglars last night entered the house of Henry Geirman, treasurer of Exeter township, Monroe county, shot Mr. Geirman twice and shot and instantly killed Mrs. Geirman, and made their escape with nearly $1000. Mr. Geirman was awakened by a noise in the house and found a man standing at his bedside with a revolver pointed at his head. He instantly seized the revolver with his left hand, when the burglar pulled the trigger, the ball passing through the back of the left ear.

Mr. Geirman sprang out of bed, when the burglar shot at him the second time, this shot taking effect in his leg. Meantime another burglar had made his appearance. Geirman grappled with one of them and threw him against a window with such force that the sash was broken out. He was then struck on the head by the other man and was knocked senseless.

When he came to, Geirman ran for assistance to the nearest house, and upon his return with help, he found his wife dead in bed, shot through the head, the ball entering just back of the left ear. The burglars secured between $700 and $1000, which was hidden in the bed, but missed $200, that was in the left ear.

The burglars are caught there is liable to be a lynching bee.

Mr. Geirman's wounds are not considered dangerous and he is resting easy. At the time of the tragedy the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Geirman were sleeping in the same bed with their father and mother.

THE FAMOUS ROSTER SUIT.
What Governor Peck's Attorney Will Attempt to Prove.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 28.—This morning Attorney Flanders, Governor Peck's counsel in the roster suit, continued his work of presenting the "governor's" case to the jury. He took up Plaintiff's Tracy, Gibbs & Co.'s part in the contract. He said: "Before they entered into the contract by which, as Mr. Olin says they were deceived, they agreed upon the cost of printing the roster and decided that the enormous profit of $65,000 awaited them. Tracy, Gibbs & Co. entered into the illegal contract with full intent to defraud the state, according to their own admissions. If I was caught in my own net I would prefer to take my medicine and say nothing than to expose my own rascality to the public."

Mr. Flanders said that so far as Governor Peck was concerned he would contend that the law under which the roster contract was let was void. Governor Peck received the contract from Attorney General O'Connor and Adjutant General Doe, who said it fully protected the state. On their opinions he let it to the Madison Times, but his private secretary, Clark, was manager of the Times, and Governor Peck later told Clark that as a public officer he (Clark) ought not to have the contract. Clark told the governor he had sold the Times to W. J. P. McFall.

Then the governor was advised by Senator W. F. Vilas, who was under the impression that the contract was unconstitutional. Vilas advised the governor that the right thing to do was to cancel the contract and this was done. Governor Peck knew nothing of plaintiff's connection with the matter or of any money being raised on the contract.

MR. GLADSTONE'S RETIREMENT.

It Is Now Merely a Question of Days and Weeks.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The Westminster Gazette says the retirement of Mr. Gladstone is now merely a question of days or weeks rather than months. His retirement, however, must not shelve the question of home rule, which is still the leading and dominant factor in the situation. Whoever shall follow Mr. Gladstone must nail the green flag to the mast.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that besides the physical and political reasons for Mr. Gladstone's retirement, he has never liked the ideas of the new Radicalism. Outside of the question of home rule, he is a staunch Whig. If Mr. Gladstone remains in the cabinet, his successor to the premiership will have a barren and difficult career.

The Edinburgh Evening News emphasizes its assertion that Mr. Gladstone will retire and says positively that the Earl of Rosebery will succeed him as premier.

The St. James Gazette says that the already widely published comments upon the statements made have diminished the weight of the official denials. The increasing reticence of his entourage it regards as actual intimation of the possibility of Mr. Gladstone's withdrawal at any moment.

Mr. Gladstone will have an audience with the queen this afternoon, and this evening he will entertain the ministers and a number of other prominent Liberals at dinner.

The Edinburgh Evening News says that all that now remains is to select a fitting moment for making a formal announcement of the change in the leadership. It was at the request of the queen, the Evening News says, that Mr. Gladstone did not make a statement of his intention in the house of commons on Monday.

The Central News bulletins the statement that Mr. Gladstone drove from Downing street to Buckingham palace at 3 o'clock and had an audience of an hour's duration with the queen. He did not tender his resignation.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—Col. William C. Brennan, who was appointed by President Harrison United States paymaster of the Chippewa reservation, shot himself fatally through the head this morning at 321 Hennepin avenue, Minneapolis.

He was colonel of the Indiana regiment of artillery during the war, and a well known and popular army officer. Despondency over money matters is attributed as the cause. He was a relative of W. M. Campbell, of this city, who is chairman of the Indian commission.

WAS DETERMINED TO DIE.
First Alo Matches and Then He Hanged Himself.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 28.—Charles Peterson, a farmer living at Long Lake, near Minneapolis, committed suicide at 2528 Twenty-sixth avenue south, in Minneapolis, last night.

Evidently he tried to do the act by eating the heads off matches, but finding that process too slow, he hanged himself. He was 67 years of age and leaves a wife and family at Long Lake. No cause is known for the act.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

Announcement That a West Duluth Post-office Appointment Is Near at Hand Has Aroused Interest.

Those Who Have Their Rads Up Are Anxiously Waiting for the Lightning to Strike.

Col. Harris and the City Railway People Were Looking Over West Duluth Yesterday.

The announcement from Washington that a new postmaster would probably be appointed at West Duluth within a short time has revived somewhat the interest which has become dormant through delay on the part of the administration. The term of office of the present incumbent has not yet expired, but his activity in the late municipal campaign will undoubtedly hasten his retirement.

Directly after Cleveland's ascension to power petitions were sent in from S. C. Murphy, P. O. Nolen, Ed. Caplin and H. R. Patterson seeking appointment in Uncle Sam's postoffice department. The number of candidates complicated the matter considerably and Mr. Baldwin made several visits to West Duluth to effect a reconciliation if possible. Finally Nolen withdrew in favor of Patterson and Murphy passed over his chips to Caplin. This narrowed the game down to a respectable competition and helped to heal division in the party.

The matter hung fire so long, however, that Mr. Daniels concluded that as an oldtime Democrat and soldier his luck would be as good as any one else so he bought a few chips and went in to win the pot. Originally it was pretty generally considered that Ed. Caplin was the favorite with the major, but whatever time and circumstances may have done to effect a change, there certainly is less confidence among the candidates themselves as to their capturing the prize.

The City Railway Company.
Col. A. Harris and H. E. Harris, Col. D. H. Stevenson, Frank Burke, Jr., and Aldermen Cox, Ole and Olafson were in consultation yesterday over the new street railway project. The party took dinner at the Bennett and spent a portion of the day looking over the proposed line. Although the company has been granted a franchise over certain streets in West Duluth it will be safe to say that the carrying out of the provisions of the contract will depend on the securing of a franchise from Duluth proper. It is stated that a petition favorable to this will be presented to the new council at the earliest opportunity and as far as the chances can be relied upon Col. Harris and his coadjutors will receive the support of the aldermen from the western portion of the city. Messrs. Olafson and French were both members of the West Duluth council at the time of the unanimous passage of the franchise and their position on the question is a matter of record.

West Duluth Briefs.
The West Duluth band has reorganized with the following officers: G. S. Gardner, president; J. Benson, vice president; M. Krackenberg, secretary; C. H. Hagness, treasurer and manager; C. J. Wickstrom, musical director; B. Romberg, vice director.

The official board of the Methodist church will meet for the transaction of business on Thursday evening after the regular service.

If the weather is favorable the West Duluth band will give an open air concert on Saturday evening.

The case of J. J. Murphy against the city for a retaining wall was dismissed from the district court yesterday after the introduction of evidence by the complainant.

Albert Mallory is a new recruit in the ranks of Company G.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dunleavy, a son.

A good representation of West Duluth people attended the Masonic reception at Duluth last evening.

TO EVANGELIZE THE WORLD.

International Convention of the Student Volunteer Movement.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 28.—The second international convention of the student volunteer movement for foreign missions will begin this evening at the Central Methodist Episcopal church. The delegates began arriving last night and are coming in large numbers today.

An important feature in connection with the convention will be the educational exhibit, the largest ever known, consisting of the best missionary work extant. They embrace the publications of forty denominations in America and fifty in Europe, including maps, charts, newspapers, magazines, books, besides the literature in the form in which it is distributed by the missionaries.

The student volunteer movement began with the first student summer school for Bible study at Mount Hermon, Mass., in 1886, which was attended by 250 students from ninety colleges and presided over by Mr. Moody, the evangelist. To supply the foreign missionary societies with sufficient number of student volunteers to evangelize the world in this generation, was and is the purpose of the movement. Over 3000 young men and young women are enrolled, nearly 500 colleges and theological seminaries have furnished these volunteers and the movement has extended to every country on the face of the globe.

H. O. Williams, state secretary of Virginia, one of the most active and enthusiastic members of the organization, brought on thirteen delegates from Virginia, representing the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Washington and Lee universities at Lexington, Richmond college, the Hampden-Sydney college, the Union Theological Seminary of Virginia and the Augusta Female academy, of Stanton. Rev. J. R. McVay, D.D., pastor of the Lee Memorial Protestant Episcopal church, Lexington, also came with the same delegation.

Fifteen other delegates from Virginia arrived here this morning, besides others from North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, and from all the other Southern states. The South will be largely represented, including among the number such prominent educators as Professor H. H. Harris, of Richmond college, and Rev. Dr. Williamson, secretary of the board of missions of the Southern Baptist church. The Chicago and Western delegations, 600 strong, will arrive at 6 o'clock.

STILL ON THE TARIFF

The Democratic Senators Again In Caucus Today Trying to Agree on the Tariff Schedules.

The Sugar Men Are Smiling and Have Apparently Been Promised What They Were Seeking.

Whether Iron and Lead Ores Shall Be Taxed or Go on the Free List Unsettled.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—In ten minutes after the hour fixed for the caucus—10 o'clock—the Democratic senators had a quorum and went to work with a seeming determination to finish their self-imposed task before the day was over. The early hours of the caucus were consumed in a further discussion of the tariff bill, and up to 11:30 no action had been taken of any sort. Mr. Vest, of the subcommittee, left the caucus shortly after 11 o'clock and went to his room, where he remained some time. Mr. White, of Louisiana, emerged from the committee room with a smile of apparent satisfaction on his face, as if the result of the day's work presaged victory for sugar.

The caucus at noon adjourned until 2:30, without taking a vote or reaching any conclusion, but the understanding is that at 3 o'clock a vote will be taken upon a general proposition whether certain articles named shall be placed upon the free or dutiable list. This change of a divided vote by a separation of the schedules. If it is decided that these articles shall be made dutiable, then a subsequent vote will be taken on the rate. The schedules thus to be disposed of are cotton fabrics, coal, iron and steel, lumber, salt, sugar and one or two other disputed items.

The morning session was consumed by the senators advocating the increase of duty on those things contended for by the Eastern states and the manufacturers of the West. Much of the argument was mere repetition, with additional emphasis of those of yesterday.

They will hang him to a tree if they succeed in capturing him.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Feb. 28.—The weather has been fair during the last twenty-four hours in all reporting districts,
except Arkansas, where light rains have occurred.
The barometer continues highest in the South Atlantic states. A slight rise in the barometer yesterday extended from Wyoming to Manitoba, has been rapidly to a low pressure
area, which appears to be central in Northwest Manitoba.
The temperature has risen 10 to 40 degrees in the region to the north of Montana and North Dakota. It has risen about 10 degrees in the Ohio valley, and fallen 10 to 15 degrees on the west shore of Lake Superior.
Duluth, temperature at 7 a. m. today,
10 degrees above zero; maximum 25; minimum 10 degrees above zero.
Duluth, Feb. 28.—Local forecast: mild & m.
tomorrow; generally fair; decidedly warmer
tonight and Thursday; southeast to southwest winds.

Local Forecast Officer.

Wheat in Farmers' Hands.
Bradstreet's contents that the more the officially underreported totals of the domestic wheat crop during the past three years are considered, together with the effects of the leaden-like wheat reserves which have dribbled on to a yielding market for months past, the more it seems likely of the forthcoming government report of the quantity of wheat in farmers' hands on March 1 this year will not be as small as many believe it will be.
Since the late statistician of the agricultural department admitted underestimating
the wheat crop in 1891 and 1892, investigation has gone far to furnish approximately correct totals of the wheat crops of those years, and these enable a calculation of the probable
total quantity of wheat in farmers' hands
on March 1 next of sufficient accuracy to render it of great interest at this period.
Three years ago Bradstreet's made a report of the approximate total quantity of wheat in farmers' hands which proved sufficiently near the government total
made public at that time to warrant the supposition of the comparative accuracy of both. For present purposes the government report of the total quantity of wheat in farmers' hands on March 1, 1891, 112,000,000 bushels, will be considered as accurate, and on it has been constructed a statistical exhibit containing correct
totals as to production during the past three years, in order to estimate as near as may be, how much wheat remains in farmers' hands at this time. This exhibit shows that the total wheat on hand
March 1, 1891, 112,000,000 bushels,
of which 120,000,000 is out of farmers'
hands, leaving the probable approximate quantity of wheat in farmers' hands at 126,000,000 bushels.
One year ago the government estimate
of wheat in farmers' hands was 135,000,000 bushels. The statistics gathered by Bradstreet's, however, lead to the conclusion that the total quantity of wheat
in farmers' hands one year ago, instead of being 135,000,000 bushels, as reported by the statistical bureau of the agricultural department, was 191,000,000 bushels. If the wheat crop of 1893 equalled 150,000,000 bushels, as now generally believed, then there was a wheat
supply for the past year of 750,000,000 bushels. Probably 510,000,000 bushels was used for seed, food and export, leaving 240,000,000 bushels on hand. The amount in sight is about 120,000,000 bushels, so that there must now be about 126,000,000 bushels still in farmers' hands.
There is nothing in these figures
to encourage any hope of a rise in prices
for some time to come, especially as the export demand is decidedly slack.

The Election in Brazil.
The hide and seek game of war in Brazil is productive of many confusing
conclusions by those who read the dispatches touching upon the progress of events in that country. One day there will be a lengthy dispatch from Rio Janeiro, telling of great successes achieved by Peixoto's troops, of the great damage inflicted upon the insurgent vessels by the fire from the government forts, of the fatal wounding of the rebel admiral, da Gama, and of the certain collapse of the rebellion within a few days.
Just as these statements have become fixed in the mind and the conclusion has been reached that the rebels have lost in the stubborn struggle, along comes a cablegram announcing great victories
by the insurgents in the province of Rio Grande do Sul and the capture of guns and ammunition from the loyal troops. Between such contradictory and perplexing reports, it is difficult to decide who is getting the best of the fight. However, peace is in sight, and the rebellion should be ended
before the end of the coming month.
Elections are to be held in Brazil tomorrow, and both sides have proclaimed
a truce until the people have voted and the result has been learned. The battle with bullets will temporarily make place for the battle of ballots. The insurgent leader, Admiral de Mello, claimed that the cause of the revolution

was the belief that Peixoto aspired to a perpetual incumbency
of the presidency, and that he would be a candidate for re-election, President
Peixoto, however, is not a candidate.
He has procured the nomination of two civilians, Dr. de Moraes and Senhor Perrira for the offices of president and vice president respectively. The fact that they are civilians should remove the long-existing jealousy between the army and navy, and their election should be followed by the restoration of peace,
because the insurgents' chief argument
for starting the rebellion will have been destroyed.

Prospects of Bimetallism.
The German emperor has the silver question under consideration, and it may be that an international movement in favor of bimetallism will result from his inquiry into the best method of stopping
the great decline in the price of silver.
A currency commission has been appointed, and its first session in Berlin
was presided over by Count Posadowsky,
secretary of the imperial treasury, who,
in his address, said that owing to the recent action of India and the United States in currency matters and the continued depression of silver, the subjects of the greatest importance to the commerce and trade of Germany and the world at large.

The questions to be considered by the commission, he said, demanded earnest and exhaustive examination. Its task
would be to ascertain whether the value of silver could be raised; if it could be raised, what were the best means to be used; how the price of silver could be kept stable, and what was the best basis for practical measures that would tend to solve the problem of an efficient agreement of states.

While in some quarters the action of the kaiser and his advisers in appointing the commission is regarded as simply a means of appeasing the bimetallists and agrarians, there is equally good reason for believing that the action which has been taken is based upon a sincere desire to reach a solution of the silver problem. It is not improbable that Mr.
Gladstone's retirement from the British premiership will soon be followed by the return of a Conservative ministry to power, probably with Mr. Balfour as premier. Mr. Balfour and other leading Tories have recently been speaking in favor of bimetallism. If England and Germany should agree on this point, it would soon be possible to arrange an international agreement for the establishment of a bimetallic currency.

It is seldom safe to say that any woman
was "first" in any special achievement.
Now appears that an Ohio woman was admitted to the bar before Mrs. Brad-well, of Chicago, who has just died. But as an Ohio newspaper points out, not even the Buckeye state can take credit for having the first woman lawyer, for there was not the scriptural Deborah,
wife of Lapidath, a judge in Israel?

In Manitoba there are 16,778 bachelors who have sent word to England through the agents of the Manitoba government that they regard celibacy as a failure and that 16,778 homes and hearts are ready for a corresponding number of women unusually deemed "superfluous" in the mother country.

The report that Earl Spencer will succeed Mr. Gladstone as the British premier will not be very good news to the Liberals and the Irish Home Rulers.
Earl Spencer unquestionably has ability,
but it is doubtful if he could hold together the discordant elements that now make up the Gladstonian following.

The New York Evening Post says that nobody now expects to see any reformatory legislation in regard to the New York police department adopted. Platt and politics killed it. Tammany expects to save itself at the next state election
by deals with the Republican boss.

Editor Joel Heatwole of the Northfield News has been nominated for mayor of his town in a fight between the "close-sellers" and those desiring more liberality in improvements. Of course, Joel is the candidate of the progressive element.

And now the Washburn press bureau
claims that the senator secured Bede's confirmation. If there is anything that has been done in the senate in which Senator Washburn has not played a leading part, will the bureau please mention it?

The Parkhurst movement for national municipal reform has reached St. Paul.
There is no city in the Northwest where there is a greater field for operations on the part of such a society.

A Winona dispatch today tells of an other well-known man who has gone wrong. His downfall is due to a term in the legislature. Aspiring politicians will take warning.

Two cases of smallpox are reported in St. Paul having been brought from Chicago. It may soon be necessary to establish a quarantine against the Windy City.

In view of Judge Grosscup's decision
at Chicago, the interstate commerce commission should be abolished. It has never accomplished any good.

The Kansas City Journal predicts a Republican majority of 30,000 in Missouri in 1896. Now let us hear from Texas.

Virginia Vernacular.
These Southern names are apt to get strange twists from Yankee tongues, you bet.
When first I heard of that say boy
Appointed consul at Amoy,
I do not think I was to blame
Because I mispronounced his name.
It looked as if it rhymed with dog,
And so I said: "J. Hampton Hogg."
Whereat the people laughed; but I Kept it and never asked them why.
Next time I tried another dog,
And boldly spoke of "Hampton Hogg."
I saw them grin, like those before,
And know I had it wrong once more.
The name had now become a boy,
But I came out with "Hampton Hogg."
And those who heard, I plainly saw,
Said: "You are a little bit of a dog."
Great Scott! I cried, still in the fog,
Can it then be "J. Hampton Hogg?"
I tried it on that way next trip,
Alas! 'twas but another slip.

I thought it might, in some strange way,
Be French. "Monsieur J. Hampton Hogg."
As I had reason to expect,
I did not get the thing correct.
At last I sought my friend Judge Hogg,
From the fine county of Kanooka.
From him I took, as you shall see,
A lesson in orthography.

And now that I have caught the rogue,
You hear me say, "J. Hampton Hogg."
—Frank Roo Hatterdale in New York Sun.

A Modest Claim.
St. Cloud Times: Duluth does not ask three places on the Republican state ticket. It will be satisfied with one and the candidate for congress. Duluth Republican modesty never was excelled,
except by the radicals of Democratic Stearns county.

Nightly Comfortable.
Madison Journal: The hypercritical
New York Sun may scoff at Adam Bede
as it places, and the appointment of Bede as the candidate for congress in Minnesota may have been more nearly divine than Democratic, but the Sun will awaken no sympathy by comments upon Bede's birch bark breeches, yclept
sequence, for there were so many fruit-
less pilgrimages to Washington.

Many Bleeding Wounds.
Minneapolis Journal: Adm Bede
has at last been identified and confirmed.
There are many bleeding Democratic hearts scattered about Minnesota in
sequence, for there were so many fruit-
less pilgrimages to Washington.

He Can Afford It.
Chicago Times: William Waldorf
Astor is said to have "made a loss" of $500,000 on his Fall Mall publications in the first year of his ownership. This large sum is perhaps 10 per cent of Mr.
Astor's income and he can afford the luxury of his own paper.

A Similarly.
Boston Transcript: Billings, who is not expert with the cue, says the pool
table is like a woman's dress. It is so hard to find the pocket.

The First Query.
St. Cloud Times: It has come to that point in St. Paul, where a rich party near dies they ask first of all, is his first squaw dead?

A Rival of Eros.
Indianapolis Journal: Judge: "What
was your idea in throwing a dynamite bomb among a lot of parties who expected to have a good time?" Prisoner: "I wanted to do something to make my name remembered forever."
"Hill! What is your name?" "John Smith!"

Kearsarge.
New York World: The etymologist
deals a blow to sentiment by showing that the mountain from which the Kearsarge took her name was originally known as Heczekiah Sargent's mountain, from which the slovenly speech of the natives evolved Kiah Sarge, then Kearsarge.

Longfellow's Birthday. The pupils and teachers of the Lincoln school were tendered a literary and musical treat on Tuesday afternoon, the anniversary of Longfellow's birth. The principal, Miss Lennox was fortunate in securing the presence of Mrs. L. B. Bangs, president of the Associated Charities, one familiar with the home, habits and works of Longfellow, who gave most pleasing and interesting talk on the poet, finishing with the "Birds of Kenilworth" and a plea to the boys for the better care of birds.

Miss Margaret McDonald sang one of Longfellow's most touching poems, "The Day is Done" which elicited such applause that the very kindly and appropriately sang "The Bird Carol," as an encore. This entertainment is the second of a series which the teachers are planning for the broader development of the pupils under their charge.

An Important Difference. To make it apparent to thousands, who think that they are ill, that they are not affected with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup company.

IN THE JURY'S HANDS.

Twelve Men Are Now Determining Whether to Award Clara Dentah Damages and Against Whom.

Judge Moer's Charge This Morning Was More Unfavorable to M. O. Hall Than to Daniel Horgan.

Kate Davis' Case Against the Northern Pacific Road Was Temporarily Knocked Out This Morning.

The case of Clara Dentah vs. M. O. Hall and Daniel Horgan went to the jury about 11:30 o'clock this morning. The case was continued all through yesterday afternoon, the arguments occupying most of the time. Mr. Hall's attorney in his address made a charge somewhat sensational to the effect that there was a conspiracy between Daniel Horgan and B. Stierstein, the latter having been defendant and dismissed upon the opening of the case. It could not have been particularly agreeable to Mr. Hall, for the court told the jury that under the law if Mr. Hall had caused the arrest of the woman he was liable, for it was not claimed in that case that a felony had been committed. The question, therefore, for the jury to decide was, as to whether he had caused the arrest. In reference to the defendant, Daniel Horgan's liability, the court said that if the jury should find that there was reasonable grounds for him to believe that a felony had been committed, he was justified in making the arrest.

The jury was still out at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The case of Kate Davis against the Northern Pacific road came up before Judge Lewis. She seeks to recover the value of a trunk lost and places it at about $300 while the road replies that its value was not over $50. After the calling of the jury the defendant's attorney moved that all evidence be excluded as the complaint does not state grounds sufficient for a cause of action. This position was sustained and a motion was then made by the defendant for a judgment on the pleadings. This was denied and the plaintiff was given ten days in which to amend her complaint.

Martha H. Norton, executrix et al. vs. Village of West Duluth was then taken up. It is an appeal from the award of commissioners for land taken in the extension of Grand Rapids. Before Judge Moer, Oscar A. Peterson vs. B. B. Richards Lumber company is on trial. In the case of Jacob Judinich, ex. Jos. Skahn et al. the jury returned a verdict for $310.50 and a stay of 30 days was granted.

HIGH NOON WEDDING.

Marriage Today of Gertrude E. Hyland and William J. Bates.

Last evening Deputy Sheriff William J. Bates asked Deputy Clerk Miller to linger around the court house until after everyone else had gone home. The request was a little unusual, but Deputy Miller is accommodating and complied. When the clerk's office was finally deserted Deputy Bates slipped in and blushing asked for a marriage license, remarking apologetically: "You know I couldn't stand the joshing I'd have got if I came in when they were all here." Deputy Miller appreciated the situation and gravely filled out the piece of parchment. Deputy Bates swore eternal gratitude to Deputy Miller and went his way rejoicing. But what a howl of rage there was in the court house this morning when the officers and deputies all over the building learned how Deputy Bates had baffled them.

At high noon today Miss Gertrude E. Hyland and William J. Bates were married at No. 11 West Second street by Rev. C. C. Salter, pastor of the Lutheran church. The bride is from Minneapolis, Minnesota, for a trip to St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago and Chippewa Falls, Wis. They will return in two weeks.

HILL TO BUILD.

The Great Northern Line Between Duluth and Fosston is to be Completed This Year.

It will parallel the Missabe Road Along the edge and Then Strike Directly West.

Work will be Begun as soon as the Weather Permits and to be Pushed Rapidly.

Financial Arrangements Have Been Completed by Mr. Hill, Who is Now in London.

The Herald learns from good authority that President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern railway system, who is now in London, England, has perfected financial arrangements whereby the early construction of the line from Fosston to Duluth is assured. This will give the Great Northern a direct road from the Red River valley to the head of the lakes and place it in a position to control the greater portion of the wheat traffic of that section. It will also shorten its through line from the Pacific coast to the East, as connection will then be made at Duluth with the handsome and swift new passenger vessels of the Northern Steamship company, thus turning a large portion of the transcontinental travel in this direction. Of the great benefits that Duluth will derive from being thus made the central point of another great transcontinental line it is unnecessary to speak at length. No one can fail to perceive at a glance the advantage that Duluth will thus obtain.

There was a rumor not many weeks ago that Mr. Hill was trying to get possession of the Duluth & Winnipeg route, which is now completed from Duluth to a point some distance west of Grand Rapids, and that he was negotiating with Mr. Van Horn and others who control the road with that object in view. Whether there was any real basis for this rumor is not positively known, but it is a certainty that he has no intention of trying to get the Duluth & Winnipeg, having decided not to purchase any line already constructed and having secured ample funds to build a new and more direct road between this city and Fosston. Mr. Hill is a great stickler for low grades and small curves, having in view the greatest economy in operation. It will be remembered that in his latest speech in this city, Mr. Hill referred with pride to this feature of the Great Northern line to the coast, whereby, he asserted, he could haul freight at a lower rate and make more profit than any competing line.

The bill introduced in congress granting the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company (a part of the Great Northern corporation) the right to construct a railroad through the various Indian reservations west of Duluth is a part of Mr. Hill's Duluth-Fosston scheme. In order to secure a direct route it is necessary to traverse those reservations. Mr. Hill has selected the route which will be followed by the line parallel the Duluth, Missabe & Northern from Duluth along the Mesabirange and strike directly west to Fosston. Arrangements have been made for a right-of-way into Duluth from a point near where the Missabe leaves the top of the hill at West Duluth, and it will land the Great Northern trains in close proximity to the dock front where a landing place has been secured for his company's line.

Work on the Duluth-Fosston line will begin as soon as the weather will permit and it will be pushed as fast as men and money can perform it. If the Duluth & Winnipeg also extends its line to the west this year, as now seems probable, railroad building in this section will be very lively this year.

SEIZED BY THE RUSSIANS.

A Sealing Schooner Driven by a Storm Toward the Siberian Coast.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., March 1.—News was received from Alaska last night that the schooner Emma Juneau, which sailed on a sealing expedition May 8, 1893, was seized by a Russian man-of-war in September about 500 miles north of the coast of Japan. The schooner was heading for Japan for provisions and met a terrible hurricane, unshipping the rudder and blowing the sails to shreds. She kept aloft by hard work for several days, finally beaching on a small island near Saghalien island.

She was refitted and started out, but was driven by a storm toward the Siberian coast, where she was observed by a Russian man-of-war, chased and captured. The Russian commander would take no explanation. The schooner was towed to Vladivostok. Capt. Johnson, Mate Hansen and the crew of eight were thrown in prison. They have had two trials in a Russian court and a verdict for the government was given. They have legal assistance and expect to gain their liberty, but the schooner will be confiscated. The Juneau is owned by Allert Ohman and William Hurdle, of Juneau. She is twenty-one tons burden and fifty-five feet long.

Lumber Mills Destroyed.
TEXARKANA, Ark., March 1.—The Sudry South lumber mills at New Lewisville, were destroyed by fire yesterday morning. One of the employees entered the burning mill to secure a revolver which he had forgotten. The mill fell on him and he was burned to death.

Crushed Under a Dump Car.
VIRGINIA, Minn., March 1.—Samuel Hill was run over by a dump car at the Norman mine Tuesday and instantly killed. He leaves a large family.

SALYARDS EXECUTED.

Hanging of a Murderer in the Jail Yard at Carlisle Pa.

CARLISLE, Pa., March 1.—Charles Salyards was hanged in the jail yard at 10:30 a. m.

The crime for which Charles Salyards was executed was the murder of Police Officer George Martin at Carlisle on April 8 last. Salyards was wanted by the authorities for burglary, and on the night of the date named Martin, after consultation with Assistant Burgess Faber, went to his home, took off his policeman's uniform, donned citizens clothes and started out to seek for Salyards.

Martin was last seen going up Green lane near the cemetery. Later a party of young men who were loitering near the lane heard a pistol shot and hastening in the direction of the sound came across Martin lying on the roadside. He expired in a few minutes without having spoken. Suspicion at once rested upon Salyards, a small dark man, who was in the town during the evening. He was traced to Shippensburg, thence to Hagerstown, Md., and finally to Winchester, Va., where he was arrested. He denied the charge, but was taken back to Carlisle and his trial resulted in a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Ineffective appeals were made to the state supreme court and the board of pardons. Salyards was 30 years of age and had a long criminal career. He served various terms in the Eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia and in the jails of Cumberland, Franklin and Dauphin counties. Salyards came from an excellent family. He was born and raised near Winchester, Va., where his father, deceased, was a minister of the gospel.

ALL WERE RESCUED ALIVE.

The Entombed Miners Taken Out of the Boston Run Mine.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 1.—After working under great difficulties but with great energy under the direction of Mine Inspector Stein, the men entombed in the Boston run mine were rescued at 10:30 o'clock last night in the east counter lift of the Back mountain vein. It was not, however, until after 1 o'clock this morning that they were brought to the surface and were restored to the arms of their loved ones, who had stood at the mouth of the slope eighteen hours, dreading every moment to hear the same dreadful news as had been sent up to the surface of the Gaylord slope in Luzerne county last week. There was general rejoicing when the five men were seen emerging from the dark slope in a cable car. The accident was caused by the bottom of an old water filled mine branch dropping into an old worked out mine, and running down to the counter gangway and blocking it up. The rescuing party in cutting through this rock, dirt and ice, juggled several tons of material, and made a small gangway as they went along. The work was attended with much danger caused by the water making the top rock unsafe.

The gangway was blocked by a pile of debris 20 by 50 feet in extent. Among this there hung cakes of ice weighing several tons each. This made the work most dangerous. The men entombed in the counter lift were William Irvin, Louis Walker, James Kroemer, Charles Mohan and Edward Mendel, all of Fracville. The men entombed in the lower lift, who were rescued earlier in the evening, were two Poles and the name of Wilkes.

RIOT IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Miners Had a Battle in Which One Man Was Killed.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 1.—Late yesterday afternoon about 400 armed strikers from New River, Montgomery and other points met at Armstrong Branch, about thirty miles from here, and after a riotous meeting, the drunken and excited men marched to Eagle, two miles away, to make the Wyant miners come out.

As they tried to climb the hill to the mines they were met with a volley from the Wyant men who had taken Winchester, and the strikers will deplore a bloody feud, one man being killed and eleven wounded.

The United Press correspondent on the ground telegraphed: All is now quiet at Eagle. There are three companies of troops here but their services are not needed except to awe the strikers. Several tons of dynamite were used, and of them Wyant's men and the rest strike. Benjamin Jones, of Wyant's men, was shot through the groin and will probably die.

Three strikers were shot in the leg and one Lou Clemondin, is reported shot in the breast. Two others are reported as having been wounded in a mountain hollow. No further trouble is expected while the troops are here, but the strikers are bitter against Wyant, and it is feared there will be trouble as soon as the troops leave.

Advices from Eagle mines up to 1 p. m. state that all is quiet. It is probable that the troops will be recalled tonight and that the sheriff will deplore twenty-five men to guard the mines in the riot district.

Trouble With Workmen.

CLEVELAND, March 1.—Fires were drawn in the Bessemer department of the Otis steel works at midnight last night and 125 men went on strike. The cause of the difficulty was a notice posted a few days ago that, take effect March 1, workmen would be required to work 120 tons of metal for a day's work instead of 100 tons. The men say this is a practical reduction in wages and is the fourth cut within a year.

For Mayor of Cincinnati.
CINCINNATI, March 1.—Congressman John A. Caldwell was selected as candidate for mayor by the Republicans assembled in convention at Central Turner hall this morning. He was nominated on the third ballot.

Caught in the Act.
PARIS, March 1.—The police arrested a man last night while in the act of placing a bomb in front of a house in the Rue Oberkampf. The prisoner maintained an air of bravado and boasted that he had a quantity of bombs at his lodgings.

SEVEN BURIED ALIVE.

The Roof of a Tunnel in a Pennsylvania Quarry Caved In, Imprisoning Seven Workmen.

One Was Found Fatally Injured, Another Rescued Alive, While the Others Have Probably Perished.

The Assistant Cashier of a Michigan Bank Sand-Bagged by Burglars Who Stole About $4000.

ALLENSTOWN, Pa., March 1.—A cave-in occurred at 8 o'clock this morning in Owen T. William & Sons' quarry at Williamstown, twenty miles north of Allentown. The roof of a tunnel caved in on seven workmen. Three Hungarians and Joseph Remaley, Emanuel Kreitz, Griffith O. Pritchard and William R. Jones. Jones has been rescued so badly injured that he may die. The others are still buried in the tunnel. There are no hopes of finding them alive. A large relief party is hard at work to reach them. The relief party can speak with Remaley, but it is believed the others are dead. Later—Joseph Remaley was dug out of the debris in the tunnel, more dead than alive. He did not see the other buried men and knew nothing of their fate. Samuel Kreitz was found crushed to death. These two men were nearest the mouth of the tunnel. All the men buried are married and have families.

DARING BANK ROBBERY.

An Assistant Cashier Sandbagged and Between $3000 and $4000 Taken.

Dexter, Mich., March 1.—A daring bank robbery occurred here about 7 o'clock this morning. Two masked men with revolvers compelled the assistant cashier, O. C. Gregory, to open the vault and escaped with between $3000 and $4000 after having sandbagged Gregory, leaving him in an unconscious condition. Gregory, who acts as janitor also, was sweeping out the office when he was confronted by two masked men with revolvers. He was ordered to open the vault, and with two revolvers threatening his life he did so.

Just as the bolts slid back, Gregory was knocked senseless and was unconscious when found an hour later by Cashier Newkirk. It is thought the robbers were frightened away before they had time to secure all the money in the vault, as some of it was found scattered about the floor. The bank estimates its loss at between $3000 and $4000. There is no clue. The Dexter Savings bank was recently organized with a capital of $20,000.

IT RESTS NOW WITH GROWER.

The Fight Over the Duluth Collectors' Get-ting Complicated.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin today had a conference with Secretary Carlisle for the purpose of deciding upon the appointment of a collector of customs at Duluth. Some trouble and confusion had been created by the withdrawal of Cutler J. Marshall's name.

Mr. Baldwin had recommended Emil Olund's appointment and it was decided upon Monday. There was some opposition to Olund's appointment but Mr. Baldwin says the secretary declined, unless better reasons than those that had been stated were given, to reconsider the matter. As a result Emil Olund will receive the appointment, unless President Cleveland decides otherwise.

FOR KILLING HIS SON.

A 60-Year-Old Man on Trial at Granite Falls for Murder.

GRANITE FALLS, Minn., March 1.—The trial of Anton Baerl for the murder of his son, Joseph Baerl, on Oct. 31 last, was begun at the special term of the district court convened for the purpose at this place Tuesday. Anton Baerl, and his son Joseph, the murdered man, were prominent German farmers in the township of Burton this county, the father being town treasurer and the son a well-to-do farmer. It had been some difficulty between the two about a land contract, which had led to strife. On the morning of the killing the father stopped at a stack of hay where the son with his wife were loading hay.

The old quarrel was revived and resulted in the father pulling a revolver and shooting his son dead in his tracks. The prisoner claims the son started at him with a pitchfork and that he shot in self-defense. The prisoner is in his 60th year, and has the appearance of anything but a criminal, and a strong effort will be made to clear him.

IRISH HOME RULE.

A Statement Issued by the Irish Parliamentary Party.

LONDON, March 1.—The following statement of the Irish party in parliament was given out late last night. The purpose of the statement is to define the attitude of the party on the main Irish question—home rule—in the event of Mr. Gladstone's withdrawal from office.

So much excitement has been created by rumors concerning the position of Mr. Gladstone that it may be well to point out that the Irish members remain calm, because, in their judgment, there really is no mystery in the matter; no occasion for surprise or sensation.

Every one and especially every politician who is not blind to the manifest facts must have been well aware for no inconsiderable time that the retirement of Mr. Gladstone from the office of prime minister, or least some modification of his position resulting in lighter labors, if not in lighter responsibilities, had to be kept in view as an event that could not be long deferred.

The one wish among the Irish members is that Mr. Gladstone may continue in the post of supreme direction as long as he finds it possible to do so. They believe he will so continue until he finds himself unable further to persevere. But at his great age, with the burden of infirmity, the time when he can no longer discharge to his own satisfaction the arduous duties of the premiership may suddenly arrive; and the fact that it may arrive without notice is what constitutes the peculiarity of the situation. The Irish members believe that no conclusive step has been taken and that the situation remains at this moment substantially the same as it has been for some time past.

The reconstruction of the cabinet by a change in the premiership would be an event affecting so materially the whole political position that the Irish members are confident—regard being this.

IRON ORE BEING SOLD

The Iron Trade Review Reports the Sale of Considerable Quantities of Vermilion Range Ore.

Prices Still Rule Low, Figures Being on the Basis of the Recent Norrie Sale.

But Even if Low Prices Prevail, the Movement is Considered a Healthy Indication.

CLEVELAND, March 1.—The Iron Trade Review says today: "The feature of the week in iron was the purchase of large blocks of Bessemer ore by the Carnegie Steel company and other buyers, making the total this far bought for $541 delivery something less than 2,000,000 tons. Prices are on the basis established by the recent Norrie sale, disheartening to the seller and giving little satisfaction to the buyer, since $2.75 for Bessemer Bessemer and prices proportionately low for Vermilion ores means that Bessemer pig and the whole line of steel products are to be on a free trade basis for months to come, and that labor's hardships are to be prolonged, with no immediate promise of better things. Viewed from another standpoint these large sales of the primary material have an aspect less discouraging. The basis of cost having thus been fixed for furnacemen, they may in turn be able to stimulate more generous buying for future needs among their customers."

No Mesaba Ore Sold.

NEW YORK, March 1.—The Iron Age says today: "The latest producer in the Pittsburgh district is credited with having bought 800,000 tons last week, in addition to 200,000 tons of low-grade ore bought earlier. Since the same concern was credited early this year with carrying 500,000 tons the purchase looks very heavy. "It is estimated by good authority that the lake mining companies have contracted to date for about 1,300,000 to 2,000,000 tons. This includes 600,000 tons Chandler, considerable No. 1 Minnesota, Norrie, Aurora and Pewabic. It will be noted that aside from possibly some of the Minnesota Mesaba ore no sales from that range have been reported."

MISS LOWRY'S ENGAGEMENT.

She is to marry Percy Hagerman, the ex-Corcoran Man.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 1.—The announcement has just been made of the engagement of Miss Nellie Lowry, second daughter of Thomas Lowry to Percy Hagerman, of Colorado Springs. He is a graduate of Cornell and the Yale law school and was prominently identified with college athletics, having been the guiding genius of the Cornell boat crew after leaving college. He is in business with his father in Colorado Springs.

The Postmaster Sustained.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Judge Bradley has rendered his decision on the petition of the Old Colony Security company of Wheeling, W. Va., for a writ of mandamus to Postmaster Sherwood commanding him to receive circulars and other matter descriptive of the company for transmission through the mails. A letter was refused in January on the ground that the scheme of the company was in the nature of a lottery. Judge Bradley refused the writ and sustained Postmaster Sherwood in his action.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nervous force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the future with the vitality necessary to sustain their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nervous system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels, the pneumogastric, while the numerous branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to him. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the universal brain and nerve food, is a scientific principle that all nervous and many other ailments originate in. It cures hysteria, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysterical debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

JURORS SERIOUSLY ILL.

There Are Indications That Their Food Was Tampered With.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 1.—The trial of Dr. Louis Barth, who is charged with committing a criminal assault on a patient, a very pretty Swedish domestic, came to an abrupt halt yesterday, when Dr. Barth appeared in court and reported that five jurors had been taken suddenly ill at their dinner at the Bridge Street house last evening.

The men were taken with purging and vomiting, and insinuations are made that their food had been tampered with. John L. Jackson, Fred B. Sloth, Leonard Vershoor, John Emory and John Muhling are the names of the sick men. Jackson is so seriously ill that the trial may have to be adjourned several days, and may result in a non-trial. The physician says the illness of the men is an attack of winter cholera.

BLINDED WITH VITRIOL.

How a Miscreant Plundered a Consul's Office in London.

LONDON, March 1.—While Emile Meyers, secretary to the Danish consul, was sitting alone in his office in Tower Hill, last Thursday, an unknown man rushed in and dashed a quantity of vitriol into his face, blinding Meyers and causing him to lose consciousness for a moment from pain.

The miscreant then plundered the premises and escaped and has not been caught. Meyers died next day, presumably from his injuries. An inquest was held on his body Tuesday and the jury returned a verdict that the evidence obtainable was insufficient to account for his death.

WILL PUT A FORFEIT.

Mount Clemens Syndicate Anxious to Get the Corbett-Jackson Fight.

BUFFALO, March 1.—The Mount Clemens syndicate has telegraphed "Petersen" Davies in this city that it is prepared to put up $50,000 cash guarantee of its ability to bring off the Corbett-Jackson fight for which it has offered a purse of $45,000. Davies and Brady are given the provision of naming the holder of the forfeit money.

A syndicate a Salamanca proposes to have the fight on the Indian reservation near there, over which the state authorities have no jurisdiction. The syndicate does not offer a purse, but says it will allow the fighters the gate receipts up to $50,000 and will itself build an arena accommodating 10,000.

ENVELOPED IN A FOG

New York and Brooklyn Were Visited Today by One of the Worst Fogs This Winter.

Ferryboats Collided and Scores of Passengers Were Thrown to the Floor and Several Injured.

Collision Between Two Trains on the Brooklyn Elevated Road and a Fireman Seriously Hurt.

NEW YORK, March 1.—One of the worst fogs of the winter settled down on the North river early this morning. Ferryboats ran only with the greatest caution and much of the heavy traffic was suspended entirely. A few slight accidents and many narrow escapes were reported. The fog was so dense that the eye could hardly see ten feet ahead. The fact that no serious accidents have happened was probably because the fog was so dense that much traffic was suspended.

The East river was also obscured, and as usual in such cases the Brooklyn bridge did an enormous business. The first accident reported was the North river was a collision between the ferryboats Pavana and Erie, of the Chambers street line, in which the Pavana lost one of her gate posts and about thirty feet of guard rail. The fog lay heavy over the city too, and the elevated trains ran with all precaution and on a slow schedule. About 10 o'clock the sun dissipated the fog.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning the ferryboats Arizona and Oregon, of the Grand street line, on the East river, came in collision, owing to the thick fog which prevailed. Both boats were filled with passengers. Scores of passengers were thrown to the floor and one boy had his arm broken, but no one was seriously injured. Several women fainted. Oregon was compelled to go at once for repairs, but the Arizona, although badly damaged, is still running regularly.

As a train drawn by Engine No. 70 on the Brooklyn Elevated railroad was approaching the Manhattan crossing, about 8 o'clock this morning, it slowed up because of the dense fog. No lights could be seen at the station. A train drawn by Engine 73 came along at full speed and dashed into the rear of the first train. Engine 73 and the rear car of the first train were badly smashed. The fireman of Engine 73 was seriously injured, his leg being broken. As he can be learned no one else was injured.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—President C. Y. Wheeler, of the Sterling Steel works, of Pittsburg, Pa., feels highly elated over the success of a projectile bearing his name. The next experiment will be with one of the monster 13-inch guns.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., March 1.—The barometer is high over the South Atlantic states and the north of Montana;
it is low in the lake region and rises in Minnesota.

The weather continues generally fair and warm in all reporting districts, but the temperature has fallen 10 to 20 degrees since yesterday in Northwestern Manitoba and in the light rain is falling this morning in extreme Eastern Wisconsin.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today,
36 degrees; maximum, 40 degrees; minimum, 16
degrees above zero.

Duluth, March 1.—Local forecast until 8
p. m. tomorrow: Fair; somewhat cooler tonight and Friday, northwest wind.

Great Activity Probable.

The sales of large blocks of Bessemer iron ore during the past week will be viewed with pleasure by all who are interested in the iron trade, despite the fact that the prices were on the basis of $2.75 established by the recent Norrie sale. Included in these latest sales was a considerable quantity of the Minnesota iron company's Vermilion ore which has been lying on the docks at lower lake ports. It is also probable that the same company has made contracts for some Mesaba ore from its Canton mine, to be delivered during the coming season.

Heretofore the Minnesota company
has not been disposed to sell at the low prices that were offered by furna-men, although it must be confessed there was extremely little demand from that quarter. The sales last week are said to be due to a change in policy. With high grade Minnesota ore selling at $2.75, it is impossible for the low grade mines to compete.
Outside of a comparatively few properties, all the mines in the East, in Alabama and on the south shore of Lake Superior will be shut entirely out of the market by the high grade ore selling at such low figures as are now ruling. It will be to the advantage of the Minnesota and other companies producing Bessemer ores to keep the other mines closed and this they can do by working
their own properties to their fullest capacity and flooding the market with their high grade ore at $2.75 or thereabouts.
None of the low grade mines can face such competition. It is understood that the Minnesota company has now at work one of the largest forces of miners it has ever employed on the Vermilion range mines and it will likewise push operations at the Canton on the Mesaba, so that the stock piles will have reached a large size when the season of navigation arrives.

It is safe to say that the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines, as Mr.
Rockefeller's Mesaba combine is known,
will follow this example. John D.
Rockefeller is in even a more favorable position to pursue this policy, because he can land ore on the docks at Cleveland from his Mesaba properties at a lower price than any of the competing companies. The people of Duluth have viewed with regret the loss by the Merritt family of the great properties which they discovered and brought to the attention of the world. Through their exertions another great source of revenue for Duluth was found. But like all pioneers, they prepared the way
for others who possess the capital to develop the great iron range that eclipses
all others in the country in cheapness of mining and equals any other in the quality of its product. The Merritts made a brilliant effort to develop this range, and to their courage and indomitable perseverance the people of St.
Louis county owe much. But for the financial depression they might have succeeded in their great enterprise. But like many other people engaged in less gigantic schemes, they were overtaken
by the effects of the financial scare and fell down.

John D. Rockefeller, a man with millions under his control, now absolutely controls the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road and the valuable mines included in the Consolidated concern. It is fortunate for Duluth and the Mesaba range that the control rests in such hands, because Mr. Rockefeller has the means at his command to push the development of the properties to the greatest extent possible. He now has several millions of dollars invested in this enterprise. He will naturally desire to increase the value of this investment and to earn a fair interest at least on the sum invested.
This will undoubtedly result in the resumption of work at all the Mesaba
mines under his control on an early date,
and the pushing of operations throughout the season of navigation.

Mr. Stokely, who returned a few days ago from the East, was told that the Ohio river furnaces are using about 30 per cent of Mountain Iron ore and report it as working finely, and are mentally that if all reports about the properties on the Mesaba range are true no other mines can compete with them. It will thus be seen that every ton of ore

that the Rockefeller concern may ship
will find a market. For these reasons
The Herald looks forward confidently to great activity this year on both the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges.

Home Rule Will Survive.
Regarding the early retirement of Mr.
Gladstone from the premiership as a settled fact, the London Times papers are insisting that home rule will be dropped
no matter who may become the Liberal leader. The London Times expresses the belief that neither Lord Roschery nor Sir William Harcourt will be likely to take it up. On the other hand the Liberal papers insist that home rule will survive Mr. Gladstone's retirement from the leadership.

It does not seem possible that Mr.
Gladstone's successor at the head of the Liberal party could do otherwise than carry out the home rule program arranged by Mr. Gladstone. It must continue the dominant question in British politics as long as the Irish party holds the balance of power
—the position which it occupies today. No Liberal ministry could hold office an hour without the support of the Irish Home Rulers. By voting against the government they could put the Conservatives in power tomorrow, and if Mr.
Gladstone's successor in the Liberal leadership should abandon home rule, there is little doubt that the Irish members would adopt that course.

It is stated as a fact that before Mr.
Gladstone made his final decision to Mr.
Parnell regarding the terms he would offer in his first home rule bill, the Conservative leaders were in communication with Mr. Parnell with the same object in view. It was simply a question of which party would make the largest offer. The Conservatives have recently been considering home rule propositions of their own, differing in many respects from what Mr. Gladstone proposed, but not in the main principle. If they could secure power by the aid of the eighty-five or more Irish voters, the Conservatives would grant the home rule demand.

It will thus be seen that home rule
must survive, whichever party controls
the government. The Home Rulers hold the balance of power, and as long as they stand at that position home rule will be a burning issue demanding an early settlement.

A curious cause of death was reported in The Herald's cable dispatches yesterday. Madame Patey, a well known contralto singer, who has been heard in grand opera in America, died suddenly in England, and a post mortem examination showed that death was caused by paralysis of the brain, due to excitement induced by the enthusiastic applause of her audience. There have been many cases of people dying from excessive joy, but this is the first instance on record of a singer or actress
being killed by applause.

The St. Cloud papers are making sarcastic flings at the number of candidates for political offices that are springing up in St. Louis county. Well, how about St. Cloud's modesty in that respect?
Judge Collins will want a renomination
for the supreme court, and already Col.
Westernman is in the field for state treasurer, while the odds are ten to one that Stearns county will want the Republican nomination for congress.

It is stated that Hon. Levi P. Morton aspires to be the Republican candidate for governor of New York to succeed
Mr. Flower. There is no doubt that Mr.
Morton would be a very strong candidate, and as the indications are that this will be a Republican year in New York state his election would be almost assured from the start.

The Boston Transcript remarks that if machines keep on supplanting hand
labor it looks as if mankind would eventually be reduced to a select set of machine owners, with a few servants to operate them, while the rest of the race
disappears from the face of the earth.

A Redwood county paper heads its marriage announcements, "Wedded For Life." The editor of that paper must be a newly married man. He will probably change the heading after a while.

A Political Obituary.
Here lies a candidate
(Where lies his name?)
Who when he knelt at heaven's gate,
Asked when the polls would close,
—Alas! a Constitution.

Not Fretting Much.
Oh, I am a bachelor living alone,
With no one to kiss me and call me her own,
Or say, when I'm lonely, the city is room;
Well, this is a state of mind,
—I confess.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

Mrs. Ward, in her forthcoming novel,
"Marcella," is expected by her friends
and critics in England, where the work
has had some circulation in manuscript, to achieve a very great success. Several enthusiastic admirers who have read it do not hesitate to place its author near George Eliot; and they assert that, like
the latter, she will become a classic.
This much is certain, no writer of this equipment as Mrs. Ward's kind of woman that Marcella is said to be. She is a thoroughly modern girl, imbued with philanthropic ideas, and she plunges
into the sphere of every day activity
with the same vigor and enthusiasm.
Mrs. Ward's works already represent one of the important developments of her time. Her "David Greaves" is a nineteenth-century type of the first order because he sums up social and individual tendencies with unique comprehensiveness
and with Tyndal, by Professor Huxley, Frederick Housman describes with illustrations, contains "Industries of Animals," which resemble some of the standard hermits of fiction. This new book is to appear late this month. It was to have been published earlier, but Mrs. Ward has been too ill to revise it.

Appleton Morgan opens the March Popular Science Monthly with a severe arrangement of prohibition under the title, "Abolish All Prohibitive Liquor Laws." The same number contains interesting recollections of his long intimacy with Tyndal, by Professor

APPROVES THE ACTION

Hoke Smith Says Commissioner Lamoreux Was Right in Refusing to Withdraw the Gold Lands.

The Examination Made, He Says, Can Only Have Been a Superficial and Unsatisfactory One.

Receipts at the Land Office During February Larger Than Any Month Since April, 1887.

"In re character of certain lands alleged to be gold bearing in Minnesota, is the title of a letter received at the land office. It is a copy of the letter written Commissioner Lamoreux by Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith with reference to certain papers relative to the character of the land in township 71, ranges 20, 21, 22, 23 and 24, north, Duluth, Minn. land district. Secretary Smith says:

"It seems that your office caused these lands to be investigated by a special agent with the view of ascertaining their mineral character, it having been brought to your attention that they were valuable for the deposits of gold and other precious metals alleged to have been discovered thereon. This seems to have been done with a view of withdrawing said lands from sale to await action of congress in extending the mineral laws over this territory. You concluded, however, that notwithstanding there were deposits of gold bearing quartz on the land, there is no authority by which the same be withdrawn from purchase and entry under Section 2345, United States Revised Statutes.

"Aside from the questions of law as to whether there is vested in this department the power to withdraw these lands for the purpose suggested, I do not think the showing made sufficient to warrant it in any event. The special agent found but two discoveries, one in section 33 and the other in section 27-21, in which there was disclosed any mineral. His examination of this territory was necessarily a very superficial one, and confined exclusively to these two places. He arrived there Oct. 30 and left Nov. 4. While this may have been sufficient time for an examination of the two discoveries yet it must be conceded that upon the exploitation the department would not be warranted in withdrawing the balance of the land.

"The statement made by others is too general to be of any value as evidence, and it is certain that none of the above has demonstrated that gold exists in quantities sufficient to warrant the working of the mines.

"Your action in refusing to withdraw the lands from sale is therefore approved and all the papers transmitted are hereby returned."

THE LARGEST MONTH.

February Receipts at the Land Office Larger Than Any During Six Years.

The cash receipts at the local United States land office for the month of February just closed were greater than for any month since April 1887, "when the whole Vermilion range," as the saying goes, was entered. That month the receipts were $67,097.72 and $65,000.00 for cash entries. The report for the month just closed is as follows:

|                              |             |
|------------------------------|-------------|
| 100 acre entries             | $25,980.40 |
| 100 acre and over entries    | 640.00      |
| Final homestead certificates | 19.95       |
| Lithary bounty land warrants | 114.30      |
| Other entries                | 114.30      |
| Total                        | $26,854.95 |

TALES OF THE TOWN.

Things Seen and Heard on the Streets and Elsewhere.

"There is a youngster who is on the high road toward making a clever and dangerous criminal," remarked a well-known man on the street a day or two ago, pointing to a bright-eyed and intelligent-looking lad of 9 or 10 years of age. He seemed to have an open countenance and to be honest in appearance, but a closer glance gave an idea that he might be pretty cunning.

"Why? you ask. Well, I'll tell you. I was in an office the other day talking to a couple of friends when this little chap came in. He walked up to one of us and in a straightforward, manly way asked for a loan of 15 cents to buy Evening Herald's to sell, promising that as soon as he sold the papers he would return the money.

"Have you ever sold papers before?" asked my friend.

"Yes, sir," responded the boy.

"Well, then, why haven't you got any money to buy papers with now? Have you blown it all?"

"No, sir, we are poor and my mother needed money so I gave her all I had," was the answer, given without hesitation and with a clear and honest look that carried conviction with it.

"Well, sir, we will wait down in our pockets and gave him 25 cents each. But do you suppose he ever showed up again? Not much, and I have since learned that he makes a practice of going around working people just that way, in fact, I know that not fifteen minutes after he left us he was at another office working the same dodge. He is going to make a first-class confidence man unless some good Samaritan gets hold of him and turns his tactics to some more honorable account.

"What a loon it would be for everybody if every property owner in this town had the ice and slush cleaned off the walks in front of his possessions during these bright, warm days," remarked a man on the street. "I would only take a few moments' labor and would bring down blessings on his heads."

"Have you cleaned yours off?" asked one of his hearers.

"Well, now, by gosh, I haven't," was the response, "but I'm going right home and do it," and off he went.

A young man pretty well known around town was telling a good story on himself the other day. When the winter came on, he might imagine that the depression he thought it would be a good time to wear out his old clothes and not make any investments in the clothing line. One evening he was out at the East End calling on a young lady and little cherub about 5 years old while talking to him.

"Oh Mr.—what a pretty coat, it's made of silk I know."

"No, you are mistaken. But what makes you think so?" he asked unsuspiciously.

"Cause it's so nice and shiny," said the little girl, and the young man tried to choke down his confusion but could not.

FRANK SHAW STORIES IT.

Shows the Lie to a "Fake" Story From Superior.

In respect of the report that Col. Frank Shaw was interested in himself in the movement at Superior to have the Jackson-Corbett right come off at Minnesota Point, that gentleman states to the St. Paul Dispatch that he has positively that the whole story was a fake pure and simple and that he has nothing whatever to do with any plans of the kind, and that he had the best of the lakes may be making.

He was, he says, much surprised as anybody could be to read the report connecting him with the matter, as he had not been within 600 miles of Superior for two months and has never been in the town. It was possible, he thought, that the light might be pulled off up there, but not very probable.

Partly by Silver Lodge. The first annual social party of Silver Lodge, No. 203 L. O. E., was held last evening at Odd Fellows hall on Lake avenue north, and was a success in every way. Coffee, cake and sandwiches were served for lunch by the ladies and about 200 couples, and was a success in every way.

New Candidate in the Field. Morris Thomas has a petition out endorsing his application for appointment as collector of customs at Duluth. It has been largely signed. T. J. Monahan has withdrawn his name.

Henry Truesen, as is known, has announced himself as a candidate and also has a strong following. There are those who claim that one of these two will walk off with the prize.

WINTER IN THE WOODS.

Chilly Experiences of a Survey Party on the Duluth & Winipeg.

The crew of men which started out from Minneapolis last summer to continue the survey of the Duluth & Winipeg northwestward from Deer river, returned recently after a five months' experience, punctuated with some very striking incidents. It is not the pleasant thing in the world to run a line through a new country under the most favorable weather conditions, says the Minneapolis Journal, and when the thermometer registers all the way from 30 to 50 below zero the members of the party are exposed to experiences anything but delightful.

The party under the direction of H. J. Payne, of Marquette, Mich., started from Minneapolis the last of August. They ran only about seventy-five miles of line; but this was considered good work considering the rigors of the climate and the region through which they had to cut their way. There is a good deal of timber in the region, and a line which must run true to the transit. The party had almost to cut their way through almost impenetrable tamarack swamps, and sometimes they would find a giant pine across the path which they had to cut straight.

The weather after the winter set in was extremely cold, though there was but very little wind at the time. However, showed them how terrible the cold was, though they did not have any more serious difficulties than a frozen ear. The party slept in tents. Inside the main tent, where they all often slept, was a small sheet-iron stove, which did good service, but it was not enough to keep them warm. Each man was provided with a thick-haired deer skin, which he wrapped around him as he lay down on a pile of pine boughs for the night. He had also a blanket which he pulled over him. His shoes he would put on the inside of the tent, and he pulled them off and put them under him, so that when he got up in the morning they would be dry and warm.

It is needless to say that such a civilized thing as a night shirt was an unknown quantity in camp. Though the cold was so very intense the party was only kept in two mornings and then only until 9 o'clock. One day the man with the instrument was turned out by the snow of the lake—Lake Winnepigoshish, near which a good deal of the work was done—turned his instrument toward a lot of men, and he was told to get up a swell West hotel dinner, a pair of water and a potato. But he had much more than this for his larger supplies of canned goods of various kinds, such as vegetables as could be bought of the Indians and the occasional settlers, plenty of choice venison steaks and roasts, now and then a juicy piece of mutton or beef, and the Indians would be fat as blubber.

The Indians were plentiful and friendly and to be hired to do guide duty whenever wanted at reasonable rates. One of the party, his hat and coat to the woods, was a teamster who helped in various parts of the work. He seemed to have a fine opinion of his own abilities to overcome all obstacles. He was out across the lake on some errand or other to be gone for a day or two but he did not get back until he was found by the party, his hat and coat to the woods, was a teamster who helped in various parts of the work. He seemed to have a fine opinion of his own abilities to overcome all obstacles.

ALL IS NOT HARMONY

Caucus of the Aldermen-Elect Over the Presidency Last Evening and No Agreement Reached.

May Fall to J. T. Hale or William Getty, Although Howard is Still in the Race.

R. S. Lerch Has Also Been Suggested for the Place—Another Caucus Called For Tonight.

Everything is not so harmonious among the members of the new council as might be. Last evening there was a caucus and thirteen were present out of the sixteen elected. About the only question considered was as to who shall have the honor to wield the gavel next year. There was no unanimity of opinion, in fact there was a decided difference and when an adjournment was taken the aldermen were no nearer an agreement than when they began.

It was stily hinted today that the presidency lies between J. T. Hale and William Getty. B. F. Howard is not out of the race, by any means, however, if reports can be believed. R. S. Lerch was named and had some following but some objected because he is a new member. This would apply also to J. T. Hale and if an old member is to be elected probably be Howard or Getty.

So far as can be learned nothing else was considered and the aldermen are said to be united as to Page Morris for city attorney and C. E. Richardson for clerk.

Another caucus will be held this evening and one of the questions considered, it is said, will be that of salaries. One alderman this morning, in speaking of the evening's work, said that he expected that there would be a red-hot time.

Citizens Meeting Called.

The following call has been issued by a number of citizens who believe there is considerable municipal extravagance existing and wish to formulate some plan to check it:

"The taxpayers are requested to meet at the board of trade rooms in the Chamber of Commerce building on Friday, March 2, at 3 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of devising ways and means for reducing the burden of taxation. The mayor, aldermen-elect, city controller and city treasurer are earnestly requested to be present."

Was Seriously Injured.

Mrs. R. Ensign, mother of Judge Ensign, had a terrible fall last evening. While going to her room on the upper floor of the judge's residence she opened the wrong door and fell down a stairway, being badly injured. One or more ribs were broken and three bad gashes were cut in her head beside several smaller bruises. She is resting easily today, but such injuries as these cannot be taken seriously shock to one who has reached the advanced age of 83 years.

Paid the Fine Yesterday.

W. C. Sherwood has paid his fine for violating the health ordinance and dropped the appeal to the supreme court. He was ordered by the board of health to have a nuisance existing on his property abated and in defense denied the validity of the health ordinance. He was defeated and had decided to carry the case up. The total of fine and costs was only $11.60.

NOT ENTIRELY SATISFIED.

County Commissioners Do Not Think the Poor Fund Was Saved Much.

If all the remarks made at the council meeting on Monday evening are to be believed, the county has been saved several thousands of dollars by the employment of idle men on rock work by the city. The county commissioners do not seem to believe this, however. Commissioner Miller says there has been no material decrease in the amount of relief for those who are being given and he says the commissioners, if he is not mistaken, are not satisfied with the way the selection of those to be employed was made.

"Now the county has on its list," said he, "a great many cases of men who are desirous of working but absolutely cannot get work. Mr. Clark and his assistants have personally investigated their cases and know them to be deserving. The commissioners have expected that men such as these would be given work but when we went to the board of public works we were told that the ranks were full and no more men could be given work and so county relief had to be continued. Now, some 2000 men received work from the city and their cases certainly did not receive anything like a thorough examination, at least the greater portion of them did not. I know that nearly all of them were men who deserved to be allowed to work and are to be commended for their desire, but it was understood that this work was to be done by the city and that the men from want and their cases should have been as strictly examined as are our county cases. Not more than one applicant out of three that apply receives aid from the county."

"No, I don't know what the commissioners will do about the matter, but I do know that the matter was conducted on such a basis as we thought it would be."

Night Schools to Close. Some days ago, a large number of those who have been attending night schools filed petitions that the term be extended a couple of four weeks. The matter was referred by the board to a committee with power to act. Yesterday, it was decided that, owing to the shortness of funds, the request would have to be denied, hence, tomorrow evening, the term of 13 weeks will be closed. The attendance and number of teachers employed this winter have been double that of last winter.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the system and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors say that if you can't get it in the city, send for list of agents. It is sold by druggists, etc.

OSMAN'S GREAT FESTIVAL.

Shriners Preparing for the Annual Event of Interest.

Osman temple, of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, is preparing for the annual celebration of the holy festival of "Leylat el Kadr," which falls upon March 13 next. Ceremonies will be held in the temple at St. Paul at 4:30 and 7:30 p. m.; the first for the purpose of acting upon petitions and installing officers, and the second for the work of the shrine and the traditional banquet.

It is expected that several unregenerate sons of the desert will be hanging about the Oasis of Osman anxious to find the true direction and be guided across the burning sands. Osman temple is in the most flourishing condition, the caravan having a total membership of 516, and the hope being to bring it up to 600, which will give it four representatives in the Imperial council, as many as any temple in North America. Osman was founded in 1885 and its career has been singularly successful ever since. For the coming event a neat and unique folder has been issued, containing all of the details of the festival.

The official divan of Osman temple includes the following Duluth Shriners: T. W. Hugo, chief rabban; W. G. Ten Brook, captain of the guard.

VERDICT AGAINST HALL. Frank Gould and wife left today for Grand Rapids, Mich., where he goes to take the United Press report for one of the newspapers there.

Return of a Verdict of Five Hundred Dollars Against the Banker. M. O. Hall damaged Clara Bentah's reputation to the amount of $500 for having her arrested on a charge of forgery when in fact there was none, according to the verdict of the jury yesterday afternoon. As regards the claim against Daniel Horgan the jury found in his favor. The verdict was no surprise to those that heard the evidence.

The case of Oscar A. Peterson against the B. B. Richards Lumber company is still on trial. The plaintiff is suing for $1000 worth of telegraph poles. The defendant filed a plea to the poles and the plaintiff claims that when they were delivered up they were short $1400 worth. The defendant claims that the full amount was turned over and that the plaintiff lost them while towing them down the river.

The case of the Norton heirs against the village of West Duluth is still on trial before Judge Lewis.

OLEOMARGARINE LAW INVALID. Declared Unconstitutional Because Coloring Is Required.

Judge Smith of Hennepin county yesterday afternoon handed down a decision declaring that the law passed at the last session of the legislature, requiring all oleomargarine offered for sale to be tinted pink, is unconstitutional.

Last fall the Minneapolis Provision company had a quantity of oleomargarine in their possession, purchased from a Chicago firm. It was seized by the state dairy commissioner, who stored it with the Potter Produce company.

The Provision company began a suit against the dairy commissioner, who stored it and the state intervened. In the decision yesterday the court finds for the Provision company $718, the value of the oleomargarine and the memorandum declares the law unconstitutional as stated above.

Assets and Liabilities. The schedules of assets and liabilities of W. S. Albertson, of J. Marshall and the Duluth Brick company were filed today. The debts of the brick company aggregate $11,690.82; the principal creditors being: T. B. Hartz, $3500; Security bank, $2400.63; Iron clad Dwyer company, $1500. The total assets are $14,340. C. J. Marshall's assets are placed at $800 and those of the brick company at $14,540. W. S. Albertson's debts amount to $17,454.90. Two items are as follows: Augusta Albertson, $7871.33; Mrs. W. S. Albertson, $5307.01. His assets are $11,746.47.

Both Were Discharged. Henry Eischen, charged with selling liquor to a minor, was discharged yesterday afternoon there being no evidence against him. Henry Haskins, handaxe officer, was the complainant. The bottle of liquor in evidence when examined proved to be only water and Henry's acquittal was a surprise to the jury. The case against Michael Eischen for employing a bartender was also dismissed.

Capt. John Henning Dead. Capt. John Henning died yesterday at 135 Lake avenue south of dropsy, aged 52 years. He was a native of Sweden and was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters Court 724 and the funeral will be in charge of Capt. Henning. Capt. Henning was in charge of the tug Maud S. last year and was a well known tug and ferry captain.

James Redmond Dead. James Redmond, formerly of Duluth, died on Sunday at Boston, aged 90 years, and was buried on Tuesday. He lived in Duluth for a number of years and left last October for Boston where his parents reside.

Adulterated Wine. Is injurious, but nothing gives strength, and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. This wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby," quart bottles $1.00, pints 50 cts. Sold by F. F. Boyce, druggist.

Not that Duluth property has depreciated one cent in value but just on account of the past depression, which is now fast disappearing, which has left some people in slightly embarrassing circumstances which investors now can take advantage of.

In the future we intend to keep the public posted on the snags we have in stock, so keep an eye on our ads.

However, we will give you today some of our exchanges. We invite you to come in and see us. We are prepared to deal any way you want it. We have clear outside property in different states to exchange for Duluth real estate.

THE G.O.M. QUILTS

Mr. Gladstone Started for Windsor This Afternoon to Lay His Resignation Before the Queen.

The Radicals Are Strongly Protesting Against Lord Rosebery Succeeding Mr. Gladstone in the Premiership.

There Are Open Declarations Made That a Rosebery Ministry Will be Smashed at Once.

The Premier Should be a Member of the Commons, According to the Radicals' Ideas.

LONDON, March 2.—Mr. Gladstone started for Windsor at 5 p. m. It is supposed that he will lay his resignation before the queen.

THE RADICALS' IDEAS.

They Object to Lord Rosebery Being Given the Premiership.

New York, March 2.—The Times' special cablegram from London says: It became finally known this afternoon that Mr. Gladstone had made up his mind to give up the premiership and intended to resign Saturday. Up to that time the Radicals had been believing that the private representations they had made would deter Mr. Gladstone from taking any definite step. They had secured some seventy members who had promised to attend a meeting to protest against Gladstone's retirement and against Rosebery's selection as his successor, when news of Gladstone's decision to give up the premiership came to them through a private, but perfectly reliable source. They could find only twenty-one men today willing to go and make a public protest to the government's chief whip against Rosebery. Whether this demonrespectful sympathy that overlaps all differences and antagonisms.

"We deplore that his last speech as a leader was unworthy of the occasion, dealing throughout with meagre and bitter banalities and current partisanship. He leaves his post without offering a program, formulating a policy or enunciating a principle. He simply exhorts his followers to proceed consistently upon his own method of getting up steam by firing some of our institutions. The Times predicts that Mr. Gladstone's successor will not fall on a bed of roses.

The Daily Chronicle this morning confirms the statement made by the Pall Mall Gazette last evening concerning Mr. Gladstone's resignation. "Mr. Gladstone's departure from office," says the Chronicle, "seems for a moment to leave the world bare, but he has left a legacy. Samson's last tug brought down the lords." The Chronicle deprecates the opposition manifested by the Radicals to the succession of Lord Rosebery, "to whose strong hands," it says, "the shaping of the Liberal policy to new ends may well be entrusted."

The Standard says: "Most people were more impressed by the pathos of the speech than by its vigor and brilliancy, believing that it was the last one that Mr. Gladstone would deliver as premier."

A news agency of some pretensions to reliability sent out yesterday a report that Mr. Gladstone's secretary had personally informed its representative that the resignation of the premier could no longer be delayed and that its presentation to the queen was merely a matter of hours. The report said that at his audience with the queen on Tuesday Mr. Gladstone had told her majesty that his failing eyesight, together with the infirmities of advanced age, made it imperative that he should lay down the cares of office, etc. All of this is untrue. Nothing of the kind occurred in either instance.

To ascertain how much truth, if any, was contained in these statements, a representative of the United Press called on George H. Murray who, with G. W. Spencer Lyttleton, acts in the capacity of private secretary to Mr. Gladstone, and submitted them to him. Mr. Murray unhesitatingly repudiated what purported to have come from him or his associate, and to emphasize his disclaimer wrote the following: "No such statements were made by any of Mr. Gladstone's secretaries yesterday. Mr. Gladstone would have had weight it is impossible to say. As I write, a group of radicals is beside me, with Labouchere in the center, going through the list of members of the house of commons, with a view of sending telegrams broadcast, the purpose being to try to get concerted action. Labouchere is not hopeful that Rosebery will be frightened by what has already been said and done and decline the post of premier in favor of Harcourt.

The boom for Rosebery has been so open and palpable that it has inspired bitter suspicions of intrigue. It is obvious that Rosebery is a great favorite with the queen. There are even rumors that he is going to marry one of the daughters of the prince of Wales. The Radicals are savagely declaring that the "whole thing" has been a plot of the court circles to hurry the "old man" off the stage and spring Rosebery on the party at a time when the dangers encircling it renders it docile.

There is, however, extremely little docility visible today in Radical circles. On the contrary, there are open declarations that a Rosebery ministry will be smashed at once. Active steps are being taken to secure a pledge that the party shall be consulted as to the choice of their leader, instead of leaving it to Gladstone and the queen, according to the English custom.

The Times says: "Mr. Gladstone announced his intention of retiring to a few intimate friends before going to Biarritz, but did not confide it to the cabinet. The formal announcement is now only delayed by official etiquette. Mr. Gladstone's friends and opponents are united at this crisis in the common sentiment of

SHOT A KEEPER

Desperate Attempt to Escape From Jersey's State Prison Made by a Long-Time Prisoner.

Joseph Wallwitz, Who Was Serving a 20-Year Term for Burglary, Killed Keeper Lippincott.

With Watch and Clock Springs He Made a Saw and Cut the Cell Bars.

Lassoed Keeper Waters, Took His Revolver and Shot Lippincott and Then He Was Captured.

TRENTON, N. J., March 2.—Joseph Wallwitz, alias Jerry Malwitz, a burglar serving a 20-year term in the state prison, attempted to escape at 1:30 o'clock this morning, and in his efforts to secure his freedom shot and killed Deputy Keeper James B. Lippincott, one of the most trusted under officials of the prison and a man of large family. No more daring or desperate attempt on the part of a prisoner to get outside of Jersey's great strong penitentiary institution is chronicled in its history, and the same may be said of the ingenious character of the effort.

Wallwitz is a Jersey City man. In the spring of 1891, he robbed a house in Union county and it was then that he received the 20-year sentence. It was just 1:30 this morning when he emerged from his cell in the west wing of the prison and stood in the corridor. With watch and clock springs, he had manufactured saws of sufficiently good temper to file through four bars of his cell door. The bars are two and a half inches thick. Standing in front of the cell he awaited the presence of any one of the three turnkeys whose duty it is to pace the corridor hourly.

In a moment Keeper James Waters came along. Like a flash Wallwitz sprang back into his cell and instantly he was out into the corridor again, this time with a piece of rope which he had cut from a ventilator. With the rope he formed a noose which he threw over Waters' head. Lassoed like an animal, Waters reeled and fell and the convict bound him to the floor, but not before Waters gave an outcry. His voice rang out in alarm through the long silent corridor and awakened a hundred prisoners some of whom also shouted.

Wallwitz, who had been bending over the prostrate form of the keeper, quickly arose and passed down the corridor. Waters managed to crawl to an electric button in one of the walls and pushed it. This sounded an alarm bell in the "center," where Keeper James H. Lippincott was on duty. The latter ordered Keeper Francis Leonard, who was somewhere in the latter wing at the time, to investigate but getting no response from Leonard by signal, Lippincott himself hastened toward the wing.

In a recess or ante room he took an iron bar out of the door and with this in one hand and a revolver in the other, he hastened on. He had not gone only a few yards further when he came face to face with Wallwitz. This sudden meeting with the prisoner before he had reached the part of the prison in which the trouble was supposed to be, surprised the keeper, but not Wallwitz, who aimed and fired without delay. In his left hand Wallwitz carried the ugliest slingshot ever seen in the prison. In his right hand was a revolver which he had wrested from Keeper Waters.

There were no witnesses of the terrible encounter that ensued, and all that is positively known is that the convict killed Keeper Lippincott by shooting him in the thigh and back and that the keeper wounded the convict slightly with a bullet from his revolver. Lippincott's aim was not quite perfect, and his bullet only grazed Wallwitz's forehead. Both weapons were still smoking when half a dozen turnkeys arrived armed with revolvers, guns and iron bars.

Wallwitz recognized the futility of any further attempt to escape but was not cowed. Raising his revolver he fired twice into the bunch of turnkeys, but both bullets lodged harmlessly in the prison wall. One of the keepers at the same instant fired at the prisoner's heart and he fell. Then he was pounced upon and his revolver and slingshot were taken away. He had emptied five chambers of his weapon, but beyond the slight wound in his forehead inflicted by the dead Lippincott's bullet, he was himself unharmed. It was found when he was got back into his cell that he had padded his clothes heavily with hooks and newspapers, and that the bullet aimed at his heart rested in a roll of papers which were wound fully three inches thick about his body.

Lippincott leaves a wife and seven children. How Wallwitz got into the possession of the watch and clock springs with which he sawed through the iron bars of the cell door, was not explained at the prison this morning, except by saying that prisoners in long confinement have opportunities of accumulating bits of iron and steel, and it seems impossible to stop it altogether. Prisoners hoarding such things are frequently discovered and escapes from the prison are very rare.

The last that occurred happened four years ago, when two colored convicts escaped by way of the main corridor and big front doors after sandbagging and nearly killing the keeper. The Philadelphia police headed the fleeing convicts off in the outskirts of that city and shot one of them dead. The other is serving his extra time for breaking out of the prison.

THE VOLUNTEER STUDENTS.

Great Crowds Attending the Convention in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., March 2.—So great was the crowd at this morning's session of the volunteer student movement convention that it was almost an impossibility for the delegates to obtain seats. After a song and prayer service, Chairman Mott read the report of the executive committee. This was a review of the development of the work since the last convention, and the aims of the movement. It showed 320 members, covering 477 colleges. The movement has sent 686 missionaries to all parts of the world.

A DUTY OF THIRTY CENTS

Senate Committee Decided to Put a Duty of Thirty Cents a Ton on Iron Ore.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—[Special to The Herald.]—Information came from the senate finance committee room today which will probably give general satisfaction to those interested in iron ore not only in Minnesota, but other sections of the country.

It is stated on what seems to be excellent authority that the committee today decided to put a duty on iron ore and that 30 cents per ton is the rate fixed. While this duty may not be as large as would be satisfactory, it is better than having no duty whatever.

It is believed that this duty will pass muster in the senate and will probably be agreed to by the house. If this proves to be true, when the tariff bill finally passes, there will be some duty on iron ore, and even a small duty will be much better than having it on the free list.

WEST VIRGINIA RIOT.

Martial Law Declared and Troops Sent to the Mine Region.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 2.—Governor McCorkle received a telegram this afternoon from Powellton, from Mayor Banks, asking that troops be sent there. Six hundred miners were reported to be advancing on the place from the New River mines, for the purpose of destroying the mines and stopping work. Martial law has been declared throughout the mine region, and troops are being hastened to the scene. W. T. Atkins, one of the wounded strikers, died last night and was to be buried this evening. The miners were determined to make this occasion for a big demonstration at Eagle, and another attack was feared.

LYNCHERS WERE FOILED.

An Attempt to Lynch a Negro in Pennsylvania Prevented.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 2.—A mob of 200 men attempted to force the jail at Stroudsburg this morning with the purpose of lynching Richard Prior, the negro who a week ago murdered Christian Ehlers, a storekeeper in Monroe county.

The attack was made at 2 o'clock, but was repulsed by the sheriff, who held the mob at bay until the police appeared. The mob retired in a sullen mood, and it is feared that they will be reinforced and will yet succeed in breaking into the jail and securing the murderer.

Through the Heart.

CHICAGO, March 2.—William Pierson was shot and instantly killed by John Kiebel, a saloonkeeper at 305 Sedgwick street, last night. Pierson went into the saloon with a friend and ordered a round of drinks. A dispute arose over the payment and, it is said, Pierson struck Kiebel. The latter seized his revolver and fired, the ball piercing Pierson's heart.

TO AMEND THE RULES

The Democratic Members of the House Will Meet in Caucus to Discuss New Rules.

Agreed That a Deadlock Similar to That of the Past Three Weeks Must be Avoided.

Will Adopt Rules so the House Can Do Business When a Quorum is Actually Present.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—With a view of avoiding in the future a deadlock similar to the one which has made the house a spectacle during the past three weeks, a caucus of the Democratic members of the house will soon be held to adopt some amendment to the rules. Representative Holman, the chairman of the caucus, said to a reporter that he would be in duty bound to hold the caucus, as a sufficient number of names had been appended to the request.

"If the evening session for the consideration of pension cases is abandoned," he believes that the caucus will result in the adoption of some amendment to the rules which will permit the house to do business when a quorum is actually present.

There are numerous propositions to be submitted to the caucus. The latest is a resolution submitted yesterday by Mr. Barnard of Wisconsin, amending the rules of the house so as to provide that if a quorum has not voted, and at least 170 have voted, the speaker may, in his discretion, direct the clerk at the end of the second and each subsequent call, to again call, in their alphabetical order, or otherwise, the names of those not voting, until such time as a quorum shall have voted. When a quorum has voted, he must announce and declare the result of the vote on the pending question.

C. H. Deere, of Maine, Ill. F. E. Studebaker, of South Bend, Ind., and A. L. Conger, of Akron, Ohio, are here on behalf of the association of Manufacturers of Agricultural Implements of the United States, who have petitioned the mission of agricultural implements from Canada to this country, while as American manufacturers they are shut out from that country by reason of a duty imposed by Canada on their manufactured articles of 35 per cent.

Canada also imposes a duty on farm products, and these gentlemen wish to have a feature of equal trade relations embodied in the bill that the same shall not be operative until such time as Canada will open her doors to us, and our manufacturers shall be put upon an equal footing with them. The following is what they propose:

"All articles being the growth, product, or manufacture of the Dominion of Canada shall be admitted into all the markets of the United States free of duty, whenever and so long as the Dominion of Canada shall admit into all her markets all articles which are the growth, product or manufacture of the United States."

New York Protests.
NEW YORK, March 2.—The chamber of commerce today adopted memorials against the income tax and the Bland signature bill, also asking congress to temporarily suspend so much of the Wilson bill as affects our trade with Canada.

Dr. Zaverus Dead.

STRICKEN DEAD

TRUSTWORTHY STATEMENTS.

A recent New York dispatch reads: "Jana C. H. — a fine looking and apparently healthy man, was observed to stagger while walking in Fifth Avenue yesterday afternoon, and after taking one or two uncertain steps fell to the sidewalk. When picked up by a policeman, a physician examined his body and pronounced heart disease the cause of death. A peculiar sal feature of the case is that Mr. H. — was on his way to Maine, to settle in the home of his father. He had passed the previous ten years in the western mining country, and had a sound physique. If you have any of the coupons given in the following testimonials you should lose no time in seeking relief."

From John L. Roberts, Stratford, Pa.: "I have suffered with palpitation, irregular action, fainting and moderate pain in shoulders, side, and arms for over forty years. For twelve years have been treated without result by prominent physicians in my neighborhood and in New York. Growing constantly worse, smothering spells followed one another, so my life was often in danger and I needed constant care. As my son had been cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, he sent me three bottles. The first dose gave me instant relief. Before using the last bottle I was completely cured. Although seventy years old I feel twenty years younger. I claim my cure to be almost a miracle."

Here is a letter from Mr. John Kolles, of Cleveland, O.: "I had been troubled with my heart and stomach for years, but for sixteen months had been confined to my bed. I had four of the best doctors in the city, but none of them could benefit the weakness of my heart. I also had dropsy and rheumatism. I never took medicine that relieved me at once as Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure does. I am much stronger. My appetite is splendid. I gain strength with every dose. I have gained more in six weeks from your treatment than in sixteen months from all the doctors."

"Dr. Miles' New Cure for the Heart is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists. It is safe, effective, agreeable, and cures." Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

MR. GLADSTONE WAS CHEERED.

He Accepted the Lords' Amendments to the Parish Councils Bill.

LONDON, March 2.—Mr. Gladstone made his appearance in the house of commons at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. He was received with prolonged and enthusiastic cheers, which were repeated with even more enthusiasm as he arose to speak on the parish councils bill. He was in excellent voice and showed no signs of physical weakness.

The government, he said, was of the opinion that the time for passing the parish councils bill had come and forth between the two houses had ended, and had determined upon a decisive course. Refusal to adopt the amendments of the house of lords meant the loss of the bill. The other day the government was obliged to lose a bill because the house of lords had entirely destroyed the principle of it.

The case of the parish councils bill, however, the principle of extension of the local government remained, therefore the government was willing to withdraw its opposition to the amendments of the house of lords. It was perfectly obvious, he said, that a collision between the two houses could not be continued. (Prolonged cheers.) The government in accepting the lords' amendments did not intend to end the controversy by any means. It was a matter to be submitted to the arbitration of the lords. (Cheers.) The government intended to take the parish councils bill as it came from the house of lords, in order to save it from the wreck of the session, but he desired to make it clear that the real issue involved the right of the house of lords to interfere with the house of commons. (Enthusiastic cheers.)

Mr. Balfour, who was cheered as he arose, said that the speech just made by Mr. Gladstone amounted to a declaration of war upon the house of lords. He did not fear the premier's covert threats. If the government would appeal to the country, the Conservatives would accept the attempt to make public opinion of the house of lords the issue.

Several minor amendments were accepted without debate, and the house then adjourned until Monday.

SEIGNIORAGE BILL PASSED.

Mr. Bland's Substituted Was Adopted by the House Yesterday Afternoon.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Mr. Bland's substitute for his seigniorage bill was passed by the house yesterday afternoon by a vote of 163 to 129, fifty Democrats voting against the bill and nineteen Republicans for it.

The substitute as adopted directs the secretary of the treasury to coin the seigniorage, of the silver bullion in the treasury to the amount of $5,156,681 and issue certificates therefor as well as coin, such coin or certificates to be used in the payment of the ordinary expenditures of the treasury; and the secretary authorized to issue certificates in excess of such coinage if he deems it necessary, but not to exceed the amount named.

The second section provides for the coinage of the remaining bullion in the treasury, and the destruction of certificates issued against it. The act shall not be construed to make any change in the legal tender or redemption quality of the notes of the act of 1876.

AN ALLIANCE WAS FORMED.

France and Russia have an Offensive and Defensive Alliance.

PARIS, March 2.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Gaulois makes the statement that an offensive and defensive alliance between Russia and France was formed and the convention signed during the Franco-Russian fete, which took place in Paris, Toulon, Lyons and elsewhere during the visit of the Russian fleet to France last October.

The agreement, according to the correspondent, defines the number of men to be brought into the field by each party to the convention and determines the question of command of the allied armies and fleets under the various conditions that may arise.

Sent to John McKane.

STEALING FOR YEARS

Sensational Story That Was Told by Phil Scheig in the Floyd Trial at Minneapolis.

In Only a Few Years He Stole Over $123,000 From the Bank of Minneapolis.

When He Was $50,000 Short He Was Discharged, But Taken Back at an Increased Salary.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 2.—The details of the gigantic bank robbery of Minneapolis have come out in sensational sequence through three days' pumping of Phil Scheig, teller of the bank up to Sept. 2, 1892. In a few years Scheig stole over $123,000. Over $50,000 of this he embezzled prior to 1892. The bank officials found this first theft out and discharged him, but in a few days re-employed him at an increased salary of $5 a month in salary. He resumed his stealing almost the moment he resumed his place at the teller's window and in twenty months stole $73,000 more.

This drove Cashier Hoffert, who was Scheig's constant friend and companion, to suicide. Scheig in the already serving a sentence of seven years in Stillwater for his gigantic theft and the testimony he is giving in the case of Frank and Lou Floyd, his pals. Asked if he robbed one depositor to pay another, he said:

"No, I never robbed a depositor. I robbed the bank. I took in round numbers, as I know from the books now, about $124,000. I never made out any certificates or checks or anything of the kind. I had paid in no money. The first money I took was Oct. 14, 1886. From that time to July, 1891, I didn't take a thing. I took the money from the bank and used a certificate of deposit that had not come in. That made me about $25,000 more. I took steadily after the second amount I took in 1889."

"I took the last money about 3 o'clock in the afternoon Sept. 2, 1892. I don't know just how much money was on the money table that time. I had control of about $150,000. The counter cash was about $40,000. The balance was in the vault. I had no proof safe, to which I had not the combination. I left the bank $25,000 to do business on. I closed up the day's business and took $15,000 home. There was about $4,000 in gold."

Scheig drew a salary of $100 a year. The business public is already asking how he could have done this. The bank officials did not discover the shortage of a fortune and how the bank could pay a dividend. It is also asked why he did not tell the bank of his report to the bank examiner after Scheig left, showing a shortage in cash of only $18,000.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS

First-class Minstrel Entertainment Given by Members of Company G Last Evening at Scott's Hall.

The Audience Filled the Place to Overflowing and Was Thoroughly Delighted With Every Feature.

Record of Business of the Court for a Year According to the Court Officer's Report.

Scott's hall was taxed to its utmost capacity last evening to accommodate the large audience assembled to witness the minstrel entertainment of Company G. The promise of a first class amateur performance was fully sustained and considering the hasty preparation the boys did themselves proud in their first attempt to amuse the public. The stage was prettily decorated with bunting and military emblems.

The program was carried out without a break and the numbers received with well deserved encores. The hit of the evening was the telephone story in Swedish dialect by G. Fred Stevens, of the Bohemian club. Cash Bagley with a humorous selection, Sergt. Cook in a whistling solo and Ernest Haneagan in a song and dance also received high compliments. It appears to be the consensus of opinion that the entertainment fully met all anticipations and reflected great credit upon the company as a whole.

MOST ATROCIOUS CRIME.

A Young Girl Assaulted by a Brute in a Chicago Suburb.
CHICAGO, March 2.—Few eyes were closed in sleep last night in the pretty suburb of Maywood. The whole town was aroused, and long after midnight determined men were seeking everywhere for the author of the most atrocious crime that has ever been committed in that village.

About 7 o'clock last evening the 8-year-old daughter of George Deussen, a laborer, was followed as she was returning to her home from a party by a man who dragged her over a hedge, where she was assaulted and beaten into insensibility and left for dead. The inhuman brute struck her repeatedly and choked her so that the marks of his muscular fingers were left upon her throat.

When the child was found she was in a pitiable condition and could give only a general description of her assailant. The village officials believe they have a clue, and if the ravisher is captured a lynching will undoubtedly follow.

WHEAT CLOSED LOWER.

The Early Market Firm and Higher But a Decline Set In.

The wheat market was dull and fluctuating today. It opened at last night's closing figure and advanced 1/2c in the early part of the session on the strength of bullish news, consisting of good clearances at the Atlantic ports and higher cables and gained 1/2c more before noon. After that hour the market became easy and prices declined steadily to the close, which was 1/2c lower all round than yesterday. There was not much business transacted today, trading being light and at long intervals. There was very little demand, but holders were firm. Following were the closing prices:

Gladstone's Latest Speech.

Mr. Gladstone delivered in the British parliament yesterday what is believed to be his last speech as premier. It was a noteworthy speech, because it was directed against the continued existence
of that legislative monstrosity, the house of lords. Mr. Gladstone served notice upon the peers that they must change
their methods or fight for their existence,
and he committed the Liberal government to the insistence of the right of the house of commons to pass legislation demanded by the people, without having its work mutilated or annihilated by the house of lords.

Mr. Gladstone declared that the difference between the two houses is not of a temporary or casual nature, and that the present state of affairs cannot continue. The issue has been made, and must be decided by the authority that is higher than the house of commons, the authority of the nation. Reports state that the aged premier's remarks were received with enthusiastic cheers. It pleased the radicals immensely, although they would have preferred a speech of even more vigor and more full of fight against the lords. It was a speech that Mr. Gladstone's supporters had looked forward to nearly a week ago, when the lords' previous amendments to the parish councils bill came before the house of commons for consideration. Upon that occasion Mr.
Gladstone's remarks were tame and commonplace, containing no attack on the upper house, and his friends were visibly disappointed.

This will be one of the leading issues
before the British people in the new campaign. "The lords must be mended or ended" has been the cry of the Radicals. They would now end it. The Tories are ready to accept the issue and to fight the contest at the polls upon this question. This much was indicated by the Tory leader, Mr. Balfour, who followed Mr. Gladstone in yesterday's discussion and deplored the premier's attack upon the constitutional system of the realm. The Tory party can make a strong fight upon this issue. The British people as a rule are conservative and averse to making important changes.
Taking the nation as a whole, the Radical element is not strong. Therefore the abolition of the house of lords would not be an easy task. It is the great constitutional maxim of the British empire that the government of the realm is in the king, lords and commons in parliament assembled. Only a revolution could accomplish the abolition of the house of lords, and a revolution is not probable.

The lords were intended to be a check upon legislation in the house, but they cannot prevent forever any great measure upon which the majority of Englishmen are united. They must yield finally to the demands of the popular branch
when the question upon which the demands are based has been an issue at the polls and decided affirmatively by the people. Walter Bagehot, in his book on the "English Constitution," describes the upper house just as it is. He says an old lord will get infinite respect and speaks of the order of nobility as
of great use, not only in what it creates,
but in what it prevents. It prevents the rule of wealth—the religion of gold.
* * * There is no country where a poor devil of a millionaire is so ill off as in England.

This was written some twenty years ago, it is true, and commercial success
has since been enabled to reach in several cases. But Bagehot says correctly that the lords are in several respects
more independent than the commons, and that they are as a body accessible to no social bribe. The lords are those who give social bribes, and not those who take them. He cites the case of a critic who said that the "cure for admiring the house of lords was to go and look at it—
to look at it not on a great party field day or at a time of parade, but in the ordinary transaction of business. There are perhaps ten peers in the house, possibly only six;

three is the quorum for transacting business. A few more may dawdle in or not dawdle in, lawyers and several statesmen whom everybody knows. But the mass of the house is nothing.
Bagehot in his lively treatise predicted that "the danger of the house of lords
certainly is, that it may never be reformed. * * * It is quite safe against rough destruction, but it is not safe against inward decay. It may lose its veto, as the crown has lost its veto.
* * * Its danger is not in assassination, but atrophy; not abolition, but decline.

Reciprocity With Canada.

The New York chamber of commerce
yesterday decided to memorialize congress to except Canada from the portions of the Wilson tariff bill providing for lower duties than now exist upon articles imported from that country.
There is now in Washington a delegation
from the agricultural implement manufacturers of the United States, who object to the free admission of agricultural implements from Canada to this country, while American manufacturers are shut out of that country by a duty of 35 per cent imposed by Canada on their manufactured articles. In order that American manufacturers may be put on an equal footing with Canadians in the markets of the Dominion, they propose an addition to the tariff bill which would establish complete reciprocal trade relations between the two countries. Following is the provision which they propose:

"All articles being the growth, product or manufacture of the Dominion of Canada shall be admitted into all the markets of the United States free of duty, whenever and so long as the Dominion of Canada shall admit into all her markets all articles which are the growth, product or manufacture of the United States."

This is a provision which should command the support of every member of congress. No Republican can consistently vote against it, because it embodies the spirit of reciprocity which the late Secretary Blaine injected into the McKinley bill and which was one of its best features. It is true that the Democrats have denounced the form of reciprocity provided for by the McKinley law, but there was no objection raised against it which would apply as against the reciprocal provision outlined above. At the reciprocity convention held in St. Paul last year a plan of reciprocity similar to that now proposed by the agricultural implement men found great favor, and it was decided to continue the movement for reciprocity upon the lines of this plan. The proposer of this plan was a leading Democrat and it was favorably commented upon by the Democratic press as well as a large section of the Republican newspapers.

Duluth would benefit largely by such a broad form of reciprocity. The institution of free and unrestricted trade relations between the two countries would add the great Canadian Northwest as tributary territory to Duluth. With the removal of all duties on farm products,
a large portion of the wheat raised in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories would come to the Duluth market and be shipped through this port. The wholesale houses of Duluth would find a great and growing territory added to their territory and their trade would be largely extended. Reciprocal trade relations with Canada would be of undoubted benefit to the whole head of the lakes.

The National Educational association will not hold its convention in Duluth
next July. That is definitely settled.
Where it will be held is not decided but Asbury Park, N. J., seems to have the call. Duluth has been prevented by some of the railroads from getting the convention, and the business men of this city will not fail to remember it.

The latest political rumor is that "Boss" Doran was turned down by the appointment of Editor Barrett as postmaster at Le Sueur, he having endorsed another man. If the "boss" cannot dictate the appointment of a postmaster
in his old county, then has his power departed.

A Washington dispatch says there is renewed hope that the senate tariff bill,
when it emerges from the finance committee, will contain provision for some duty on iron ore. The close vote in the Democratic caucus on this question has had its effect upon the committee.

The Minneapolis Journal is guilty of the following: "Proctor Knott is said to be willing to go to congress again. He will be remembered as the man who tied a hard Knott in the tale of Duluth's destiny."

There are indications of an early spring and the opening of navigation at an earlier date than usual. When that time arrives, Duluth will boom with activity in business and industrial circles.

The Bland seigniorage bill has been passed by the house but it is not yet a law. It has yet to run the gauntlet of the senate and the president's veto.

March "came in like a lamb." Will
the old adage be verified?

THE DULUTH EVENING HERALD: FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1894.

The Senatorial Contest.

Senator Washburn has started from Washington to visit his friends at home and incidentally, it is said, took after his political fences which are sadly in need of repairs, if indeed, they can ever be made strong enough to again resist the assaults of his enemies in the political world. The senator wants to go back to the upper branch of congress and has been conducting a press bureau and pulling wires in that direction for many months past. For some reason, however, the masses of the people do not seem to enthuse and the senator is coming home to try to inspire a little enthusiasm into friends, who are mainly located in Minneapolis.

Almost coincident with his departure from Washington, an appointment in his home organ, the Minneapolis Tribune, a dispatch from the capital as follows: "It is known here that Governor Nelson is secretly in the field for the senatorship.
D. M. Sabin has taken it upon himself to manage the anti-Washburn elements and has gone about the state attempting to get up a combination to down the Minneapolis man. The story here is that Sabin asked John Lind to announce himself as a candidate and promised to support him. Lind's reply was a direct refusal, and the latter began at once to boom Washburn. Lind, while here, indicated that he had no use for Nelson and while protesting that he wanted to stick to his law practice, admitted that he would not refuse a nomination for governor or the senatorship.

"Nelson is said to have insisted that he would not consent to have any senator indorsed at the state convention, and an open fight between the two is expected.
Nelson is threatened. It is even hinted that Nelson's gubernatorial chances are not too good and he is in danger of being turned down. Washburn opposes this, however. One of the stories current is that Nelson is preparing to drop Dave Clough and seek a combination with Ives for lieutenant governor."

All of which is very interesting and shows that the senatorial campaign will not be devoid of some little excitement and lively maneuvering. The fact that many people think that one of the senators should be selected from outside the Twin Cities will be one of the strongest aids to Mr. Washburn's opponents.

Desire?
Grover, great Grover! beware of the Dave
When the "Highland" shall tell thee thyself
to go away.
For a cloud of defeat I see grow from a speck
Thy shadow drop.
Oh! how I hate the fate!
Oh! queen of a jule of happiness!
Thy shining of power and thy fitting role,
Then art humiliated and laid out as flat as a door.
—Ch. in Chicago Times

Doran and Baldwin.
West Duluth Star: Mike Doran is the James of Minnesota. He has a deserved or not he is sure to be blamed in some way for everything that is done by or for the Democrats of the state. We take the stock in all this talk about a fight between Baldwin and Doran. Neither of them is so affected by the head as to think that he is the Democratic party of Minnesota.

A Question of Ownership.
Mankato Free Press: The La Prairie
News says that the Sixth district belongs to Congressman Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin will undoubtedly find that the people
there will seriously question his ownership about next November.

Lucky Jadam.
Minneapolis Times: J. Adam Bede is a peculiarly fortunate fellow, located in the tract of the New York Sun, and his paper publishes about six pages of land office notices per week. Who wouldn't be Jadam Bede with or without birch bark lungs?

Lind's Deep Game.
St. Cloud Journal-Press: John Lind told a Washington correspondent that Mr. Baldwin would be a strong candidate for the Minnesota Democrats to nominate for governor. Mr. Lind is evidently conspiring to get the Democratic majority next fall exceed that of Galusha A. Grogg, of Pennsylvania.

It Pays to be Rich.
Henry, Ill. Times: The Chicago Times is doing a commendable act by showing up the tactics of the city's assessors. The best paying property and most costly structures of that metropolis
are assessed on a valuation of about 10 per cent, while the buildings owned by the poor and middle classes are assessed as high as one-third of their value. Pullman's property is assessed on a basis of only about 7 per cent of its valuation. It pays to be a rich man even in Chicago,
and causes the great Bill Nye to exclaim: "God help the rich—the poor can beg."

A Matter of Color.
Washington Star: The lawyer who carries his case to the supreme court can now have three shades of justice—Brown,
Gray and White.

A Man of Mark.
Charleston News and Courier: "Secretary Gresham's name is," it is said, "on the pension list, but he declines to receive a pension." From which it is evident that Mr. Gresham would still be a marked man in the pension list even if he were not so prominent in public life.

One of His Duties.
Chicago Tribune: The Hawaiian
papers should quit giving Minister Willis. He can't help appearing ridiculous. That is partly because he is there for. It goes with his job.

Fame Incomplete.
Boston Globe: The West has been offered $100,000 a week to play baseball, as everybody knows, but has been asked yet to write an article for the Forum or
the North American Review?

SCARE ON A STEAMER.

A Box Supposed to Contain Dynamite Thrown Overboard.

NEW YORK, March 2.—There was a dynamite scare on board the White Star steamer Teutonic, which reached port yesterday. Among the passengers were Col. Gouraud, Thomas A. Edison's partner, John B. Lane, of London, and R. B.
Graham, an English inventor. A package of half a dozen cigarboxes, were wrapped in an old newspaper and were carried by one of the party.

The instructions to the steward were to put it in the baggage room and be careful as it was very valuable. The steward approached one of the party on the second day out and inquired if any one of the three gentlemen owned the package. He was told they did, and was again cautioned to guard it well, as it was very valuable. He said it was impossible to do so, as it had been thrown overboard.

The men working in the baggage room
had become suspicious of the package
on account of archaic scars, now prevailing in London. They thought it must be an infernal machine, as several chemical terms were printed on the boxes, some of which were charged.
One of the boxes had the words "dolomite five minims" in small letters, and which did not escape the eyes of the men.

Capt. Cameron was sent for and he called for Purser Russell, and then Dr.
Radmore was brought in consultation.
The box was opened, but none of the officers could make out the nature of the powder it contained. The captain finally ordered the men to open the box, which was done. Col. Gouraud and the other members of the party were very much vexed over the occurrence. The chemical nature of which is a secret, were to be used by the colonel in his lectures, and were harmless.

HEAVY LOSS FOR TIFFANYS.

A Gold Cup Studded With Gems and Worth
$30,000 Stolen.

NEW YORK, March 1.—A morning
paper says: Tiffany & Co. are mourning the loss of one of their most beautiful and valuable creations. In some mysterious manner last Monday night a gold cup studded with gems, worth when finished $30,000, was stolen from their factory at Prince and Mulberry streets.
The case has been kept very secret, but
the following facts have come to light:
The cup was in the safe of the firm
to Tiffany's $30,000 worth of gold bullion
which he desired them to use in making a cup for a present. The cup was to be ornamented with diamonds and other jewels to be furnished by Tiffany & Co.
and was to be worth when complete $50,000.

It had been nearly finished and had been, during Monday afternoon, in the hands of the designer in the chasing room of the firm. The cup was in the hands of the designer in the chasing room of the firm. He handed it in at night, and it was placed in an ordinary glass closet with a small, simple lock. As two night watchmen were constantly duty in the building the superintendent thought no
further precautions were necessary.

On Tuesday morning the treasure had disappeared. Word was at once sent to the central detective office, and some of the best men put on the case, and after their whole attention was given to the case, they were able to find the cup.
Up to the present time there have been no arrests.

THE DEXTER BANK ROBBERY.

The Detectives are Gathering Up Threads of Evidence.

DEXTER, Mich., March 2.—The excitement over yesterday's robbery of the Dexter Savings bank still runs high.
Many plausible theories have been advanced and it is said that arrests will soon be made.

Small threads of evidence are being gathered up, and the state of the fact that no one was seen either entering or escaping from the bank is beginning to play an important part with the detectives.

It develops this morning that the burglars left only $80 in the safe. Young Gregory, who was snatched, is doing as well as can be expected.

Was Badly Burned.
BENTON HARBOR, Mich., March 2.—
The house of John J. Heston, located in the suburbs, together with its contents, was destroyed by fire early this morning.

Mr. Heston was badly burned, and Mrs. Heston was badly burned, and their children were badly burned, and their property was completely burned off.

Miss Gilman's Marriage.
ST. CLOUD, March 2.—Miss Gertrude Gilman, second daughter of the ex-ecutive
governor, was married to W. T.
Meigs, of Benton, Wash., yesterday afternoon. Rev. C. S. Plummer, of St.
Joseph Episcopal church, officiated. The wedding was a very quiet one. The newly married couple left last night for Washington state.

All Were Deafened.
RICHMOND, Va., March 2.—In the house of delegates yesterday, the senate resolution providing for a settlement with West Virginia of the portion of debt this commonwealth should bear, was defeated
by a vote of 58 to 35, and the substitutes
to the measure were rejected.

Dastardly Attempt.
INDIANAPOLIS, March 2.—An attempt was made to blow up the brick kiln of James Twinn with dynamite yesterday. A cylindrical package was found in the kiln just before the fires were started and the plot failed. No reason for the attempt is known.

Fergus' New Pastor.
FERGUS FALLS, March 2.—The Congregational church has extended call to Rev. W. A. Wallace, of Duluth, and he has accepted.

A Patriotic Teacher.
Kansas City Star: It is proper to commend the general teaching and example of Archbishop Ireland. He illustrates in his high office the character of a true American citizen. This he has done all his life, in war and peace. His counsels are always sensible and patriotic. If they were always followed, the wretched people who would array Americans against each other on the ground of religion would have no following, and the foolish and ungrounded fears would vanish into thin air.

THE SEAMY SIDE

Sensational Secrets of Chicago Are to be Exposed in Editor Stead's Forthcoming New Book.

Chicago's Millionaires Come in for a Large Notice and They Are Handled With-out Gloves.

Gives Names of Deacons and Other Church Officials Who Rent Property for Vile Uses.

The Edition May be Suppressed or Bought Up by the Parties Who Are Interested.

CHICAGO, March 3.—"If Christ Came to Chicago," Editor W. T. Stead's new book, the first edition of which is soon to appear unless it is bought up or suppressed by parties interested, promises to supply information of the most sensational kind. The book is now in the hands of the publishers and will be placed on sale next week. Chicago's millionaires come in for a large notice in the new volume, and are handled by Mr. Stead without gloves. This fact is not a secret, but the book is so full of sensational revelations that it is said he has offered to buy up the entire edition from the publishers. The work will show to full advantage the seamy side of Chicago. There is the tramp, and, as a companion picture the millionaire. There is the fallen woman, who, in turn, is offset by the idle woman of fashion, who figures prominently among the Chicago "400" but who is among the most respectable in town, says the author. There is a sketch of a lodging house precinct in the First ward, and a picture, drawn from life, of a white drinking politician. These tramps, millionaires, fallen women, society ladies and drinking politicians heeler the author exhibits as types; as some of the Chicago which have been made of Christ here in Chicago.

All these exposures and reproductions will be anything but grateful to the patrons of Chicago's so-called "best" society. But the feature that will create the most havoc among this class is a little colored map that Mr. Stead has accurately drawn. It is a correct plan of certain sections of Chicago, with black, green, red and yellow blotches marking the various districts. The black marks indicate dives and houses of prostitution; the red, low saloons and gambling; the green, gambling houses; the yellow, resorts of an even worse description than the foregoing.

Mr. Stead has carefully discovered who owns this "colored" property. In a majority of cases it is the Chicago millionaires who pose as philanthropists and pass for men of exalted and pious aims. Many of them are deacons and officials in certain aristocratic religious congregations, while renting their property for all sorts of vile purposes. There is no glossing over of the matter. Mr. Stead will give the full name of the owner of the property, with the use to which it is put.

An important feature of this work is the exposure of the assessment frauds. One curious coincidence established by Mr. Stead is that the same names appear on the lists of the greatest discrepancy exists belong to the same church. Taking it all in all, the book is a revelation. The masses, Mr. Stead's book may possibly not meet with favor among the "best" Chicago society. It may be suppressed, should powerful influences which seem not unlikely be brought to bear.

Almost coincident with the publication of his book Editor Stead will sail from New York for Europe. Yesterday at 5 o'clock, accompanied by his son William, who has been his companion on his many trips while here, he left for the East on the Pennsylvania limited. When Editor Stead left yesterday afternoon he said that he would probably return to America in October and publish another work on his social affairs.

Ever since the A. P. A. movement began to attract popular attention, Mr. Stead has been an earnest inquirer about the objects of the association and the causes that called it into existence. He has conferred upon the subject with leading Catholics and Protestants of the city and gathered an immense amount of data. In a manner that is characteristic of Mr. Stead he proposes to present his facts and deductions to the pope, and before his departure yesterday he said: "I shall go to Rome in the summer and have a talk with the pope on this American Protective association; it is a movement that is assuming quite large importance, and as Catholics are the parties at whose shafts are aimed I think the pope should be acquainted with the situation as it appears to me outside. I have some suggestions to make, but I shall make them to the pontiff and not to the public."

New President of Uruguay. BUENOS AYRES, March 3.—A dispatch from Montevideo says that M. Elauri was yesterday elected president of Uruguay. He was president twenty years ago.

Fire in Buffalo. BUFFALO, March 3.—The machine shop of the Standard Oil works, corner of Babcock and Elk streets, caught fire from an unknown cause at 4 o'clock this morning and was completely destroyed. Loss, $35,000; insured.

Weir and Grillo Matched. NEW YORK, March 3.—Like Weir, the "Belmont Spider" and Young Grillo have signed articles to fight on March 17 at Chicago, eight rounds at catch weights for a purse of $1500.

FOR RELIEF OF EMPLOYEES.

A Fund For Disabled Members of the Railway Mail Service.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Mr. Wheeler has offered in the house a bill for the relief of injured and disabled employees of the railway mail service. The measure directs the postmaster general to withhold from the salary of every person employed in the classified railway mail service an amount equal to 1 per cent of his salary.

The amount withheld is to constitute the "railway mail service relief fund," and is to be held in the treasury for the relief of the injured and disabled employees of the service. The injured and disabled are to be allowed the following sums per year: Employees of the first class, $300; the second, $150; the third, $100; the fourth, $50; and the fifth, $25. In case an employee is killed in the line of duty or dies from injuries received within one year from the accident and leaves a widow or minor children under 16 years of age, the widow or child is to receive from the fund an amount equal to one year's salary of the employee.

"Any employee who, after twenty years' service, becomes incapacitated to perform satisfactory service, may be retired and receive for the remainder of his life the salary he was drawing when retired."

IMPORTANT PENSION CASE. A Decision by Assistant Secretary Reynolds Making a New Ruling.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Assistant Secretary Reynolds has decided a case which will render pensionable a meritorious class of claimants under the act of June 27, 1890, who were excluded under the previous decisions of the department. The case is that of Mary E. Walker, who served a term of ninety days and been honorably discharged from the service and while serving his second term of office was killed, but not in the line of duty. His claim was rejected by the pension bureau in conformity with the departmental decisions that a soldier, not a civilian, is entitled to a pension, notwithstanding the fact that he had served ninety days or more and had been honorably discharged from a previous enlistment.

The action of pension bureau of June 23, 1891, rejecting the widow's claim, is reversed and the commissioner of pensions is directed to proceed to adjudicate this and all similar cases in accordance with the rule as herein indicated.

BURNED BY THE RIOTERS. A Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad Bridge Destroyed Today.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 3.—A mob of over 100 rioters burned the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad bridge at Coburn creek early this morning. This bridge carries all the shipments from the C. & O. creek branch and will compel all of the mines on that branch to close down.

The sheriff with 400 militiamen and half as many deputies is now at the scene. It is not thought that the rioters will dare to make an open attack.

A Whole Family Poisoned. NEWTON, Kan., March 3.—The entire family of E. L. Snyder, a merchant of Sedgewick, a few miles from here, was accidentally poisoned by some unknown substance in the coffee yesterday noon.

Mrs. Snyder, in the few hours was in terrible agony and Mr. Snyder died last night. It is not expected that the children will survive.

Fought Like Tigers. FINDLAY, Ohio, March 3.—Clinton Smith, champion welterweight of Ohio, whipped Elmer Prater, of Defiance, in two rounds, for $100 and the championship of Ohio, in a barn twelve miles north of this city Thursday night. Both men fought like tigers.

Disappointed in Love. DETROIT, March 3.—Chickanoir Tomahari, a native of Japan, aged 22, who came to this country three years ago to study chemistry at a local laboratory, committed suicide yesterday morning. Disappointment in a love affair is said to be the cause of the act.

A Mississippi Tragedy. MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 3.—Rev. W. P. Rattiffe, a Populist representative in the Mississippi legislature, shot and killed S. A. Jackson, a Democratic member of the same body at Kosciusko, Miss., today. Two other men were also killed at the same time.

Aquitted of Murder. BEAVER CITY, Neb., March 3.—S. M. Lester, who shot and killed William Elliott three months ago, was yesterday acquitted of the charge of murder, the jury being out sixteen hours.

A Woman Nominated. CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 3.—In the city convention of the Populists and Democrats held last night, Miss Carrie Pell was nominated for the office of city clerk. This is the first nomination of a woman to a public office made in the state.

An Old Lake Captain Dead. AMHERSTBURG, Ont., March 3.—Capt. Alex. Wilcox, a well known lake captain, died here last night aged 71. He commanded the J. R. McClellan and other tugs when that class of boats did all the towing on the great lakes.

Crippled by Car Wheels. VIRGINIA, Minn., March 3.—James Miller, employee of Wolf & King, while getting off the Duluth, Missabe & Northern train at Wolf station, fell under the train and had his left arm taken off.

A Democratic Caucus. WASHINGTON, March 3.—The Democratic caucus to consider how best a quorum may be established of members who are present and not voting, will be held next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Pension Bill. WASHINGTON, March 3.—The house today is in committee of the whole on the pension appropriation bill, and the debate is still proceeding.

BIG ENTERPRISE

A Syndicate of Eastern Capitalists is Preparing to Build a Railroad Through Cook County.

Many Filings Have Been Made on Valuable Mineral Lands, Including Iron, Nickel and Copper.

Three Routes for the New Road Surveyed and Building Will Commence Early in May.

The Claim Made That Cook County is the Richest Section of Minnesota in Minerals.

ST. PAUL, March 3.—[Special to The Herald.]—T. C. Lewis, of Chicago, who has been in the city for several days past, concluded some important business and left for the East last evening. Mr. Lewis represents a syndicate of Eastern capitalists who are interested in the Cook county mineral lands and are preparing to build a railroad from the north shore to Lake Vermilion. The members of the syndicate have made several filings on valuable mineral lands in that county, including iron, nickel and copper, so Mr. Lewis says.

During his visit here he has made several visits to the capitol and consulted with the railroad and warehouse commission, the state auditor and others regarding the laws governing the right-of-way, the acquiring of mineral leases, etc. Yesterday he secured five leases in town 53, range 1 east. Mr. Lewis stated that the syndicate expected to have matters ready to commence building the road early in May, and if the financial conditions warranted it they would push the line to completion as rapidly as possible. They expect to secure valuable dock privileges on the north shore and do a big business. They have had prospectors out through the country for a year past and have three routes for the new road surveyed.

They expect to open a number of new mines in connection with the road and claim to have made discoveries which show that Cook county is by far the richest section of Minnesota in minerals. A prospectus will be issued in May and as soon as good weather is assured it is proposed to bring a large delegation of capitalists from the East and show them the country, as was done on the Mesabian range. The Cook county syndicate, headed by Mr. Lewis, the coal baron, and others are said to be interested in the deal.

ROSEBERY WILL BE PREMIER. Lord Kimberley Will Succeed Him in the Foreign Office.

LONDON, March 3.—Earl Spencer, John Morley and Mr. Acland, who is looked upon as possibly Mr. Morley's successor as chief secretary for Ireland, paid a visit to Lord Rosebery in Berkeley square this morning. A message was conveyed to Lord Rosebery summoning him to Windsor, and he left Paddington station at 1 o'clock. Earl Kimberley, Lord Spencer, Sir William Harcourt and Sir Charles Lennox Peel, clerk of the privy council, arrived at Windsor at 1 o'clock, where they met Mr. Gladstone.

The proceedings of the council at Windsor were of the ordinary character. The council arranged for the prorogation of parliament and the opening of a new session. It is believed that, after the adjournment of the council, Mr. Gladstone formally tendered to the queen his resignation of the offices he held in the ministry.

Current gossip has it that Lord Rosebery's premiership being conceded the earl of Kimberley, now lord president of the council and secretary of state for India, will be made secretary of state for foreign affairs, and that John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, will succeed the earl of Kimberley in the India office.

Salesman Missing. ST. LOUIS, March 3.—H. C. Lord, traveling salesman for the Magnetic Shoe company, of Boston, is missing in this city. He came here a week ago and after registering at Hurst's hotel, began drinking heavily. He left the hotel a week ago and has not been heard of since. The police are trying to locate him.

A Heavy Sentence. PHILADELPHIA, March 3.—Theodore F. Baker, ex-paying teller of the Consolidated National bank, who pleaded guilty last week in the United States district court to the embezzlement of $47,000 from the bank, was yesterday sentenced to seven years and six months' imprisonment.

WAS A HORRIBLE MASSACRE.

The Recent Defeat of the Brazilian Rebels Was Complete.

NEW YORK, March 3.—The Herald's correspondent in Rio Grande sends particulars of the engagement between the government troops and insurgents near Sarandi, in which the rebels were defeated. They lost 400 men in the battle. The loyal troops commanded by Gen. Hipolito met the rebel forces under Gens. Cabada, Ulysses and David. After a fight lasting many hours, the rebels were totally defeated and fled in disorder. The battle was, in fact, a horrible massacre. Four hundred of the rebels were left dead on the field. The government forces also captured many prisoners.

The entire battalion commanded by Ernesto Paiva and Antonio Vargas was massacred. Gens. Cabada, Ulysses and David are flying to the western states. They are closely pursued by a detachment of the government troops.

BRIDGE BILLS DOOMED. Mr. Haugen's Motion for Unanimous Consent to Consider the Duluth and Superior Bill Objected To.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—[Special to The Herald.]—The hope is now gone for the passage for either of the bills for bridging the St. Louis river at Duluth. Representative Haugen this morning called up the Duluth and Superior bridge company's bill and asked unanimous consent for its consideration. Representative Updegraff, of Iowa, promptly objected, and that settled the matter. As the bill for the Grassy Point bridge hinged on the decision of the house in the case of the other bridge, that could not be considered. Representative Baldwin is very much disappointed and Haugen is very angry. The latter said: "I am satisfied that we cannot pass these bills this session. It could only be done by unanimous consent and today's proceedings show we cannot get that. Updegraff must be interested in some other bill for a bridge at this point. I cannot see any other reason for his objection." Mr. Updegraff said he objected on the ground that there was serious opposition to the bill.

THE JURY DISCHARGED. A Sensation in the Wisconsin Roster Case This Morning.

MADISON, Wis., March 3.—A sensation developed in the Roster trial today. Attorney Olin for the plaintiffs presenting to the court the affidavits of four law students to the effect that Reinhardt Reble, one of the jury had expressed an opinion in relation to the case. This occurred last Wednesday evening.

The judge at once discharged the entire jury and a summoned special venire returnable Monday. The prosecution was anxious to proceed with eleven jurors, but the defense objected. The episode will delay the trial a week.

Won by Sissons. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 3.—George Sissons, of New Orleans, and Danny Russell, of Bridgeport, fought twenty-seven rounds in a hall near Newark, N. J., early this morning for $500 a side, and Sissons was awarded the victory on a foul.

February Weather Report. February was a warm month, although there were some pretty cold days. The mean temperature of the month was 15 degrees, the highest temperature being 45 degrees on the 7th and the lowest 21 degrees below on the 20th. The prevailing winds were west and the total movement was 434 miles. The maximum velocity was 25 miles on the 22nd. The total precipitation during the month was 0.25, the smallest of 13 years with but three exceptions. Total number of cloudless days, 11; partly cloudy, 9; cloudy, 8.

The District Court. The jury in the case of Oscar A. Peterson vs. B. B. Richards Lumber company, returned a verdict for $1047.10 for the plaintiff, last evening. A stay of thirty days was granted.

The appeal of William Getty from the award of the commissioners in the matter of the condemnation of lands for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, is on trial today.

Low Ore Prices. The Marine Review reports that recent sales of Chandler ore were made at $2.00 @2.05, and of Canton ore at $2.25. The latter sale is claimed to indicate that the price of Biwabik, Mountain Iron and others may even drop below $2.50. Superintendent Florida, of the Missabe Mountain mine, says the Consolidated has not control of it and that 400,000 tons will be mined and shipped this season, giving employment to 500 men.

GOLD AT RAINY LAKE

A Winter Trip Through the Rainy Lake Country and a Description of Its Character.

Gold Exists, and Plenty of It, If the Quartz and Schist Are Properly Worked.

The Formation is Similar to That at the Homestake Mine in the Black Hills.

A correspondent writes from Rainy Lake river to the Minneapolis Tribune as follows: Here we are at last, perched on the topmost round of Uncle Sam's boundary ladder, from which point of vantage we can overlook not only his great domain spread out far below, but with a nearer ken are able to see some of the new attractions of the Minnesota gold fields. I mistake a little in saying that we are at the international boundary. We are on shore, and the boundary, as fixed in the warlike times when it was "Forty-nine, forty or fight" when we had the tussle with Great Britain that the boundary should go above the 49th parallel—lies still a little distance away. The center line of the navigable waters is that fixed for the boundary, which puts the imaginary line in the middle of the Rainy river near where I write, and an average of two or three miles from shore a little to the eastward, through the main body of Rainy Lake.

This portion of the international boundary is by no means farthest north and thus farthest from "God's folks." For if you journey westward down the mighty Rainy, cross the Lake of the Woods and ascend to the northwest angle, which is our farthest north boundary, your perch there will be nearly 100 miles nearer the "Land of the Midnight Sun" than is Rainy lake. But the latter is near enough to the polar point for all present purposes.

Your correspondent made the journey here through the wilderness, which was absolutely trackless till within the last ninety days, having left the railroad at Grand Rapids, at the west end of the Mesaba range. This route gave an opportunity of comparing the vast areas of unsettled lands in Northern Minnesota with the immensity of the water routes described, which latter I had previously covered. From Grand Rapids, we crossed not less than seventy-five miles, good and long along the Mesaba range and found not a bona fide settler on the whole distance until near Tower. From Tower to "Rainy Lake City," so-called, is very nearly, if not quite another seventy-five miles, and real settlers missing on this route as well as the other. On the 150 miles of journey, such as tried the livers of the biggest, liver-eaters among us, jolting and pumping, we crossed but two counties, Itasca and St. Louis, the combined area of which are equal to one-fifth of all the new English states; they are equal to the combined areas of Massachusetts and Connecticut, are a half greater than Vermont or New Hampshire, and they would make twelve states the size of Rhode Island. And yet in these counties of something like 1,000 square miles there may not be, outside of the cities of Duluth, Grand Rapids and Tower, and the small mining towns which have sprung up, too bona fide settlers permanently located on homesteads. On mining and timber claims there are thousands, but in general no commencement is made toward permanent settlement, and yet there are abundant good farming lands.

This city to be on an eastern side of the bay, its west side on Rainy lake side resting on the bay, and its north side on Rainy lake shore of Rainy lake. The gold bearing rocks crop out everywhere along the lake side, and also from the islands seen from the shore. Black bay is an extension south from Rainy lake, and is about three by five miles in extent. There are a few shanties and other "buildings" here and there, the most pretentious of which is a trading post and store of heavy logs which is being built by J. H. Hallett, of Brainerd, and formerly of Denver, a pioneer of pioneering. Shacks and other structures are going up, including the "office" of the Rainy Lake Herald, which are another fortnight will be dishing up the news to the inhabitants present and future, the first newspaper of the region. It is to be issued by Duluth parties in the interest of the townsites, which is owned by A. S. Chase and H. Beier.

The more probable site of the future permanent town is at the falls on the American side of what was formerly the old trading post of Ft. Francis, belonging to the Hudson Bay company. This point is the actual mouth of Rainy lake, and a small dam erected there, at a cost of but a few thousand dollars, will flow 250 square miles of waters unbroken except by beautiful islands, and navigable for the largest craft.

The falls could be improved with a minimum of expense and difficulty, owing to the favorable formation of the solid rock and the shores. In fact, they narrowly escaped improvement in the remote past by the Canadian government, which selected this as the western point on the interior waters for a city, and commenced locks and dams for making continuous navigation from the Lake of the Woods to Rainy lake. The government work was knocked out after considerable had been expended on it by the Canadian Pacific railroad interests. The actual mouth of the Rainy lake is three miles above the falls, and the fall of the river in the distance is 2 1/2 feet. Experts compute the water power at 35,000 horse power, without raising the natural head, and 50,000 horse power by a dam of nine feet. Such a dam would raise Rainy lake 6 1/2 feet, and make a mill pond of 3 1/2 square miles. The drainage area above the falls is 17,000 square miles, and the rainfall is four to five inches greater than Minnesota. The dam at the falls would be less than 100 feet long.

The name of the town at the falls is not yet decided on, but will be known in the future by either Rainy River Falls, or Keoching, the latter being the Chippewa for Rainy river. At the present mail comes here to Ft. Francis by the Canadian government, coming "once in a while." The postoffice of Rainy Lake has been established for the new town on the Black bay, commencing as a weekly mail.

Last, and by no means least, what of the gold discoveries, and the prospect of the future by either Rainy River Falls, or Keoching, the latter being the Chippewa for Rainy river. At the present mail comes here to Ft. Francis by the Canadian government, coming "once in a while." The postoffice of Rainy Lake has been established for the new town on the Black bay, commencing as a weekly mail.

First of all, there are few or no "discoveries." The whole excitement has developed little or no more than has been known for some time, and the most of it for many years. It is very amusing to meet this and that "original discoverer," whose claims, however, amount to little more, on the whole, than having followed the gold bearing rock into places where it has not been before explored, and examined the rocks, which are, of course, two well developed ranges or reaches of the rock, the one nearest the Rainy river, stretching for thirty or forty miles to the north, and the other a width of a mile or two at the mouth of the Big Fork to nothing a little east of Black Bay. The site of Rainy Lake City is on the Black bay, the other range is extended in the Vermilion region, and westward of it, T. B. Walker, of Minneapolis, comes as near being one of the "original discoverers" as any one yet claiming it, he having as early as 1895 or 1896 been sent as an expert to explore the lands in the Vermilion region. The geological reports of 1897 descriptions were given of these gold bearing rocks just as they are at present. Later the developments among the same rocks, southward along the east shore of the Lake of the Woods, completed the picture that the rock is all the same, and the actual operations in mines like the Sultana, Gold Hill, etc., have led to the present excitement on the American side.

The rock is well known to geologists as the green schist or chloritic formation. The metal is in the schist, and is carried in quartz veins, which are of some fine gold found, but not in any quantities. There are reports of findings late last fall, in the depressions of the schist, which is a trading post and store of heavy logs which is be-

The naked fact is that the quartz veins, so far as demonstrated, are not sufficiently mineralized, that is, are not rich enough to pay under ordinary circumstances. Yet the probability is that there is such a vast amount of mineral-bearing rock that if the whole can be utilized it will pay as an aggregate and pay well. In this case it becomes a question of cheap and economical reduction. One of the best inventors, a chemist, who has investigated, puts it this way:

"No one knows, positively, of course. But the chances are that if the stamp mills can be put in that will for a low price crush both the quartz and the schist, we shall have paying mineral from the first. When we have gone deeper no one can say what we may find."

It is to be said, also, that the fact is, that everywhere examined, the veins hold out well and are not subject to the ever to be dreaded "pinching out." The formation and the circumstances are said by experts here on the ground to be exactly the same as in the Black Hills country, and that the celebrated Homestake mine, which is so valuable, is the same, the mineral being taken from both the quartz and the schist. By crushing immense quantities of the grade mineral-bearing rock, and doing it cheaply, it pays immensely, although the quartz alone would not pay the working. In our case here we can make the cost of running the stamp mills a minimum by utilizing the great water power.

PARBOILED BY STEAM

Horrible Death of an Engineer Due to an Explosion in Powder Works in Pennsylvania.

The Explosion Was Terrible and the Force Was Felt Several Miles in Every Direction.

Thomas Weir Was Scalded to Death and Wesley Bantlin and Archie Dymond Badly Mangled.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 3.—The barrel mill of the Moose Powder company, at the village of Moose, five miles from this city, exploded this morning about 9 o'clock with a force that was felt several miles in every direction. One man was killed and two badly injured that their recovery is doubtful. The victims are: Thomas Weir, engineer, scalded to death; Wesley Bantlin and Archie Dymond, barrel men, badly mangled and burned.

The explosion was terrific in its nature and did much damage to property. Every window in the town of Moose was smashed; store fronts were blown in; general devastation marks the fearful concussion. In Moose numbers of chimneys were also toppled from roof tops.

Women and children fled in terror and men ran towards the streets and towards the mills to see the extent of the explosion there. Bantlin and Dymond were alone in the barrel mill at the time. They were working about the engines, fully 200 feet away, when the explosion occurred.

The force raised the engines and disconnected the steam pipes. Weir was hurled to the floor and before he could rise was enclosed in a cloud of steam that parboiled him, causing quick death.

The men were all married and have families.

CATARH OF THE HEAD.

"This," say the Copeland physicians, "is the most prevalent form of Catarrh, and results from neglected colds, inhalation of irritating particles of dust and smoke. The symptoms which this condition indicates are explained by the physicians' questions. Do they apply to your case?"

"Have you a run nose?" "Does the nose feel hot and burn?" "Do you sneeze a great deal?" "Is there a constant itching in the nose?" "Do you see any mucus?" "Is there a pain in front of the head?" "Is there a pain in the back of the head?" "Are you losing your sense of taste?" "Does your nose discharge?" "Do you blow out much?" "Do you have a headache?" "Is the nose sore and tender?" The Revival of Business.
The trade revival issued by the commercial agencies this week are of a decidedly cheerful character. It is gratifying to learn that forty resurrections of factories are reported, contrasted with two shut downs, although there are several instances of reduction of wages,
thus restricting the purchasing power of the workmen. But reduced wages are infinitely better than no work, and when the improvement, which has been advancing slowly but surely, reaches a more advanced stage, there will no doubt be a return to the old scale of wages. Therefore the wage situation now can be viewed in complacency, in view of the prospect in the not distant future.

The resumption of operations in the various industries will improve the situation in commercial and financial circles.
This renewal of industrial activity is produced by the slowly growing demand
caused by gradual exhaustion of stocks held by dealers. Dealing with this very feature recently, the Detroit News pointed out that industry and business depend on the every-day wants of mankind. The industrial world is a great producer, but it should not be forgotten that all the world is a tremendous consumer. If everybody should stop working and nobody should find anything to do—and many have suffered themselves to think that this was what the world was coming to—every dollar of the acquired wealth
of the world, including buildings, furniture, machinery, tools, clothing and ornaments, if it were possible to eat these things, would suffice to keep all the people of the world alive about three and a half years.

This shows that the few months of idleness or curtailing of work which the world, and especially the American world, has suffered has been enough to make a tremendous draft upon the accumulated produce. Demand has actually begun to eat in on the supply, and we have had to go to work from the stress of circumstances. These conditions are independent of tariffs and systems of finance, and the time can never come, as long as human nature continues what it is now, when any large group of people will need to despair of being able to earn their living by the sweat of their brow.

The point made by the Detroit paper
was that while the industrial and financial policies of nations count for something, they do not count for everything, as some people are prone to think. This was as true when the scare began many months ago as it is now, but the whole stock in trade of the politicians is to create hard times so as to lay the blame
on the other fellows, and against them must be charged a large portion of the depression which has existed in commercial and industrial circles. It would not be correct to say that the politicians produced the panic, but that they magnified it at the beginning and caused many timid people to be scared there can be no doubt. Happily the country has survived all this scare and has started on the return to prosperity. The dole-ful reports that came from all sections of the country six months ago are now conspicuous by their absence. There is manifest confidence everywhere and the demand created by the every-day wants of mankind, which can be no longer satisfied by the depleted stocks in the hands of consumers, merchants and manufacturers, will compel the resumption of work in every factory in the land.

To End the Spoils System.
Representative Bailey, of Texas, has entered upon a very commendable work,
that of breaking up the "spoils system,"
and there is no doubt that he can do it,
if he can secure the co-operation of the representatives and senators in congress.
It is his purpose shortly to introduce a bill, making it unlawful for senators and representatives to recommend to the president and the heads of departments
the appointment of any person to public office.

In explaining this measure to a reporter, Mr. Bailey said he favored such a law, in the first place, because it is the only possible way to secure the separation and independence, which the framers of the constitution designed should exist, between the executive and legislative departments of the government. It is now the duty of the president to recommend to congress "such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient"

and he has the right to veto such as he may consider unwise
or injurious. Certainly, Mr.
Bailey contends and many people will endorse the idea, this is as much power
as any one man ought to exercise over the legislation of a free and intelligent people, without supplementing it by a system of appointments which can be
and has been used, to influence the action of congress. If you forbid the legislator to solicit appointments, you remove him
at once from the hope of favor, as well as from the fear of punishment, and his vote will then be determined by his own judgment.

In the second place, he favors such a law from a party standpoint, because if congressmen could not make recommendations, there would be no resentments growing out of them. Doubtless, differences would arise between the president and his party friends in congress, but they would be over public questions and the country would be spared the humiliation of seeing the fate of important measures depend upon the skill with which cabinet officers can bestow favors.

Lastly, Mr. Bailey believes that a law of this character would greatly relieve the senators and representatives themselves. These appointments involve a good deal of work and an infinite deal of worry, which ought to be expended upon legislative matters, and yet, when we have done our best to ascertain the fitness of the applicants and to respect the preference of the people, then every time one man is appointed, five are disappointed. The result of it all is, that members of congress often find the appointment of a fourth-class postmaster
as much a factor in their re-elections as the most vital question of political economy.

The Next Collector of Customs.
Emil Olund came to Duluth in April, 1892, and in the fall of the same year he has been nominated for county treasurer by the Democrats and Populists because no one else wanted the empty honor. He was not a citizen when nominated, but he is now a citizen, and he has been nominated by the district court show that on Sept. 25, 1892, he secured his citizenship papers. Consequently Mr.
Olund has been a citizen of the United States for about eighteen months and within the same space of time has been a Populist and a Democrat.

This is the brief history of the man whose appointment as collector of customs at Duluth is said to have received Major Baldwin's recommendation. Leading Democrats in Duluth say they never heard of the man. Others say they have heard his name mentioned but they never saw him. To nine-tenths or more of the Democrats he is entirely unknown. Democrats who have always taken a leading part in the campaigns say that Mr. Olund never did any work in the party's behalf to their knowledge,
and they are amazed that Major Baldwin
has recommended him for this important position.

The sentiment of the Democrats appears to be strongly in favor of Alderman Morris Thomas for collector.
Mr. Thomas is a Democrat of whose party loyalty there is no doubt. His services to the party during many years past have been great. He has worked hard for Democracy and has contributed liberally to its campaign funds. At present he is a member of the state central committee, which is in itself an indication of his high standing in the party. As between Mr.
Olund and Mr. Thomas, the business men of Duluth, those who are brought in frequent, direct relations with the customs officials, are unanimously, regardless of political ties, in favor of Mr.
Thomas.

Col. "Bob" Carr is representing Governor McCook in the mining region in West Virginia where the rioting has occurred during the past few days, and yesterday he declared martial law there.
The gallant colonel will have some harrowing tales of war to relate the next time he visits Duluth.

The Democratic members of the house
will hold a caucus Tuesday night to decide how to count a quorum when it is actually present. They should have attended to this many weeks ago and spared
the country the spectacle of a minority defying a majority.

The Anoka Union calls ex-Senator La Due "an old fossil." This may be interpreted by the Laverne statesman as an insult and then watch the hair fly when he starts after "old man Peace."

At Labor's Expense.
The Mesaba Range: While A. J.
Trinity believes that Cuban mines cannot at present successfully compete with the Lake Superior fields in this regard, it is because wages are low in this region. That is the situation in a nutshell. Under free trade our ore will be mined, but at the expense of labor.

Judson All Right.
Anoka Herald: Bude is United States
marshal, despite the efforts of the bosses, great and small. Bude is all right—that is, as nearly right as a Democrat can be.

THE CITIZENS' MEETING.
Resolutions Adopted Favoring a Reduction in City Expenses.

The taxpayers' meeting was called to order at the board of trade rooms yesterday about 3:30 o'clock, about 100 being present. Upon the suggestion of Ed Ingalls, B. Silberstein was made chairman and R. C. Mitchell, secretary.

Mr. Silberstein read the call and said the meeting was called to devise ways and means of economy and suggest them to the council.

Ed Ingalls took the floor first. He did not want the new council to think that the taxpayers were meddling, but said
there were many ways in which expenses
could be reduced. The police salaries,
he said, are too high, seventy-three men getting $70 a piece. The fire department was also declared to be too expensive. The board of public works he called the fifth wheel of the wagon and said it ought to be removed.

Twenty-five per cent could be cut off all around and the government run just as well.

Then there was some discussion as to the manner in which the new aldermen would feel about having suggestions made.
E. G. Swandstrom thought they ought to be unfeeling. J. D. Ray had no doubt that the new council is all right but believed that the taxpayers had a right to assert their views at any time. Ed Ingalls said that there was no desire to dictate but simply to give moral backing to the aldermen in their desire to reform things.

A committee consisting of J. D. Ray, Ed.
Ingalls and E. C. Gridley was appointed to draw up resolutions. They will be returned in about fifteen minutes with resolutions directed to the council and county commissioners, and by suggestion the board of education.

"Resolved, that we ask and demand of the county commissioners, the school board, the mayor and the city council,
that they dispense with all needless officials and that they reduce all salaries to the point of actual value of similar services rendered in private business pursuits."

These were unanimously passed and Messrs. Ray, Upham, Ingalls, Marshall and Gridley were appointed to interview the aldermen.

Little, But Oh My!
Minneapolis Tribune: J. Adam may be in size of body a "No-see-in," as the Indians call the small silver-winged fly of the Vermilion country, but he is also in bustle and enterprise a "Wake-up," as the Indians call one of their leading chiefs. The "No-see-in" gets there when the biggest black flies and hornets on the range fall off. It has the enterprise of a dozen ordinary mosquitoes and a bite
like a bucking needle.

A Wake-up of full life-size dimensions before he gets through with the barbarians and completes his collection of scalps. The only drawback to his popularity is, like Dave Hill and Amos Cummings, he is a Democrat and is tied to a Liliuokalani administration.

A Crusher for La Due.
Albert Lea Enterprise: The more or-less Hon. J. La Due some time since senator from the Rock county district,
also a World's fair commissioner and lodger at the Minnesota building, is improving his reputation as a "Wake-up"
with birch-bark trousers, was appointed United States marshal for Minnesota, a position La Due wanted. He sees there is no chance for him to go back to the senate, and as there are to be no more World's fairs, he thought to secure a comfortable berth and good salary at the expense of other members of his party.
La Due should subside.

SPRING NEEDS.
What Everybody Requires at This Season.

Some Things Are of the Utmost Importance to You.

This Will Tell You Just What You Need Now
and How to Get It.

In the spring changes always take place in our systems which require attention. There is a tired, languid feeling, a depression, the digestive organs
become deranged, the blood is bad, causing the complexion to become affected
and the person feels an inability to work.

At such a time a spring medicine is absolutely necessary. It will invigorate
the blood, regulate the digestive organs,
clear the complexion and make you feel strong and well. The following letter written by Miss Nettie Fraser, of Paterson, N. J., will interest you.

"Since my childhood I have been extremely nervous, easily excited and at times suffering from extreme nervous prostration. A year ago last June I was so bad that the attacks were almost hysterical, and my appetite and digestion were in a terrible condition. I also suffered with great mental depression.

"I was induced to try Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and the first bottle had a wonderful effect on my condition. After four bottles were used I was entirely cured. I never used any medicine that helped me so much,
and I would recommend it in the highest terms possible, as too much cannot be said in praise of this wonderful medicine."

We are constantly receiving just such letters telling of the great good which is being done by this medicine. You want health, don't you? You want to get up in the morning and feel like doing a good day's work? Do you not? And you want your children to feel strong and vigorous and not you? Well, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy will do all this.

It will give to you and your children perfect health, and it is exactly what you want. It is the best spring medicine known and has the great advantage of being purely vegetable and harmless. It will cure all nervous and chronic disorders, and the most successful specialist in this line of medicine.

AN EXCITING TRIAL

Loely Proceedings in the Criminal Libel
Sut of Health Officer Goffe and Editor Wetmore.

Rev. R. H. Craig, the West End Minister, Testified as to Wetmore's Reputation for Veracity.

Dr. Hewitt Stated That Hemorrhagic Small-pox, Being Due to Constitutional Causes, is Always Fatal.

The Goffe-Wetmore libel suit drew its tortuous length through the municipal court all yesterday afternoon and started again this morning as fresh as a daisy.
The chief feature of the afternoon session was the position taken by Mr. Wetmore, the defendant, when on the witness stand. He had admitted that he was editor of the paper in which the libel
was printed and that his own hand showed the quill that worked in conjunction with his fertile brain. His views were based upon interviews with citizens
and physicians, which convinced him that the health officer had been very negligent.

"Who were those physicians?" inquired State's Attorney Crasswell.
"I gave my word of honor not to reveal their names," answered Wetmore. "and I must decline to answer that question."
Mr. Crasswell demanded that the question be answered. Judge Winje also ruled.

"You must excuse me," replied the witness, "but I cannot answer."

That fairly took the breath of all and Judge Winje was still trying to make up his mind as to what course to pursue,
when Mr. Towne suggested that the case be continued and Mr. Wetmore's refusal to obey the court be considered later.

Mr. Crasswell objected, but the plan was pleasing to the judge and the proceedings moved on.

Prettily soon Mr. Crasswell asked Mr.
Wetmore as to the source of the interview.

"I decline to answer," said the witness.
"You must answer," said Judge Winje.

"The court must excuse me. I cannot answer," replied the witness.

"Proceed with the examination," said
the judge to Attorney Crasswell, but
Mr. Crasswell did not feel that way.

"It is our right to have the question
answered now," he replied in protest.
The court did not see fit to take decided action one way or another and there they were.

The defense endeavored to show that there was no malice and also that Dr.
Goffe erred in his procedure in the Wolf case. The men who prepared the house testified and Dr. J. M. Tuttle in answer to a hypothetical question stated that such action was prejudicial to the patient.

In rebuttal, the state offered the testimony of McCoy, who attended Wolf in his sickness. Dr. McCulliffe, Dr. Ritchie and Dr. Hewitt, who is an expert in smallpox cases as well as a member of the state board of health. He endorsed Goffe's action and said that hemorrhagic smallpox, being due to constitutional causes, is fatal. He was positive that Mr. Wolf's removal could have had no possible influence in giving the disease that form.

This morning's session.
When court was opened this morning
the state continued its rebuttal in the Goffe-Wetmore libel suit by the introduction of Edward Lord as a witness.
He acted as an attorney for Wolf and intelligently described his symptoms and condition up to the time he was taken to the improvised pesthouse.

Next in quick succession Doctors
Sberwin, McComb, Stewart and Weston took the stand, described hemorrhagic smallpox, told what they knew, if anything, about it from actual experience
and then answered long hypothetical questions as to the probable or possible
effect of moving a man in the manner
and physical condition that Joseph Wolf was when taken from his quarters in the city.

Armen Cox, as a member of the board of health, took the stand and told about his connection with the matter of Wolf's removal. He said that at a meeting of the board of health, after the removal, while no resolution endorsing
Dr. Goffe's action was offered and adopted, no one took exception to his statement
of the treatment of the patient.

"Do you know the defendant, Mr.
Wetmore?" asked Attorney Towne.
"Yes, I know something of him," said
Cox. "Although until about a month ago there was something of a bad feeling between us and we did not speak,
then we got on pleasant terms and had some association with each other."

"What made you both get pleasant
all at once?" was the next question.
"Well," answered the West End alderman, "I was running for the council, and one day Wetmore came to me and said that my opponent had offered him $100 for the support of the Duluth Press. He said, however, that I was the only man who had ever done anything for the West End and the only one who had showed any backbone, and that if I'd give him $25 he'd refuse the offer of my opponent and support me."

"Then," queried Towne, "he must have considered your backbone worth $75?"
"A 'poco so,' grinned Cox, as he replied.

Cox was next asked as to meeting Wet-
more on a certain day.
"Did you not shake hands with him,
Mr. Cox?" interrogated Towne.

"Well, I'm not sure," was the reply.

"We may have shaken hands. So many are after me for positions with the city and they all rush up and shake hands. I cannot remember them all."

Proving Wetmore's Reputation.
George F. Ash, as a member of the board of health, gave his testimony concerning the action of the board on Dr. Goffe's proceedings in the Wolf case and then the state commenced to introduce witnesses to prove that Wetmore's reputation for truth and veracity is bad,
and it must be said, that but sorry results
attended the step. Rev. R. H. Craig, the West End Methodist minister was introduced.

"What is your profession?" commenced
Mr. Crasswell.

"A clergyman," replied the preacher.
"Are you acquainted with the reputation of the defendant for truth and veracity?" was the next query.

"I am not acquainted with his reputation for truth and veracity," assured Mr.
Craig, "but"

"Hold on! Hold!" shouted Mr. Towne,
"that's all the answer to the question,
that's competent. Stop right there."

The attorneys made a few passes and then Mr. Craig said that he did not understand the question in the sense that Mr. Towne wanted to make out.

Mr. Towne said that he did not want to put the witness in a false position but that he had said that he was not acquainted with Mr. Wetmore's reputation for truth and veracity and that, answering
as he had, no explanation was competent.

Mr. Craig denied that he answered in those words but Mr. Towne had the reporter read from his notes and triumphantly showed the reverend gentleman that his memory was defective on a matter so recent as his testimony.

The court allowed the question to be repeated and when Mr. Craig answered
he swore that Mr. Wetmore's reputation for truth and veracity was bad.

"Now, Mr. Craig," said Towne, as he rose to his feet, "did you come to mistake the question?"

"I am not acquainted with legal terms," he answered.

"Truth and veracity are not particu-
Mr. Towne.

This tickled the spectators and they
clapped their hands and laughed aloud.
Then a "Capt." Stevens took the stand to back up Mr. Craig's testimony.

"What is the defendant's reputation for truth and veracity?" asked Mr. Crass-
well.

"I don't think it is good," replied Stevens.

The witness was dumb. He looked at his lips. His lips quivered nervously.
"Er-r-r-r-r-r," he stuttered as he attempted to answer, "Well one time recently he was on the witness stand and I think he perjured himself."

"He swore one way and you swore the other did he?"

"Yes," said Stevens.

"You were interested in the case were you not?" persisted Towne.

"Yes," admitted the uncomfortable witness.

"That's the only reason you can give
why you think his reputation for truth
and veracity is not good is it not?" continued the relentless examiner.

"Yes," was the reply and amidst hearty laughter Stevens made himself as little conspicuous as possible.

Hume Henry Haskins swore that he had never heard the truth and veracity
of the defendant questioned and one Robinson testified that Wolf complained on the way out being too closely wrapped up and that at three different times some one at the witness back—
he was driving the sled—jumped off and got snow for what purpose he did not see and did not know. With that the testimony on both sides was closed.

Judge Winje adjourned court until 2:30 p. m., at which time the arguments were the next features in the case.

Doctor—No—they go to the grocer's—I am recommending

Is the head that wears a Crown.
All of us cannot wear crowns, but we can all eat bread made of this famous brand of Flour and get a much better quality than that made from any other flour.

Use no Other.
Every Grocer Keeps It.

Explanatory:

The following letter from the publishers of the
"Marie Burroughs Art Portfolio of Stage Celebrities" explains itself. We are sorry to disappoint the many hundreds of Herald subscribers who have been anxiously looking forward for Part 2 to arrive, but will assure them that on next Thursday noon, by saving their coupons and calling at The Herald office, they will be able to receive both Part 2 and 3.
